These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. PARADIGM EQUITIES, INC.
NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

NOTE 1 - SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Method of accounting - The accompanying financial statements have been prepared on the accrual basis of accounting.

Cash equivalents - All highly liquid investments with maturities of three months or less when purchased and money market funds are considered to be cash equivalents. Money market funds are recorded at cost.

Commissions receivable - Commissions receivable are stated at the amount management expects to collect from outstanding balances. Management provides for probable uncollectible amounts through a provision for bad debt expense based on its assessment of the current status of individual accounts. Currently no allowance for doubtful accounts is considered necessary. Balances that are still outstanding after management has used reasonable collection efforts are written off. Commissions receivable from insurance companies and mutual funds are normally settled within 30 days.

Fixed assets - Computer equipment and software is recorded at cost and depreciated/amortized over their estimated useful lives using straight-line and accelerated methods. The Company's policy is to capitalize assets with lives in excess of one year and cost greater than $1,000. Costs of repairs and maintenance are charged to expense when incurred. The estimated useful lives are as follows:

Computer equipment and software	3 - 5 years
---------------------------------	-------------

Liabilities subordinated to claims of general creditors - The Company does not have any liabilities subordinated to claims of general creditors.

Revenue recognition - Commission revenue is recognized utilizing the trade-date basis.

Estimates - The process of preparing financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires the use of estimates and assumptions regarding certain types of assets, liabilities, revenues and expenditures. Such estimates primarily relate to unsettled transactions and events as of the date of the financial statements. Accordingly, upon settlement, actual results may differ from estimated amounts.

Advertising - Advertising costs are expensed as incurred.

NOTE 2 - NATURE OF ORGANIZATION, RISKS AND UNCERTAINTIES

Paradigm Equities, Inc. (the "Company") was organized by the issuance of 20,000 shares of stock on January 19, 1993 for $30,000. The Company is a registered broker - dealer under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and is a member of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority. (FINRA).

The Company requested and has been granted permission for exemption from Securities and Exchange Commission's Rule 15(c)3-3, pursuant to Paragraph (k)(2)(i), allowing the Company to transact its investment company securities and variable annuity business through a "Special Account for the Exclusive Benefit of Customers".

The Company is required to disclose significant concentrations of credit risk regardless of the degree of such risk. Financial instruments, which potentially subject the Company to concentrations of credit risk, consist principally of cash, temporary cash investments and receivables.

The Company deposits its cash and temporary cash investments with FDIC insured financial institutions. Although such cash balances may exceed the federally insured limits, they are, in the opinion of management, subject to minimal risk.

The Company receives commission revenues from various insurance companies and mutual funds for facilitating the Company's customers' purchase of annuities and mutual funds. The Company's customers are located primarily in the State of Michigan. For the years ending December 31, 2009 and 2008, 87% of the Company's commission revenue was generated from two companies. Company A represented 64% and 46% during 2009 and 2008, respectively. Company B represented 23% and 41% during 2009 and 2008, respectively. Commission income accrued at year-end is normally settled within 30 days and is considered subject to minimal risk.

Registered sales representatives of the Company are covered by a collective bargaining contract which will expire December 31, 2012.

The Company evaluates events and transactions that occur after year end for potential recognition or disclosure in the financial statements. These subsequent events have been considered through the auditors' opinion date.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

NOTE 4 - INCOME TAXES (Concluded)

There are no significant temporary differences between “book” and “tax” income. The difference between federal income tax expense (benefit) and the amount computed based on statutory rates is attributed to the surtax exemption and other permanent differences.

In the preparation of tax returns, tax positions are taken based on interpretation of federal, state and local income tax laws. Management periodically reviews and evaluates the status of uncertain tax positions and makes estimates of amounts, including interest and penalties, ultimately due or owed. No amounts have been identified, or recorded, as uncertain tax positions.

REPORT ON INTERNAL CONTROL
REQUIRED BY SEC RULE 17a-5 FOR A
BROKER DEALER CLAIMING AN EXEMPTION
FROM SEC RULE 15c3-3

To the Board of Directors
Paradigm Equities, Inc.

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements and supplemental schedules of Paradigm Equities, Inc., East Lansing, Michigan, (the Company), as of and for the year ended December 31, 2009 in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America., we considered the Company's internal control over financial reporting (internal control) as a basis for designing our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control. Accordingly, we do not express an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control.

Also, as required by Rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company including consideration of control activities for safeguarding securities. This study included tests of such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in rule 17a-5(g) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness (or aggregate debits) and net capital under rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of rule 15c3-3. Because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, we did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in any of the following:

1. Making quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications, and comparisons and recordation of differences required by rule 17a-13.
2. Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with accounting principles. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, errors or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

A control deficiency exists when the design or operation of a control does not allow management or employees, in the normal course of performing their assigned functions, to prevent or detect misstatements on a timely basis. A significant deficiency is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control that is less severe than a material weakness, yet important enough to merit attention by those charged with governance.

A material weakness is a deficiency, or combination of deficiencies, in internal control, such that there is a reasonable possibility that a material misstatement of the company's financial statements will not be prevented or detected and corrected on a timely basis.

Our consideration of internal control was for the limited purpose described in the first and second paragraphs and would not necessarily identify all deficiencies in internal control that might be material weaknesses. We did not identify any deficiencies in internal control and control activities for safeguarding securities that we consider to be material weaknesses, as defined above.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2009, to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the use of the Board of Directors, management, the Securities and Exchange Commission, the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority and other regulatory agencies which rely on Rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.
