INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT

To the Board of Directors
Ernst Capital Securities, Inc.

We have audited the accompanying Statement of Financial Condition of Ernst Capital Securities, Inc., a South Dakota S Corporation, as of December 31, 2010, and the related statements of operations, changes in stockholder's equity, statement of changes in liabilities subordinated to claims of general creditors and cash flows for the year then ended that you are filing pursuant to rule 17a-5 under the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes consideration of internal control over financial reporting as a basis for designing audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control over financial reporting. Accordingly we express no such opinion. An audit also includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Ernst Capital Securities, Inc., as of December 31, 2010, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the year then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Our audit was conducted for the purpose of forming an opinion on the basic financial statements taken as a whole. The information contained in the schedules on pages 8-11 is presented for the purposes of additional analysis and is not a part of the basic financial statements, but is supplementary information required by rule 17a-5 under the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934 and the Securities Investor Protection Corporation. Such information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the basic financial statements and, in our opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the basic financial statements taken as a whole.

Note A – Organization and Business

Ernst Capital Securities, Inc. is a South Dakota corporation that operates as a registered broker-dealer and acts as an agent in the sale of real estate interest for a limited liability company in which the Company's stockholder is a partner or manager. The Company did change its name from Ernst Capital Group I, Inc. to Ernst Capital Securities, Inc. during the year.

Note B – Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

This summary of significant accounting policies of Ernst Capital Securities, Inc. is presented to assist in understanding the Company's financial statements. The financial statements and notes are representations of the Company's management, who are responsible for their integrity and objectivity.

Basis of Accounting

The Company prepares its financial statements on the accrual basis using generally accepted accounting principles.

Revenue Recognition

The Company receives revenue (commissions) from selling real estate interests in limited liability companies. Under the contracts with the limited liability company being sold, commissions are due to the Company at closing of the offering or termination of the agreement. The company also receives revenue from due diligence or compliance and administration of the offering. This revenue is recognized under the contract with the limited liability company at the closing of the offering or termination of the agreement.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

For purposes of the statement of cash flows, the Company considers all highly liquid debt instruments purchased with a maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents. The Company had no cash equivalents at December 31, 2010.

Advertising

The Company expenses advertising production costs as they are incurred and advertising communication costs the first time the advertising takes place.

ERNST CAPITAL SECURITIES, INC.
Notes to Financial Statements

The Company elected to be taxed under the provisions of subchapter S of the Internal Revenue Code. The income of the Company is passed through to the individual stockholder who reports it on their personal tax return. Therefore, there is no provision or liability for federal or state income taxes reflected in these financial statements.

The Company has adopted the provisions of FASB ASC 740-10, "Accounting for Uncertain Tax Positions". The Company continually evaluates expiring statutes of limitations, audits, proposed settlements, changes in tax law and new authoritative rulings. Management does not expect the interpretation will have a material impact (if any) on its results from operations or financial position.

At December 31, 2010, the Company had net capital of $29,291, which was $24,291 in excess of its requirement. The Company's ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital was 0.27 to 1, at December 31, 2010.

Note D – Related Party Transactions

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT ON INTERNAL CONTROL

To the Board of Directors
Ernst Capital Securities, Inc.

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements of Ernst Capital Securities, Inc. (the Company) as of and for the year ended December 31, 2010 in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, we considered the Company's internal control over financial reporting as a basis for designing our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control. Accordingly, we do not express an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control.

Also, as required by rule 17a-5(g) (1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company including consideration of control activities for safeguarding securities. This study included tests of such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in rule 17a-5(g) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness (or aggregate debits) and net capital under rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of rule 15c3-3. Because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, we did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in any of the following:

1. Making quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications and comparisons and recordation of differences required by rule 17a-13.
2. Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Federal Reserve T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.
3. Obtaining and maintaining physical possession or control of all fully paid and excess margin securities of customers as required by Rule 15c3-3.

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable but not absolute assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations of internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projections of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

A control deficiency in internal control exists when the design or operation of a control does not allow management or employees, in the normal course of performing their assigned functions, to prevent, or detect and correct misstatements on a timely basis. A significant deficiency is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control over financial reporting that is less severe than a material weakness, yet important enough to merit attention by those responsible for oversight of the company's financial reporting.

A material weakness is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control, such that there is a reasonable possibility that a material misstatement of the entity's financial statements will not be prevented, or detected and corrected on a timely basis.

Our consideration of internal control was for the limited purpose described in the first paragraph and was not designed to identify all deficiencies in internal control that might be deficiencies, significant deficiencies, or material weaknesses. However we identified the following deficiencies in internal control that we consider to be material weaknesses as defined above. These conditions were considered in determining the nature, timing and extent of the procedures performed in our audit of the financial statements of Ernst Capital Securities, Inc. as of and for the year ended December 31, 2010, and this report does not affect our report thereon dated February 7, 2011. There is a lack of separation of duties considered important to a system of internal control. This lack of separation of duties is common in companies of this size.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations and the practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures, as described in the second paragraph of this report, were adequate at December 31, 2010, to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the Board of Directors, management, the SEC, and other regulatory agencies that rely on rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and is intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.
