Independent Auditor's Report

To the Stockholder
Florida Capital Securities Corporation
Heathrow, Florida

We have audited the accompanying statement of financial condition of Florida Capital Securities Corporation as of December 31, 2010, and the related statements of operations, changes in stockholder's equity, and cash flows for the year then ended that you are filing pursuant to Rule 17a-5 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Florida Capital Securities Corporation as of December 31, 2010, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the year then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Our audit was conducted for the purpose of forming an opinion on the basic financial statements taken as a whole. The information contained in Schedule 1 is presented for purposes of additional analysis and is not a required part of the basic financial statements, but is supplementary information required by Rule 17a-5 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. This schedule is the responsibility of the Company's management. Such information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the basic financial statements and, in our opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the basic financial statements taken as a whole.

Florida Capital Securities Corporation

Notes to Financial Statements

Note 1. Nature of Organization and Significant Accounting Policies

Organization: Florida Capital Securities Corporation (the Company) serves as managing broker-dealer for the sale of limited partnership interests in affiliated partnerships (see Note 3). The Company has entered into wholesale placement agreements with affiliated limited partnerships for sales of limited partnership interests. The affiliated entities will pay the Company for sales of limited partnership interests an aggregate of 9.5% or 10.5% of gross offering proceeds as 8% or 9% selling commissions and 1.5% as managing dealer fees. The Company has entered into selling group member agreements with the selling broker-dealers for 8% and 9% commission for sales of limited partner interests. Certain broker-dealers may receive an additional .5% fee for selling 30 or more limited partnership units.

The Company is registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) and is a member of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA) as a broker-dealer.

A summary of the Company's significant accounting policies follows:

Revenue recognition: Commission revenue and managing dealer fees are recognized as revenue when earned as evidenced by the receipt of a signed subscription agreement and receipt of the limited partner capital contribution from the investor by the affiliated limited partnership.

Cash and cash equivalents: For purposes of reporting cash flows, cash equivalents include unrestricted certificates of deposit with an original maturity of three months or less.

Commissions receivable: Commissions receivable are recorded at net realizable value. An allowance for doubtful accounts is provided based on prior collection experiences and management's analysis of specific accounts. The allowance is reviewed periodically and adjusted for commissions deemed uncollectible by management. As of December 31, 2010, there were no commissions receivable.

Income taxes: The Company has elected to be treated as an "S" corporation for income tax purposes and, accordingly, any liability for income taxes rests with the stockholder and not the Company.

Management has assessed whether there are any uncertain tax positions which may give rise to income tax liabilities and determined that there were no such matters requiring recognition in the accompanying financial statements. The Company files income tax returns in the U.S. federal jurisdiction. With few exceptions, the Company is no longer subject to U.S. federal or state and local income tax examinations by tax authorities for years before 2007.

Use of estimates: The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements, and the reported amounts of revenue and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Subsequent events: Management has evaluated subsequent events through February 18, 2011, which is the date the financial statements were issued.

Florida Capital Securities Corporation

Note 1. Nature of Organization and Significant Accounting Policies (Continued)

Reclassifications: Certain amounts in the 2009 financial statements have been reclassified in order to conform to the 2010 presentation. These reclassifications had no impact on total assets, total liabilities, stockholders' equity, net loss or total cash flows as previously reported.

Note 2. Liquidity and Management's Plans

For the year ended December 31, 2010, the Company incurred losses from operations as well as negative cash flows from operations. The Company does not expect to generate revenues during 2011 due to the economic downturn; however, expenses are expected to be minimal. The Company's ability to continue as a going concern is dependent upon the Company's ability to sustain operations. The Company renegotiated its support agreement in 2010 with Florida Capital Real Estate Group, Inc., a related party, to decrease the annual fees paid for rent and office expense (see Note 3). The sole stockholder of the Company has also committed to fund operations on an as-needed basis through January 1, 2012.

Note 3. Related Party Transactions

The Company has a support agreement with Florida Capital Real Estate Group, Inc. (FCREG), which is 50% owned by the Company's sole stockholder. In the agreement, FCREG agrees to provide support in the form of office and storage space, office supplies, clerical personnel and other goods and services appropriate for conducting the business of the Company. The agreement calls for the Company to reimburse FCREG annually for its out-of-pocket expenses. On January 1, 2010, the agreement was amended to reduce the annual fee to $6,500 plus out-of-pocket expenses. The Company was charged $7,172, which is classified in rent and office expenses, under this agreement during 2010.

Commission income and managing dealer fee income are earned on the sale of units in private placement limited real estate partnerships in which the Company's sole stockholder is also a stockholder of the general partner of these limited real estate partnerships.

Note 4. Broker-Dealer Regulation

The Company is subject to the Securities and Exchange Commission Uniform Net Capital Rule ("Rule 15c3-1") which requires the maintenance of minimum net capital and requires that the ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital, both as defined, shall not exceed 15 to 1. At December 31, 2010, the Company had net capital, as defined, of $8,251, which is $3,251 in excess of its required net capital of $5,000. At December 31, 2010, the ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital was 0.27 to 1.

The Company is exempt from making computations of amounts on deposit in the Special Reserve Bank Account for the Exclusive Benefit of Customers under the provision of paragraph (k) of rule 15c3-3 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and complying with certain other provisions of this rule.

The Company has no liabilities which are subordinated to the claims of general creditors.

Independent Auditor's Report on Internal Control

To the Stockholder
Florida Capital Securities Corporation
Heathrow, Florida

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements of Florida Capital Securities Corporation (the Company), as of and for the year ended December 31, 2010, in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, we considered the Company's internal control over financial reporting (internal control) as a basis for designing our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control. Accordingly, we do not express an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control.

Also, as required by Rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company, including consideration of control activities for safeguarding securities. This study included tests of compliance with such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in Rule 17a-5(g) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness (or aggregate debits) and net capital under Rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of Rule 15c3-3. Because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, we did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in any of the following:

1. Making quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications, and comparisons and recordation of differences required by Rule 17a-13
2. Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls, and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph, and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition, and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in internal control and the practices and procedures referred to above, error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

A deficiency in internal control exists when the design or operation of a control does not allow management or employees, in the normal course of performing their assigned functions, to prevent or detect misstatements on a timely basis.

A significant deficiency is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control that is less severe than a material weakness, yet important enough to merit attention by those charged with governance.

A material weakness is a deficiency, or combination of deficiencies, in internal control, such that there is a reasonable possibility that a material misstatement of the Company's financial statements will not be prevented, or detected and corrected, on a timely basis.

Our consideration of internal control was for the limited purpose described in the first and second paragraphs and was not designed to identify all deficiencies in internal control that might be material weaknesses and therefore, there can be no assurance that all material weaknesses have been identified. We did not identify any deficiencies in internal control and control activities for safeguarding securities that we consider to be material weaknesses, as defined above.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures, as described in the second paragraph of this report, were adequate at December 31, 2010, to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of management, the SEC, the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority, and other regulatory agencies that rely on Rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers-dealers, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.
