CAPITAL MANAGEMENT SECURITIES, INC.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

NOTE 1 – SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Nature of Operations – Capital Management Securities, Inc. (the Company) is a wholly owned subsidiary of CMA, Financial Inc. The Company is a licensed broker-dealer under the jurisdiction of the National Association of Security Dealers (NASD). The Company buys and sells listed and unlisted securities; municipal, corporate and government bonds; mutual fund shares; and provides other financial services. The Company, as an introducing broker-dealer, clears all transactions with and for customers on a fully disclosed basis with a clearing broker-dealer and promptly transmits all customer funds and securities to the clearing broker-dealer which carries all the accounts of such customers.

Use of Estimates – The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Cash and Cash Equivalents – The Company considers all highly liquid investments with a maturity of three months or less when purchased to be cash equivalents.

Accounts Receivable and Allowance for Doubtful Accounts - An allowance for doubtful accounts has not been established as of December 31, 2010 and 2009. Based upon management's analysis of outstanding accounts receivable as of December 31, 2010 and 2009 and the Company's past collection experience, an allowance is not considered necessary by management.

Property and Equipment – Property and equipment is carried at cost. Depreciation of property and equipment is computed by the straight-line method based on useful lives of three to ten years.

Maintenance and repairs of property and equipment are charged to operations, and major improvements are capitalized. Upon retirement, sale or other disposition of property and equipment, the cost and accumulated depreciation are eliminated from the accounts, and any resulting gain or loss is included in operations.

The Company reviews its property and equipment for impairment whenever events indicate that the carrying amount of the asset may not be recoverable. An impairment loss is recorded when the sum of the future cash flows is less than the carrying amount of the asset. The amount of the loss is determined by comparing the fair market values of the asset to the carrying amount of the asset.

Recognition of Revenue – Commission income from sales of securities is recorded on the trade date.

Income Taxes – Deferred tax assets and liabilities are recognized for future tax consequences attributable to differences between the financial statement carrying amounts of existing assets and liabilities and their respective tax bases. Deferred tax assets, including tax loss and credit carryforwards, and liabilities are measured using enacted tax rates expected to apply to taxable income in the years which those temporary differences are expected to be recovered or settled. The effect of a change in tax rates on deferred tax assets and liabilities is recognized in operations in the period that includes the enactment date. Deferred income tax expense represents the change during the period in the deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities. The components of the deferred tax assets and liabilities, which consist of net operating loss carryforwards, book depreciation over tax depreciation differences, and differences associated with cash basis reporting versus accrual basis reporting are individually classified as current and non-current based on their characteristics. Deferred tax assets are reduced by a valuation allowance when, in the opinion of management, it is more likely than not that some portion or all of the deferred tax assets will not be realized. The management is of the view that there are no significant tax positions that may be challenged.

Board of Directors
Capital Management Securities, Inc.
Minneapolis, MN

We have audited the financial statements of Capital Management Securities, Inc. for the years ended December 31, 2010 and 2009 and have issued our report thereon dated February 22, 2011. As part of our audits, we made a study and evaluation of the system of internal accounting control to the extent we considered necessary to evaluate the system as required by generally accepted auditing standards in the United States and Rule 17a-5 of the Securities and Exchange Commission. This study and evaluation included the accounting system, the procedures for safeguarding securities, and the practices and procedures followed by the client (i) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness and net capital under Rule 17a-3(a) (11) and the reserve required by Rule 15C3-3(e); (ii) in making the quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications and comparisons, and the recordation of differences required by Rule 17a-13; (iii) in complying with the requirement for prompt payment for securities of Section 8 of Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System; and (iv) in obtaining and maintaining physical possession or control of all fully paid and excess margin securities of customers as required by Rule 15c3-3. Rule 17a-5 states that the scope of the study and evaluation should be sufficient to provide reasonable assurance that any material weakness existing at the date of our examination would be disclosed. Under generally accepted auditing standards and Rule 17a-5, the purposes of such study and evaluation are to establish a basis for reliance thereon in determining the nature, timing, and extent of other auditing procedures necessary for expressing an opinion on the financial statements, and to provide a basis for reporting material weaknesses in internal accounting control.

The objective of internal accounting control is to provide reasonable, but not absolute, assurance concerning the safeguarding of assets against loss from unauthorized use or disposition and concerning the reliability of financial records for preparing financial statements and maintaining accountability for assets. The concept of reasonable assurance recognizes that the cost of a system of internal accounting control should not exceed the benefits derived and also recognizes that the evaluation of these factors necessarily requires estimates and judgments by management. However, for the purposes of this report under Rule 17a-5, the determination of weaknesses to be reported was made without considering the practicability of corrective action by management within the framework of a cost/benefit relationship.

There are inherent limitations that should be recognized in considering the potential effectiveness of any system of internal accounting control. In the performance of most control procedures, errors can result from misunderstanding of instructions, mistakes in judgment, carelessness, or other personal factors. Control procedures whose effectiveness depends on segregation of duties can be circumvented by collusion. Similarly, control procedures can be circumvented intentionally by management either with respect to the execution and recording of transactions or with respect to the estimates and judgments required in the preparation of financial statements. Further, projection of any evaluation of internal accounting control to future periods is subject to the risk that the procedures may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the degree of compliance with the procedures may deteriorate.

Our study and evaluation of the system of internal accounting control for the years ended December 31, 2010 and 2009, which was made for the purposes set forth in the first paragraph above and would not necessarily disclose all weaknesses in the system and any that may have existed during the period, disclosed certain weaknesses that we believe to be material. Such weaknesses, with an indication of the corrective action taken or proposed, were as follows.

One person has the primary responsibility for most of the accounting and financial duties. As a result, many of those aspects of internal control which rely upon an adequate segregation of duties are, for all practical purposes, missing in your company. We recognize that your company probably is not large enough to make the employment of additional persons for the purpose of segregating duties practical from a financial standpoint, but we are required, under professional responsibilities, to call the situation to your attention.

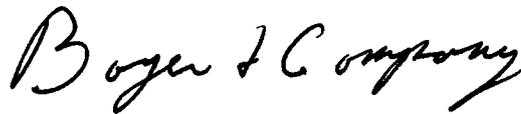

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the first paragraph of this report are considered by the Commission to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2010 and 2009, to meet the Commission's objectives.

We commend the management and staff of the Company for their assistance and cooperation during the audits. An audit imposes additional work on all personnel and we appreciate the effort by the management and staff of Capital Management Securities, Inc.

As was mentioned previously, these comments are made solely in the interest of establishing sound internal control procedures and improving the operation of the Company. We would be pleased to discuss these comments with you in detail and aid in the implementation if you so desire. Thank you for giving us the opportunity to serve you and we look forward to a continuing relationship with your firm.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the audit committee and management and is not intended to be, and should not be, used by anyone other than these specified parties.

In accordance with rule 17a-5(e)(4) of the Securities and Exchange Commission, we have performed the following procedures with respect to the accompanying schedule (Form SIPC-7) of Securities Investor Protection Corporation assessments and payments of Capital Management Securities, Inc. for the year ended December 31, 2010. Our procedures were performed solely to assist you in complying with rule 17a-5(e)(4), and our report is not to be used for any other purpose. The procedures we performed are as follows:

1. Compared listed payments with respective cash disbursement records entries;
2. Compared amounts reported on audited Form X-17a-5 for the period January 1, 2010 to December 31, 2010 with the amounts reported in the General Assessment Reconciliation (Form SIPC-7T);
3. Compared any adjustments reported in Form SIPC-7T with supporting schedules and working papers; and
4. Proved the arithmetical accuracy of the calculation reflected in Form SIPC-7T and in the related schedules and working papers supporting adjustments.

Because the above procedures do not constitute an audit made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, we do not express an opinion on the schedule referred to above. In connection with the procedures referred to above, nothing came to our attention that caused us to believe that the amounts shown on Form SIPC-7 were not determined in accordance with applicable instructions and forms. This report relates only to the schedule referred to above and does not extend to any financial statements of Capital Management Securities, Inc. taken as a whole.
