A. Nature of Operations and Basis of Presentation

Nature of Operations

Centerre Capital, LLC, a Missouri Limited Liability Company (the "Company"), was organized on May 26, 2006 and is a broker-dealer registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC"). The Company is a member of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority, Inc. ("FINRA") and the Securities Investor Protection Corporation ("SIPC"). The Company engages in the sales and administration of securities and other investment products.

The Company is subject to the SEC's Uniform Net Capital Rule (SEC Rule 15c3-1), which requires the maintenance of minimum regulatory net capital of $5,000 and requires the ratio of aggregate indebtedness to regulatory net capital shall not exceed 15 to 1. At December 31, 2010, the Company's regulatory net capital was $122,890 and its ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital was 0.05 to 1.

Basis of Presentation

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared in accordance with the provisions of Financial Accounting Standards Board ("FASB"), Accounting Standards Codification, (the "FASB ASC"), which is the source of authoritative, non-governmental accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America ("GAAP"). All references to authoritative accounting guidance contained in our disclosures are based on the general accounting topics within the FASB ASC.

B. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect certain reported amounts and disclosures. Accordingly, actual results could differ from those estimates.

Centerre Capital, LLC
Notes to Financial Statements
December 31, 2010

Fair Value Measurements

The Company follows guidance issued by the FASB on fair value measurements, which establishes a framework for measuring fair value, clarifies the definition of fair value within that framework, and expands disclosures about the use of fair value measurements. This guidance applies whenever fair value is the applicable measurement. The guidance establishes a fair value hierarchy which prioritizes the inputs to valuation techniques used to measure fair value into Levels 1, 2 and 3. Level 1 inputs consist of unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical instruments and have the highest priority. Level 2 inputs include quoted prices for similar instruments in active markets, quoted prices for identical or similar instruments in markets that are not active, or inputs other than quoted prices that are directly or indirectly observable. Level 3 inputs are unobservable and are given the lowest priority.

Carrying amounts of certain financial instruments such as cash and cash equivalents, accounts receivable, and accounts payable approximate fair value due to their short maturities or because the terms are similar to market terms.

The Company held no investments as of December 31, 2010.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

The Company considers all temporary cash investments as cash equivalents. These temporary cash investments are securities held for cash management purposes, having original maturities of three months or less.

Concentration of Credit Risk

Financial instruments, which potentially subject the Company to concentrations of credit risk, consist principally of cash and cash equivalents. The Company maintains its cash primarily with one financial institution. Deposits at this bank are insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) on an unlimited basis. Management does not believe significant credit risk exists at December 31, 2010.

Concessions Income

Concessions income is recognized as earned with billed but not collected amounts reflected as concessions receivable.

Income Taxes

The Company is formed as a limited liability company and has elected to be taxed as a partnership under the Internal Revenue Code. Therefore, earnings of the Company are taxed at the member level. Accordingly, no provision for income taxes has been reflected in the financial statements.

Centerre Capital, LLC
Notes to Financial Statements
December 31, 2010

Tax positions taken (or expected to be taken) in the course of preparing the Company's tax returns are evaluated to determine whether these positions meet a "more-likely-than-not" standard that, based on the technical merits, have a more than fifty percent likelihood of being sustained by a taxing authority upon examination. A tax position that meets the "more-likely-than-not" recognition threshold is measured to determine the amount of benefit to recognize in the financial statements.

If applicable, the Company recognizes interest and penalties related to unrecognized tax benefits in the statement of income.

Management is required to analyze all open tax years, as defined by the Statute of Limitations, for all major jurisdictions, including federal and certain state taxing authorities. The Company is no longer subject to U.S. federal, state, and local income tax examinations by taxing authorities for years before 2009. As of and for the year ended December 31, 2010, the Company did not have a liability for any unrecognized tax benefits. The Company has no examinations in progress and is not aware of any tax positions for which it is reasonably possible that the total amounts of unrecognized tax benefits will significantly change in the next twelve months.

Subsequent Events

The Company has evaluated subsequent events through February 24, 2011, the date the financial statements were available to be issued. It was concluded there were no events or transactions occurring during this period that required recognition or disclosure in the financial statements.

C. Related Party Transactions

Leasing Arrangements

The Company leases its offices in Lake St. Louis, Missouri from an affiliated corporation which the owners of the Company also control. The affiliated corporation leases the offices from a limited liability company which is controlled by the owners. Rent expense amounted to $1,435 for the year ended December 31, 2010. This expense is recorded with the administrative fees discussed below.

Centerre Capital, LLC
Notes to Financial Statements
December 31, 2010

Administrative Fees

The Company pays an administrative fee to First Heartland Corporation (the "Corporation") and First Heartland Capital ("Capital"), which are controlled by the Company's owners, for its share of certain operating expenses. Administrative fees consist of payroll, rent, and other operating expenses and are allocated on a per employee basis. Allocations have been based primarily on actual time spent by the employees with respect to each entity. The Company believes that such allocation methods are reasonable. Administrative fees totaled $33,088 for the year ended December 31, 2010 and are included in the statement of income as office expense.

Clearing Agreement

The Company has entered into a Sub-Broker Agreement with Capital whereby Capital will provide clearing services for the Company in accordance with the terms of a clearing agreement that Capital maintains with a national broker-dealer.

Related Party Payable

During 2009, the Corporation paid licensing and permit fees on behalf of the Company. The total amount due to the Corporation totaled $5,743 as of December 31, 2010.

D. Risk Associated with Financial Instruments

In the normal course of business, the Company's customer and clearing agent activities involve the execution and settlement of various customer security transactions. These activities may expose the Company to certain risks in the event the customer or other broker is unable to fulfill its contracted obligations and the Company must purchase or sell the financial instrument underlying the contract at a loss.

Independent Auditors' Supplementary Report on Internal Control

Members

Centerre Capital, LLC
St. Louis, Missouri

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements of Centerre Capital, LLC as of and for the year ended December 31, 2010 in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, we considered the Company's internal control over financial reporting (internal control), as a basis for designing our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control. Accordingly, we do not express an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control.

Also, as required by Rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company, including consideration of control activities for safeguarding securities. This study included tests of such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in Rule 17-a5(g) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness (or aggregate debits) and net capital under Rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of Rule 15c3-3. Because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, we did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in any of the following:

- 1) Making quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications and comparisons and recordation of differences required by Rule 17a-13
- 2) Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls, and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph, and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable but not absolute assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition, and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in internal control and the practices and procedures referred to above, error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

A control deficiency exists when the design or operation of a control does not allow management or employees, in the normal course of performing their assigned functions, to prevent or detect and correct misstatements on a timely basis. A significant deficiency is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control that is less severe than a material weakness, yet important enough to merit attention by those charged with governance.

A material weakness is a deficiency, or combination of deficiencies, in internal control, such that there is a reasonable possibility that a material misstatement of the entity's financial statements will not be prevented or detected and corrected on a timely basis.

Our consideration of internal control was for the limited purpose described in the first and second paragraphs and was not designed to identify all deficiencies in internal control that might be material weaknesses. We did not identify any deficiencies in internal control and control activities for safeguarding securities that we consider to be material weaknesses, as defined previously.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2010, to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of management, the SEC, and other regulatory agencies that rely on Rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.

Independent Auditors' Report

Centerre Capital, LLC
St. Louis, Missouri

We have audited the accompanying statement of financial condition of Centerre Capital, LLC as of December 31, 2010, and the related statements of income and changes in members' equity and cash flows for the year then ended that you are filing pursuant to Rule 17a-5 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes consideration of internal control over financial reporting as a basis for designing audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control over financial reporting. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements, assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Centerre Capital, LLC as of December 31, 2010, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the year then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Our audit was conducted for the purpose of forming an opinion on the basic financial statements taken as a whole. The information contained in Schedules 1 and 2 is presented for purposes of additional analysis and is not a required part of the basic financial statements, but is supplementary information required by Rule 17a-5 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Such information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in our audit of the basic financial statements and, in our opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the basic financial statements taken as a whole.
