JOHNSON SECURITIES, INC.
NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
DECEMBER 31, 2010

NOTE 1 SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Business Entity and Nature of Operations

Johnson Securities, Inc. (the Company), located in Malvern, Pennsylvania, was incorporated May 14, 1984 and commenced operations on December 18, 1984 when it became a registered broker/dealer. The Company acts as agent for customers who purchase mutual funds and variable life insurance and annuities.

Investment Securities

The company classifies marketable securities as available for sale. Available for sale securities are valued at fair value. Net unrealized holding gains and losses are reported as a separate component of shareholder's equity, accumulated other comprehensive income (loss). Realized gains and losses are reported in statement of operations and are determined using the specific identification method.

Commissions and Fees Receivable

The Company considers all receivables to be fully collectible. Accordingly, no allowance for doubtful accounts is required.

Income Taxes

Income taxes are provided for the tax effects of transactions reported in the financial statements and consist of taxes currently due plus or minus the change during the period in deferred income tax assets and liabilities. Deferred income tax assets and liabilities are computed annually for the temporary differences between the financial statement basis and income tax basis of assets and liabilities that will result in taxable or deductible amounts in future years.

The Company recognizes and measures its unrecognized tax benefits in accordance with the Income Taxes Topic of the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) Accounting Standards Codification (ASC). Under that guidance the Company assesses the likelihood, based on their technical merit, that tax positions will be sustained upon examination based on facts, circumstances and other available information. There were no unrecognized tax benefits at December 31, 2010.

JOHNSON SECURITIES, INC.
NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
DECEMBER 31, 2010

NOTE 1 SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES (CONTINUED)

Income Taxes

Generally, the Company's tax returns for the previous three years are subject to examination by taxing authorities. Interest and penalties, if any, on the underpayment of income taxes are classified as income tax expense.

Statement of Cash Flows

For purposes of the statement of cash flows, the Company considers all highly liquid debt instruments purchased with an original maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect certain reported amounts and disclosures. Accordingly, actual results could differ from those estimates.

Subsequent Events

The Company has evaluated all events subsequent to the balance sheet date of December 31, 2010 through February 22, 2011, which is the date the financial statements were available to be issued, and has determined there are no subsequent events that require disclosure under the Subsequent Events Topic of the FASB ASC.

NOTE 2 INVESTMENT SECURITIES

Investment Securities consist of The NASDAQ OMX Group, Inc common stock. Fair value of the stock is measured on a recurring basis based on quoted price in an active market for identical assets (Level 1). At December 31, 2010 the fair value of the stock was $106,785, the cost basis was $67,800, and the total unrealized gain included in accumulated other comprehensive income was $38,985. The Company's concentration of investment securities makes it vulnerable to the risk of severe loss.

JOHNSON SECURITIES, INC.
NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
DECEMBER 31, 2010

NOTE 3 RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONS

The Company has a sales agreement with its sole stockholder (Johnson) whereby the Company pays Johnson a percentage of all commissions generated by Johnson. As part of the agreement, Johnson has agreed that his commission is payable solely from the proceeds of the receivables and waives his right to payment until the Company is in receipt of the commission. In 2010, the Company recognized commission expense to Johnson in the amount of $96,139. Included in commissions payable at December 31, 2010 were $7,128 of commissions due to Johnson.

The Company has an agreement with John C. Johnson, Jr., Inc., a company owned by Johnson, to share the office space and clerical staff of John C. Johnson, Inc. at a cost of $900 per month. Total costs incurred under the agreement were $10,800 and are included operating expenses.

NOTE 4 INCOME TAXES

Deferred tax assets arise from payables which will be deductible in future years because the cash method of accounting is used for income tax purposes and from net operating loss and capital loss carryovers. The Company's federal net operating loss carryforward of $3,730 expires in 2029 and capital loss carryover of $3,382 expires in 2014. The Company has a state net operating loss of $12,046 that expires in 2012. A deferred tax asset valuation allowance in the amount of $500 has been recognized in 2010 due to the uncertainty of realizing a tax benefit for the portion of the state net operating loss that exceeds the federal net operating and capital loss carryforwards.

Deferred tax liabilities arise from investment securities that have a greater financial statement basis due to the recognition of unrealized gains for financial statement purposes and from receivables which will be taxable in future years. Total deferred tax assets and liabilities are as follows:

The Company is subject to the Securities and Exchange Commission's net capital rule (SEC Rule 15c3-1), which requires the maintenance of minimum net capital and requires that the ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital, as defined, shall not exceed 15 to 1. Essentially, net capital is defined as shareholder's equity plus subordinated liabilities less certain deductions for assets that are not readily convertible into cash.

The Company's ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital, as defined, at December 31, 2010 was .31 to 1.

At December 31, 2010, the Company had net capital, as defined, of $71,203 and excess net capital of $66,203.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT ON INTERNAL CONTROL

To the Board of Directors
Johnson Securities, Inc.

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements of Johnson Securities, Inc. (the Company), as of and for the year ended December 31, 2010, in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, we considered the Company's internal control over financial reporting (internal control) as a basis for designing our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control. Accordingly, we do not express an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control.

Also, as required by Rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission, we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company including consideration of control activities for safeguarding securities. This study included tests of such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in Rule 17a-5(g) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness (or aggregate debits) and net capital under Rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with exemptive provisions of Rule 15c3-3. Because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, we did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in any of the following:

1. Making quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications, and comparisons and recordation of differences required by Rule 17a-13
2. Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System

To the Board of Directors of
Johnson Securities, Inc.
Page Two

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the Securities and Exchange Commission's previously mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable but not absolute assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition, and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in internal control and the practices and procedures referred to above, error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

A control deficiency exists when the design or operation of a control does not allow management or employees, in the normal course of performing their assigned functions, to prevent or detect misstatements on a timely basis. A significant deficiency is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control, that is less severe than a material weakness, yet important enough to merit attention by those charged with governance.

A material weakness is a deficiency, or combination of deficiencies, in internal control, such that there is a reasonable possibility that a material misstatement of the Company's financial statements will not be prevented, or detected and corrected on a timely basis.

To the Board of Directors of
Johnson Securities, Inc.
Page Three

Our consideration of internal control was for the limited purpose described in the first and second paragraphs and would not necessarily identify all deficiencies in internal control that might be material weaknesses. We did not identify any deficiencies in internal control and control activities for safeguarding securities that we consider to be material weaknesses, as defined previously.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the Securities and Exchange Commission to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures, as described in the second paragraph of this report, were adequate at December 31, 2010, to meet the Securities and Exchange Commission's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the Board of Directors, management, the Securities and Exchange Commission, and other regulatory agencies that rely on Rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.
