INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT

To the Member of
Colchester Securities, LLC
Summit, New Jersey

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements of Colchester Securities, LLC (the Company), as of and for the year ended December 31, 2010, in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, we considered the Company's internal control over financial reporting (internal control) as a basis for designing our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control. Accordingly, we do not express an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control.

Also, as required by rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company, including consideration of control activities for safeguarding securities. This study included tests of such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in rule 17a-5(g) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness and net capital under rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of rule 15c3-3. Because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, we did not review any practices or procedures followed by the Company in any of the following:

1. Making quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications, and comparisons, and recordation of differences required by Rule 17a-13.
2. Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.
3. Obtaining and maintaining physical possession or control of all fully paid and excess margin securities of customers as required by Rule 15c3-3.

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's previously mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable but not absolute assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in internal control and the practices and procedures referred to above, error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

A control deficiency exists when the design or operation of a control does not allow management or employees, in the normal course of performing their assigned functions, to prevent or detect misstatements on a timely basis. A significant deficiency is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control that is less severe than a material weakness, yet important enough to merit attention by those charged with governance.

A material weakness is a deficiency, or combination of deficiencies, in internal control, such that there is a reasonable possibility that a material misstatement of the Company's financial statements will not be prevented or detected and corrected on a timely basis.

Our consideration of internal control was for the limited purpose described in the first and second paragraphs and would not necessarily identify all deficiencies in internal control that might be material weaknesses. We did not identify any deficiencies in internal control and control activities for safeguarding assets for which the Company has responsibility that we consider to be material weaknesses, as defined previously.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures, as described in the second paragraph of this report, were adequate at December 31, 2010, to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the member, management, the SEC, FINRA, and other regulatory agencies that rely on rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.

COLCHESTER SECURITIES, LLC
Notes to Financial Statements
December 31, 2010 and 2009

(1) NATURE OF OPERATIONS

Colchester Securities, LLC (the Company) was organized on August 20, 2004 to provide investment banking services in the areas of restructurings, recapitalizations, merger and acquisitions, as well as private placement services to corporate clients nationwide. The Company is a broker-dealer registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) and is a member of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA).

(2) SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Estimates in the preparation of financial statements

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosures of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Revenue recognition

No fee revenues were recognized for either of the years ended December 31, 2010 or 2009. When such revenues exist, these consist principally of transaction fees, which are recognized when a transaction has been completed and the amount is reasonably determinable, and retainers, which are recognized over the term of the agreement. Transaction fees are generally based upon the size of the transaction for advisory assignments and on the amount of capital being raised in a private placement. In certain cases, a fixed transaction fee may be agreed upon with the client. Retainer fees are generally based upon an estimate of the time and effort which will be expended prior to the closing of a transaction.

Income taxes

The Company has elected under the Internal Revenue Code to be a non-taxpaying entity (a partnership) for federal and state income tax purposes. Earnings and losses are included in the member's income tax returns.

(3) RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONS

Expense sharing

In accordance with an expense agreement dated November 30, 2004, the Company reimburses its sole investing member, an entity also related through common management, for the Company's allocated share of certain occupancy expenses paid by this entity. Amounts incurred under this agreement totaled $12,000 for each of the years ended December 31, 2010 and 2009. In accordance with this agreement, $12,000 was owed to the member at December 31, 2010. No amounts were owed to the member in accordance with this agreement at December 31, 2009. Had the Company been operating autonomously, its financial position and results of operations could have been different as of December 31, 2010 and 2009 and for the years then ended.

COLCHESTER SECURITIES, LLC
Notes to Financial Statements
December 31, 2010 and 2009

(4) LIMITED LIABILITY COMPANY

Since the Company is a limited liability company, the member shall not be liable for the debts, liabilities, contracts or other obligations of the Company except to the extent of any unpaid capital contributions such member has agreed to make to the Company. In addition, no manager shall be liable for the debts, liabilities, contracts or other obligations of the Company. Neither any manager nor any officer, member, employee, agent, representative or affiliate of a manager shall have any liability to the Company or the member of any loss, cost or expense suffered or incurred by the Company or the member that arises out of or relates to any action or inaction of any such person provided that there was no gross negligence or willful misconduct on the part of such person.

The duration of the Company is perpetual.

(5) NET CAPITAL REQUIREMENTS

The Company is subject to the SEC Uniform Net Capital Rule (Rule 15c3-1), which requires the maintenance of a minimum net capital and a ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital, not exceeding 15 to 1. At December 31, 2010, the Company had net capital, as defined, of $133,015 which was $128,015 in excess of its minimum required net capital of $5,000. The Company's ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital was .13 to 1 as of December 31, 2010.

The SEC customer protection rule (Rule 15c3-3) requires the maintenance of reserves for customer accounts and sets forth specific guidelines regarding the possession of securities. The Company is exempt from this rule under section (k)(2)i which provides an exemption for broker-dealers who do not hold customer funds or safekeep customer securities but maintain "Special Accounts for the Exclusive Benefit of Customers." Therefore, Schedules II and III on pages 9 and 10 are not applicable.

(6) CONCENTRATIONS OF CREDIT RISK

The Company maintains its cash balances at one financial institution located in Jersey City, New Jersey. The balances are insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation up to $250,000. At December 31, 2010, the Company did not have any uninsured cash balances.

(7) SUBSEQUENT EVENT EVALUATION

The Company has evaluated subsequent events through the issuance of the financial statements.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT

To the Member
Colchester Securities, LLC
Summit, New Jersey

We have audited the accompanying statements of financial condition of Colchester Securities, LLC as of December 31, 2010 and 2009, and the related statements of operations, changes in member's equity, and cash flows for the years then ended that you are filing pursuant to Rule 17a-5 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Colchester Securities, LLC as of December 31, 2010 and 2009, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the years then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Our audits were conducted for the purpose of forming an opinion on the basic financial statements taken as a whole. The information contained on pages 8 through 11 is presented for purposes of additional analysis and is not a required part of the basic financial statements, but is supplementary information required by Rule 17a-5 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Such information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the basic financial statements and, in our opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the basic financial statements taken as a whole.
