Report on Internal Control Required By SEC Rule 17a-5 for a Broker-Dealer claiming an exemption From SEC Rule 15c3-3

Board of Directors and Sole Member
PondView Capital LLC
(A Wholly Owned Subsidiary of PondView LLC)
Sherborn, Massachusetts

In planning and performing my audit of the financial statements of PondView Capital LLC (the Company), a wholly owned subsidiary of PondView LLC, for the year ended December 31, 2011, I considered its internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, in order to determine my auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing my opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on the internal control.

Also, as required by Rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC"), I have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company including tests of such practices and procedures that I considered relevant to the objectives stated in Rule 17a-5(g) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness (or aggregate debts) and net capital under Rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of Rule 15c3-3. Because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, I did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in any of the following:

1. Making quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications, and comparisons and recordation of differences required by Rule 17a-13
2. Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in any internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, errors or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

A control deficiency exists when the design or operation of a control does not allow management or employees, in the normal course of performing their assigned functions, to prevent or detect misstatements on a timely basis. A significant deficiency is a control deficiency, or combination of control deficiencies, that adversely affects the entity's ability to initiate, authorize, record, process, or report financial data reliably in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles such that there is more than a remote likelihood that a misstatement of the entity's financial statements that is more than inconsequential will not be prevented or detected by the entity's internal control.

A material weakness is a significant deficiency, or combination of significant deficiencies, that results in more than a remote likelihood that a material misstatement of the financial statements will not be prevented or detected by the entity's internal control.

My consideration of internal control was for the limited purpose described in the first and second paragraphs and would not necessarily identify all deficiencies in internal control that might be material weaknesses. I did not identify any deficiencies in internal control and control activities for safeguarding securities that I consider to be material weaknesses, as defined above.

I understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on my study, I believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2011 to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the Board of Directors, Management, the SEC, (Designated self-regulatory organization), and other regulatory agencies that rely on Rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

I have audited the accompanying statement of financial condition of PondView Capital LLC, a wholly owned subsidiary of PondView LLC, as of December 31, 2011, and the related statements of income, changes in member's equity, and cash flows for the year then ended that you are filing pursuant to rule 17a-5 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. My responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on my audit.

I conducted my audit in accordance with auditing standards, generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that I plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. I believe that my audit provides a reasonable basis for my opinion.

In my opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the PondView Capital LLC as of December 31, 2011 and the results of its operations and cash flows for the years then ended, in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

My audit was conducted for the purpose of forming an opinion on the basic financial statements taken as a whole. The information contained in Schedules I, II and III are presented for purposes of additional analysis and is not a required part of the basic financial statements, but is supplementary information required by Rule 17a-5 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Such information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the basic financial statements and, in my opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the basic financial statements taken as a whole.

(A Wholly Owned Subsidiary of PondView LLC)
Notes to Financial Statements
For the Year Ended December 31, 2011

1. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Nature of Business

PondView Capital LLC, a Delaware Limited Liability Company located in Sherborn, Massachusetts, is a wholly owned subsidiary of PondView LLC (the "Parent" and sole member). The Company is a registered broker-dealer under the provisions of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and a member of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority("FINRA"). The Company was formed in late 2002 and began operations as a broker-dealer in May 2003. The Company advises on and negotiates mergers and acquisitions and private placements for established and emerging companies.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Basis of Accounting

The Company uses the accrual method of accounting for financial and tax accounting purposes.

Concentration of Credit Risk

The Company maintains its cash in bank deposit accounts, which, at times, may be in excess of the federally insured limits. Accounts are guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation ("FDIC") up to $100,000. At December 31, 2011 the company had nothing in excess of FDIC insured limits. The company has not experienced any losses in such accounts.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents include all cash balances and highly liquid investments with an initial maturity of three months or less.

1. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES (Continued)

Fair Value of Financial Statements

The company's financial statements are cash and cash equivalents, and accrued expenses. The recorded values of the cash and cash equivalents, and accrued expenses approximate their fair values based on their short-term nature.

Revenue Recognition

The Company enters into contracts with customers calling for monthly consulting fees to be paid during the term of the arrangement and a commission paid out based on a fixed percentage of the total consideration paid once the merger, acquisition, etc. (the "Transaction") is finalized. Accordingly, management recognizes monthly consulting fees in revenue for the month earned when persuasive evidence of an arrangement exists, the services outlined in the contract have been performed, the price of the contract is fixed or determinable, and collectibility is reasonably assured, with separate revenue recognition once each Transaction is finalized.

Income Taxes

The Company is recognized as a partnership for income tax purposes under the provisions of the Internal Revenue Code for Limited Liability Companies. As a result, income and losses of the Company are passed through to its sole member, the Parent, for income tax reporting purposes. Under the expense sharing agreement discussed in Note 2, the Parent incurs certain expenses on behalf of the Company, including income taxes, with no apportionment back to the Company. Accordingly, no provision has been made for federal or state income taxes.

The Company is subject to federal or state tax examinations by taxing authorities for years 2008, 2009 and 2010.

2. MAJOR CUSTOMERS

The Company received 100% of its revenue from two companies during the year ended December 31, 2011.

3. RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONS

Expense Sharing Agreement

Pursuant to an expense sharing agreement, effective January 1, 2008 the Parent agreed to pay all operating expenses of the Company in connection with the offices in Sherbon including automobile, insurance, postage, telephone, rent, photocopy, miscellaneous office supplies, and the salaries of individuals employed by the Parent who at any time perform work on the Company's matters. The expense sharing agreement provides that no expenses will be apportioned back to the Company and that the Company will pay all of its own direct expenses, such as legal and accounting fees, filing costs, registration and membership fees, and those supplies such as stationery used solely by the Company. Additionally, it states that the Company agreed not to make any distributions or transfer funds if it would result in the Company's net capital falling below 120% of its minimum under Rule 15c3-1 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 or exceed minimum aggregate indebtedness requirements. Amounts paid to the Parent are reported as management fees on the Statement of Income. During 2011, $14,400 was paid to the Parent for management fees.

4. NET CAPITAL

Pursuant to the net capital provisions of Rule 15c3-1 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, the Company is required to maintain a minimum net capital of $5,000 and the ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital must be less than 15 to 1, as defined under such provisions. At December 31, 2011, the Company had net capital of $7,575, exceeding the minimum net capital requirement of $5,000 by $2,575. At December 31, 2011, the Company had a ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital of .55 to 1.

There was no material differences between the audited net capital and that filed originally by the Company as of December 31, 2011.

5. SUBSEQUENT EVENTS

Management has evaluated subsequent events through January 10, 2012, the date on which the financial statements were available to be issued.
