Organization and Business

World Trade Financial Corporation (formerly knows as "Amber Securities Corporation") (incorporated in Nevada on July 18, 1996), obtained a California Certificate of Qualification on September 15, 1997 and began using its current name on April 27, 1999. The company began doing business on January 6, 1998 as a broker-dealer registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC). The company operates as a fully disclosed broker-dealer pursuant to the exemptive provisions of the SEC Rule 15c3-3 subparagraph (k)(2)(ii). To maintain this exemption, the Company does not hold customer funds and/or securities. If any customer funds and/or securities are received, they are to be promptly forwarded. The Company's client base is in both domestic and foreign markets, and the Company utilizes the Internet to facilitate its trading activity.

NOTE 2 – ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Estimates

The financial statements are prepared on the accrual basis of accounting, in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, which requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

The Company considers all cash accounts, which are not subject to withdrawal restrictions or penalties, certificates of deposit and money market funds purchased with an original maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

The Company maintains its bank account at a financial institution located in California. The account at this bank is insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) up to $250,000. At June 30, 2012 and 2011, the Company's uninsured cash balances totaled $0. The Company has not experienced any losses in such accounts and management believes it places its cash on deposit with financial institutions which are financially stable.

The Company maintains its clearing accounts at three financial institutions located in California, New York and Nebraska. The accounts at these institutions are insured by the Securities Investors Protection Corporation (SIPC) up to $100,000. At June 30, 2012 and 2011, the Company's uninsured cash balances totaled $308.56. The Company has not experienced any losses in such accounts and management believes it places its cash on deposit with financial institutions which are financially stable.

Receivables

All receivables consist of clearing broker dealer balances which result from daily and recurring trade transactions. Due to the general nature of these receivables, the amounts are generally fully collected within ten days of closing of transactions throughout the year. As of June 30, 2012, amounts due from clearing accounts were $15,077.41.

Recognition of Revenue

Commission revenue and related sales commissions which result from the trading of securities are recorded as they are earned.

Financial Instruments

The carrying of value of current assets and liabilities approximates fair value due to the short-term maturities of these assets and liabilities as of June 30, 2012 and 2011.

Nature of Business

Changes in the national and regional economic climates, changes in business relationships with its primary source of revenues, other laws and regulations, the costs of compliance with current and future laws, unusual occurrences and other factors beyond the control of the Company may adversely affect its future revenues.

NOTE 3 – FURNITURE AND EQUIPMENT

Furniture and equipment is recorded at cost and is depreciated on a straight-line basis over the estimated useful lives of the depreciable assets which range from three to seven years. Leasehold improvements are depreciated on the straight-line basis for a useful life of fifteen years.

NOTE 4 – INCOME TAXES

The Company accounts for its income taxes under the asset and liability method. The objective of the asset and liability method is to establish deferred tax assets and liabilities for the temporary differences between the financial reporting basis and the tax basis of the Company's assets and liabilities at enacted tax rates expected to be in effect when such amounts are realized or settled. The Principal temporary differences in the recognition of income and expense for tax and financial reporting purposes arise from the use of accelerated depreciation for tax purposes and the timing of the payment of California Franchise taxes which are not currently deductible for federal income tax purposes.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT ON INTERNAL ACCOUNTING CONTROL REQUIRED BY RULE 17A-5 OF THE SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

Board of Directors World Trade Financial Corporation San Diego, California

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements and supplemental schedules of World Trade Financial Corporation as of and for the year ended June 30, 2012, we considered its internal control, including procedures for safeguarding securities, in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on the internal control.

We also made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness and net capital under Rule 17a-3(a)(11) and the procedures for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of Rule 15c3-3. We did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in making the quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications and comparisons, and the recordation of differences required by Rule 17a-13 or in complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under section 8 of Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, because the Company does not carry security accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities.

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of internal control policies and procedures and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the Commission's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal controls and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in any internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, errors or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

Our consideration of the internal control would not necessarily disclose all matters in the internal control that might be material weaknesses under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of the specific internal control elements does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that errors or fraud in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, we noted the following matter involving the control environment and its operation that we considered to be a material weakness as defined above. This condition was considered in determining the nature, timing and extent of the procedures to be performed in our audit of the financial statements of World Trade Financial Corporation for the year ended June 30, 2012, and this report does not affect our report thereon dated August 27, 2012.

As a result of the Company's small size, the assignment of job responsibilities does not provide an adequate segregation of duties. Effective internal control contemplates a segregation of duties so that no one individual processes a transaction from its inception to its completion. While we recognize that the Company is not large enough to permit an adequate segregation of duties for an effective system of internal accounting control, it is important that you be aware of this condition.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the Commission to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at June 30, 2012 to meet the Commission's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the use of management, the Securities and Exchange Commission, the New York Stock Exchange and other regulatory agencies which rely on Rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and should not be used for any other purpose.
