REPORT OF INDEPENDENT CERTIFIED PUBLIC ACCOUNTANTS

Board of Directors
INVEX, Inc.

We have audited the accompanying consolidated financial statements of INVEX, Inc. and Subsidiary (“the Company”), which comprise the consolidated statements of financial condition as of December 31, 2012 and 2011, and the related consolidated statements of operations, changes in shareholder’s equity, and cash flows for the years then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements, that you are filing pursuant to Rule 17a-5 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934.

Management’s responsibility for the financial statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these consolidated financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of consolidated financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor’s responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these consolidated financial statements based on our audits. We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the consolidated financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor’s judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the consolidated financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity’s preparation and fair presentation of the consolidated financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity’s internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the consolidated financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Opinion

In our opinion, the consolidated financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of INVEX, Inc. and Subsidiary as of December 31, 2012 and 2011, and the results of their operations and their cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Supplementary Information

Our audit was conducted for the purpose of forming an opinion on the consolidated financial statements as a whole. The information contained in Schedule I is presented for purposes of additional analysis and is not a required part of the consolidated financial statements, but is required by Rule 17a-5 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Such supplementary information is the responsibility of management and was derived from and relates directly to the underlying accounting and other records used to prepare the consolidated financial statements. The information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the consolidated financial statements and certain additional procedures. These additional procedures included comparing and reconciling the information directly to the underlying accounting and other records used to prepare the consolidated financial statements or to the consolidated financial statements themselves, and other additional procedures in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. In our opinion, the information contained in Schedule I is fairly stated, in all material respects, in relation to the consolidated financial statements as a whole.

NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

December 31, 2012 and 2011

NOTE A - ORGANIZATION

INVEX, Inc. ("INVEX"), a Delaware corporation, was incorporated on January 30, 1992, and received its broker/dealer registration from the Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC") on March 24, 1992. INVEX is wholly owned by INVEX, Casa de Bolsa, S.A. de C.V. (the "Parent") and is a member of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority, Inc. ("FINRA"). The Parent's business activities include broker/dealer activities, underwriting, and proprietary trading in Mexican securities. The Parent is a member of the Mexican-based financial group, INVEX, Controladora, S.A. de C.V. (the "Group").

INVEX is a FINRA-registered securities broker/dealer offering brokerage services to the clientele of the Parent as well as executing proprietary trading for the firm. The majority of INVEX's and its wholly owned "non guaranteed" subsidiary, INVEX USA's (collectively, the "Company") revenue relates to commissions attributable to customer transactions.

Invex, Inc. created a wholly owned subsidiary, Invex Advisers LLC, in 2012. Invex Advisers is currently in the registration process with FINRA and the State of Florida. Invex Advisers will offer investment advisory services to select clients. Invex Advisers will charge an annual fee to its clients. Invex Advisers did not provide services to any clients in 2012 and thus earned no income in 2012.

NOTE B - SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Basis of Presentation

The accompanying consolidated financial statements are prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America and include the accounts of the Company and its wholly owned subsidiary, after the elimination of all intercompany balances and transactions.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenue and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents include cash on deposit at banks and depository institutions. The Company considers all highly liquid investments (including money market funds) with maturities at time of purchase three months or less, that are not held for sale in the ordinary course of business, to be cash equivalents. At times, such balances may exceed federally-insured limits per financial institution.

Restricted Cash

Restricted cash consists of cash collateral for certain investments held at an investment banking firm.

Securities Transactions

Securities transactions, commission income and related expenses are recorded on a trade-date basis. Securities owned and securities sold but not yet purchased are stated at quoted market values with unrealized gains and losses reflected in trading income or loss—net on the accompanying consolidated statement of operations. Commission revenue consists primarily of markups on bonds sold to customers.

Securities purchased under agreements to resell are collateralized financing transactions. As of December 31, 2012 and 2011, the securities purchased under agreements to resell have been pledged as collateral for the payables to customers and represent overnight and other short-term transactions.

Securities-owned inventory is carried at fair value, which is estimated based on quoted market prices for those or similar instruments (see Note C). Changes in fair value of securities owned are recorded in the consolidated statements of operations as trading income or loss.

Receivables from Clearing Brokers

Receivables from clearing broker represent cash held on account available for future trades.

Furniture and Equipment

Furniture and equipment are stated at cost, net of accumulated depreciation. Depreciation is provided on a straight-line basis over the estimated useful lives of the assets which range from three to five years.

Income Taxes

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are recognized for the estimated future tax consequences attributable to differences between the financial statement carrying amounts of existing assets and liabilities and their respective tax bases. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured using enacted tax rates in effect for the year in which those temporary differences are expected to be recovered or settled. The effect on deferred tax assets and liabilities of a change in tax rates is recognized in income in the period that includes the enactment date.

Securities Owned - Equity Method

On April 25, 2011, the Company acquired for $4,000,000, an approximate 14.0% ownership interest in Bulltick Capital Market Holdings, LP ("Bulltick"), a broker-dealer partnership. The Company follows the equity method of accounting, as it has the ability to exercise significant influence, but not control, over operating and financial policies of Bulltick. As of the date of purchase, the basis difference between the carrying amount of the investment and the amount of the equity in net assets was approximately $4,000,000 of which $2,000,000 was deemed to be associated with amortizable intangible assets based on a preliminary purchase price allocation. The Company has recognized its share of losses during 2012 and 2011, of $2,154,777 and $908,542 respectively, in the consolidated statements of operations in equitable share of loss from unconsolidated investee. Such amount includes the recognition of operating losses of $924,459 plus $200,000 of amortization of basis difference that existed at acquisition attributable to amortizable intangible assets. The loss also includes an impairment write down of $1,030,318 based on the observed value of Bulltick as a result of a third party transaction. As of December 31, 2012, the Company held an ownership interest of 10.737% in Bulltick. As of and for the years ended December 31, 2012 and December 31, 2011, Bulltick's total assets, total liabilities, total revenue and net loss were as follows:

NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS - CONTINUED

NOTE E - INCOME TAXES

The Company uses an asset and liability approach for financial accounting and reporting for income taxes. This method gives consideration to the future tax consequences associated with carryforwards and with temporary differences between financial accounting and tax bases of assets and liabilities. These differences relate primarily to depreciation and loss carryforwards.

The Company has no significant permanent differences between the reported amount of income tax expense and the amount of income tax expense that would result from applying the federal statutory rates to pretax income from continuing operations. The difference between the statutory rate of 34% and the effective rate in 2012 is primarily due to state income taxes. The difference between the statutory rate of 34% and the effective rate in 2011 is also primarily due to state income taxes and non-deductible expenses.

The summary of the Company's provision for income taxes for the years ended December 31, 2012 and 2011 is as follows:

	2012	2011
Federal	$ 1,234,841	$ 19,857
State	147,956	2,620
Current tax expense	1,382,797	22,477
Deferred tax (benefit)	(958,735)	(222,798)
Income tax expense (benefit)	$ 424,062	$ (200,321)

The summary of the tax effects of attributes that give rise to deferred tax assets and liabilities as of December 31, 2012 and 2011 is as follows:

	2012	2011
Deferred taxes:
Capital loss carryforward	$ -	$ 244,737
Unrealized losses on investments	1,562,850	362,780
Depreciation	(27,906)	(31,308)
Net deferred tax asset	$ 1,534,944	$ 576,209

The Company has a capital loss carryforward of approximately $0 and $676,418 as of December 31, 2012 and 2011. The capital loss carryforward of $676,418 at December 31, 2011 was applied to realized capital gains in 2012 and there is no capital loss carryforward at December 31, 2012. Management believes that, based on the available evidence, a valuation allowance is not necessary because it does not expect that any of the unrealized losses on investments which would result in a capital loss carryforward will expire unused. Management has determined it is more likely than not that the benefit related to the $1,534,944 of net deferred tax assets will be realized.

Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes, became effective for fiscal years of non-public entities beginning on or after December 15, 2008. INVEX, Inc. adopted Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes on January 1, 2009. The open years applicable to INVEX, Inc. include tax years 2009 through 2012 for Federal tax purposes, 2008 through 2009 for Texas tax purposes and 2009 through 2012 for Florida tax purposes. Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes clarifies the accounting for uncertainty in income taxes recognized in a company's financial statements in accordance with Accounting for Income Taxes. Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes prescribes a recognition threshold and measurement attribute for the financial statement recognition and measurement of a tax position taken or expected to be taken in a tax return.

The evaluation of a tax position in accordance with Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes involves both recognition and measurement. The Company must determine whether it is more likely than not that a tax position will be ultimately sustained upon examination, including resolution of any appeals or litigation, based on the technical merits of the position. A tax position that meets the more-likely-than-not recognition threshold is measured to determine the amount of benefit to recognize in the financial statement. As defined in Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes, a tax position is a position in a previously filed tax return or a position expected to be taken in a future tax return that is reflected in measuring current or deferred income tax assets and liabilities for interim or annual periods.

The Company provides for uncertain tax positions and the related interest and penalties based upon management's assessment of whether a tax benefit is more likely than not to be sustained upon examination by tax authorities. The Company has determined that no liability for uncertain tax positions was necessary as of December 31, 2012 and 2011.

NOTE M - ESTIMATED FAIR VALUE OF FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS

The Company defines fair value as the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability (i.e. the "exit price") in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date.

In determining fair value, the Company uses various approaches. The Company uses an established fair value hierarchy for inputs used in measuring fair value that maximizes the use of observable inputs and minimizes the use of unobservable inputs by requiring that the most observable inputs be used when available. Observable inputs are those that market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability based on market data obtained from sources independent of the Company. Unobservable inputs reflect the Company's assumption about the inputs market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability developed based on the best information available in the circumstances. The fair value hierarchy is categorized into three levels based on the inputs as follows:

- Level 1 - Valuations based on unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the Company has the ability to access. Valuation adjustments and block discounts are not applied to Level 1 securities. Since valuations are based on quoted prices that are readily and regularly available in an active market, valuation of these securities does not entail a significant degree of judgment.
- Level 2 - Valuations based on quoted prices in markets that are not active or for which all significant inputs are observable, either directly or indirectly.
- Level 3 - Valuations based on inputs that are unobservable and significant to the overall fair value measurement.

The availability of valuation techniques and observable inputs can vary from security to security and is affected by a wide variety of factors, including the type of security, whether the security is new and not yet established in the marketplace, and other characteristics particular to the transaction. To the extent that valuation is based on models or inputs that are less observable or unobservable in the market, the determination of fair value requires more judgment. Those estimated values do not necessarily represent the amounts that may be ultimately realized due to the occurrence of future circumstances that cannot be reasonably determined. Because of the inherent uncertainty of valuation, those estimated values may be materially higher or lower than the values that would have been used had a ready market for the securities existed. Accordingly, the degree of judgment exercised by the Company in determining fair value is greatest for securities categorized in Level 3. In such cases, for disclosure purposes, the level in the fair value hierarchy within which the fair value measurement falls in its entirety is determined by the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement.

NOTE M - ESTIMATED FAIR VALUE OF FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS - Continued

Fair value is a market-based measure considered from the perspective of a market participant rather than an entity-specific measure. Therefore, even when market assumptions are not readily available, the Company's own assumptions are set to reflect those that market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability at the measurement date. The Company uses prices and inputs that are current as of the measurement date, including during periods of market dislocation. In periods of market dislocation, the observability of prices and inputs may be reduced for many securities. This condition could cause a security to be reclassified to a lower level within the fair value hierarchy.

- Equities - The Company values investments in securities and securities sold, but not yet purchased that are freely tradable and are listed on a national securities exchange or reported on the NASDAQ national market at their last sales price as of the last business day of the year.
- Corporate bonds - The fair value of corporate bonds is estimated using recently executed transactions, market price quotations (where observable), bond spreads or credit default swap spreads. The spread data used are for the same maturity as the bond. If the spread data does not reference the issuer, then data that references a comparable issuer is used. When observable price quotations are not available, fair value is determined based on cash flow models with yield curves, bond, or single-name credit default swap spreads and recovery rates based on collateral values as key inputs. Corporate bonds are generally categorized in Level 2 of the fair value hierarchy. In instances where significant inputs are unobservable, they are categorized in Level 3 of the hierarchy.
- Resale and Repurchase Agreements - Securities purchased under agreements to resell and securities sold under agreements to repurchase, principally U.S. government, federal agency and investment-grade sovereign obligations, represent collateralized financing transactions, which are valued at their face amount due to the short-term nature and underlying credit quality of those instruments. The Company receives securities purchased under agreements to resell, makes delivery of securities sold under agreements to repurchase, and monitors market value of these securities on a daily basis.
- Credit default swaps – Management has identified two ways to evaluate the fair value of credit default swaps. One is to evaluate the rate or premium the company must pay to buy the credit protection offered by a credit default swap. The second is to evaluate the difference in the spread of the credit protection affected by the movement of the underlying index. The Company evaluates the difference between the nominal coupon of the credit default swap and the spread originally negotiated with the counterparty.

NOTE O - DERIVATIVE FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS USED FOR PURPOSES OTHER THAN TRADING

As of December 31, 2012, the Company had outstanding Credit Default Swap Agreements (the "Agreements") with an investment banking firm with a notional amount of $15,000,000. The Agreements were entered into in order to economically hedge the credit risk associated with the Company's foreign and domestic debt securities. The Company pays an interest based fee to the investment banking firm in return for this guarantee. The Agreements are recorded at fair value, and changes in fair value together with the interest based fee are recognized as interest expense in the consolidated statements of operations. The fair value of the Agreements amounted to ($479,741) and $111,950 as of December 31, 2012 and 2011, respectively. These amounts are included in other liabilities and prepaid and other assets in the consolidated statements of financial condition as of December 31, 2012 and 2011, respectively.

The Company does not apply hedge accounting as defined in FASB ASC 815, Derivatives and Hedging, as all financial instruments are recorded at fair value with changes in fair values reflected in earnings. Therefore, certain of the disclosures required under FASB ASC 815 are generally not applicable with respect to these financial instruments.

The Company has evaluated subsequent events through February 28, 2013, which is the date these consolidated financial statements were available to be issued. The Company is not aware of any subsequent events that would require recognition or disclosure in the financial statements.

REPORT ON INTERNAL CONTROL REQUIRED BY SEC RULE 17a-5(g)(1)

Board of Directors
INVEX, Inc.

In planning and performing our audit of the consolidated financial statements of INVEX, Inc. and Subsidiary (the "Company"), as of and for the year ended December 31, 2012 in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, we considered the Company's internal control over financial reporting (internal control) as a basis for designing our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the consolidated financial statements, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion.

Also, as required by Rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company, including consideration of control activities for safeguarding securities. This study included tests of compliance with such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in Rule 17a-5(g) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness (or aggregate debits) and net capital under Rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemption provisions of Rule 15c3-3. Because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, we did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in making the quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications, and comparisons and recordation of differences required by Rule 17a-13, or complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.

Management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining effective internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls, and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph, and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable but not absolute assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition, and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in internal control and the practices and procedures referred to above, error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

A deficiency in internal control exists when the design or operation of a control does not allow management or employees, in the normal course of performing their assigned functions, to prevent or detect and correct misstatements on a timely basis. A material weakness is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control, such that there is a reasonable possibility that a material misstatement of the Company's financial statements will not be prevented or detected and corrected on a timely basis.

Our consideration of internal control was for the limited purpose described in the first and second paragraphs and would not necessarily identify all deficiencies in internal control that might be material weaknesses. We did not identify any deficiencies in internal control and control activities for safeguarding securities that we consider to be material weaknesses, as defined above.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures, as described in the second paragraph of this report, were adequate at December 31, 2012 to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the Board of Directors, management, the SEC, Financial Industry Regulatory Authority, Inc. and other regulatory agencies that rely on Rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.
