Brentwood Capital Advisors, LLC
Nashville, Tennessee

We have audited the accompanying statement of financial condition of Brentwood Capital Advisors, LLC as of December 31, 2013, and the related statement of operations and members' equity, and cash flows for the year then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements that you are filing pursuant to rule 17a-5 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934.

Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor's Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform an audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness on the entity's internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

NOTE 1 - NATURE OF OPERATIONS AND SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Brentwood Capital Advisors, LLC (the Company) is a boutique investment banking firm focused on private placements of senior and subordinate debt and equity securities to institutional investors in addition to providing mergers and acquisition financial advisory services. The Company is a registered broker-dealer under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and a member of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA), which is the governing body for the broker-dealer industry created by the July 2007 merger of NASD and NYSE Regulation.

This summary of significant accounting policies of Brentwood Capital Advisors, LLC is presented to assist in understanding Company's financial statements. The financial statements and notes are representations of the Company's management, who is responsible for their integrity and objectivity. These accounting policies conform to generally accepted accounting principles and have been consistently applied in the preparation of the financial statements.

Basis of presentation

The financial statements are prepared on the accrual basis.

Property and Equipment

Property and equipment is stated at cost. Expenses for repairs and maintenance are expensed as incurred. Depreciation is provided over the assets' estimated useful lives using the straight-line and declining-balance methods. Estimated useful lives range from 5-7 years.

Depreciation expense for the year ended December 31, 2013, totaled $17,224.

Long-lived assets held and used by the Organization are reviewed for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of an asset may not be recoverable. In the event that facts and circumstances indicate that the cost of any long-lived assets may be impaired, an evaluation of recoverability would be performed.

Income taxes

The Company is taxed as a partnership under the Internal Revenue Code and applicable state statutes, and, therefore, the Company's income flows through to the members to be taxed at the individual level rather than the corporate level. Accordingly, the Company will have no tax liability (with limited exceptions) as long as the partnership election is in effect.

The Company accounts for income taxes in accordance with FASB ASC 740 (formerly SFAS No. 109) Accounting for Income Taxes, which requires an asset and liability approach to financial accounting and reporting for income taxes. Deferred income tax assets and liabilities are computed annually for differences between the financial statement and tax basis of assets and liabilities that will result in taxable or deductible amounts in the future based on enacted tax laws and rates applicable to the periods in which the differences are expected to affect taxable income. The difference relates to the temporary difference in depreciation calculated for book and tax purposes as well as accrual to cash conversion. The components of the deferred tax asset and liability are classified as current and non-current based on their characteristics. Valuation

Notes to the Financial Statements

NOTE 1 - NATURE OF OPERATIONS AND SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

allowances are established when necessary to reduce deferred tax assets to the amount expected to be realized. As of December 31, 2013, there were no material deferred tax assets or liabilities required to be reflected in these financial statements. Income tax expense is the tax payable or refundable for the period plus or minus the change during the period in deferred tax assets and liabilities.

The Company has adopted the effective accounting standards within FASB ASC 740-10, Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes, which prescribes a recognition threshold and measurement attribute for the financial statement recognition and measurement of a tax position taken or expected to be taken in a tax return. For those benefits to be recognized, a tax position must be more-likely-than-not to be sustained upon examination by taxing authorities. To the extent that all or a portion of the benefits of an income tax position are not recognized, a liability would be recognized for the unrecognized benefits, along with any interest and penalties that would result from disallowance of the position. These standards also provide guidance on derecognition of tax benefits, classification on the balance sheet, interest and penalties, accounting in interim periods and disclosure. For the year ended December 31, 2013, the Company has no material uncertain tax positions to be accounted for in the financial statements under the new rules. No interest or penalties have been accrued or charged to expense as of December 31, 2013 or for the year then ended. Based on the results of management's evaluation, the Company has no material uncertain tax positions to be accounted for in the financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2013.

Since tax matters are subject to some degree of uncertainty, there can be no assurance that the Company's tax returns will not be challenged by the taxing authorities and that the Company or its shareholders will not be subject to additional tax, penalties, and interest as a result of such challenge. The Company's federal and state income tax returns are subject to possible examination by the taxing authorities until the expiration of the related statutes of limitations on those tax returns. In general, the federal income tax returns have a three year statute of limitations.

Revenue recognition

Fees related to private placements of senior and subordinate debt, as well as equity securities are recognized upon the date of placement and financial advisory services fees are recognized as services are provided.

Use of estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

NOTE 1 - NATURE OF OPERATIONS AND SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Cash and Cash Equivalents

For purposes of the statement of cash flows, the Company considers all highly liquid debt instruments with original maturities of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

Allowance for Doubtful Accounts

The Company considers all accounts outstanding in excess of ninety (90) days delinquent. These accounts are evaluated on a customer-by-customer basis based on payment history to determine the allowance for doubtful accounts.

Fair Value of Financial Instruments

The following methods and assumptions were used by the Company in estimating its fair value disclosures for financial instruments:

- Current Assets and Liabilities: The carrying values of these items approximate their fair values due to the short maturities of these instruments.
- Other Assets: The carrying values of these items reflect cost which management believes approximates fair value.

Date of Management's Review

Management has evaluated all events through February 26, 2014, which is the date the financial statements were issued, and determined that there are no subsequent events that require disclosure.

NOTE 2 - CREDIT RISK AND OTHER CONCENTRATIONS

The Company maintains its cash in bank deposit accounts at regional financial institutions, which at times, may exceed the FDIC limit. The Company has not experienced any losses in such accounts, therefore management does not believe it is exposed to any significant credit risk related to cash and cash equivalents.

NOTE 4 - RETIREMENT PLANS

401(k) Profit Sharing Plan

The Company sponsors a 401(k) profit sharing plan for qualified employees. Company contributions are made at management's discretion but cannot exceed the amount deductible for federal income tax purposes.

Defined Benefit Plan

The Company maintains a cash balance pension plan for eligible employees. A cash balance pension plan operates as a defined benefit pension plan. Contributions from the Company are calculated annually at amounts deemed necessary by actuarial study to fund the Plan in accordance with the applicable minimum funding standards. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Employer reserves the right to terminate this Plan at any time. As of December 31, 2013, there are seventeen participants in the plan. Contributions are based on the amount required to fund a projected annual benefit at the employees retirement date. Non-owner participants in the plan are credited with an amount equal to 2.5% of their compensation for the plan year. The owner participants reimburse the company for the amount of contribution required to fund their projected benefit. As of December 31, 2013 the estimated actuarial value of Plan assets is equal to 102.40% of the Plan's actuarial estimated present value of accrued benefits.

NOTE 5 - LEASE COMMITMENTS

The Company has lease agreements for office space and office equipment under operating leases. Rent expense under these leases amounted to $203,287 in 2013. A summary of future minimum payments under these leases as of December 31, 2013 is as follows:

	$ 1,512,027

NOTE 6 - NET CAPITAL REQUIREMENTS AND OTHER RESTRICTIONS

Minimum net capital for the Company is $5,202. At December 31, 2013, the Company had net capital of $281,707, which was $276,505 in excess of its required net capital of $5,202.

Report On Internal Control Required by SEC Rule 17a-5 (g)(1) for a Broker-Dealer Claiming an Exemption from SEC Rule 15c3-3

The Members
Brentwood Capital Advisors, LLC:

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements and supplemental schedules of Brentwood Capital Advisors, LLC (the Company) as of and for the year ended December 31, 2013 in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, we considered the Company's internal control over financial reporting as a basis for designing our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control. Accordingly, we do not express an opinion on the effectiveness on the Company's internal control.

Also, as required by rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company including consideration on control activities for safeguarding securities. This study included tests of such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in rule 17a-5(g), in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness (or aggregate debits) and net capital under rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of rule 15c3-3. Because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, we did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in any the following:

1. Making quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications, and comparisons, and recordation of differences required by rule 17a-13.
2. Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of the Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable but not absolute assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition and that transactions are executed in conformity with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in any internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

A deficiency in internal control exists when the design or operation of a control does not allow management or employees, in the normal course of performing their assigned functions, to prevent, or detect and correct, misstatements on a timely basis. A significant deficiency is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control that is less severe than a material weakness, yet important enough to merit attention by those charged with governance.

A material weakness is a deficiency, or combination of deficiencies, in internal control, such that there is a reasonable possibility that a material misstatement of the company's financial statements will not be prevented or detected and corrected on a timely basis.

Our consideration of internal control was for the limited purpose described in the first and second paragraphs and would not necessarily identify all deficiencies in internal control that might be material weaknesses. We did not identify any deficiencies in internal control and control activities for safeguarding securities that we consider to be material weaknesses, as defined previously.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures, as described in the second paragraph of this report, were adequate at December 31, 2013, to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the Board of Directors, management, the SEC, the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority, and other regulatory agencies that rely on rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.

The procedures we performed and our findings are as follows:

- 1. Compared the listed assessment payments in Form SIPC-7 with respective cash disbursement records entries noting no differences;
- 2. Compared the amounts reported on the audited Form X-17A-5 for the year ended December 31, 2013, as applicable, with the amounts reported on Form SIPC-7 for the year ended December 31, 2013, noting no differences;
- 3. Compared any adjustments reported in Form SIPC-7 with supporting schedules and working papers noting no differences;
- 4. Proved the arithmetical accuracy of the calculations reflected in Form SIPC-7 and in the related schedules and working papers supporting the adjustments noting no differences; and
- 5. Compared the amount of any overpayment applied to the current assessment with the Form SIPC-7 on which it was originally computed noting no differences.

We were not engaged to, and did not conduct an examination, the objective of which would be the expression of an opinion on compliance. Accordingly, we do not express such an opinion. Had we performed additional procedures, other matters might have come to our attention that would have been reported to you.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the specified parties listed above and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.
