Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the consolidating statement of financial condition in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of consolidating statement of financial condition that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditors' Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the consolidating balance sheet based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with the standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board and auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidating balance sheet is free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the consolidating statement of financial condition. The procedures selected depend on the auditors' judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the consolidating statement of financial condition, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the consolidating statement of financial condition in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the consolidating statement of financial condition.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

NOTES TO CONSOLIDATING FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
DECEMBER 31, 2014

Note 1 - Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Nature of Business

Comprehensive Asset Management and Servicing, Inc. ("CAMAS") is a registered securities broker-dealer and is subject to regulation by the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") and the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority ("FINRA"). CAMAS operates pursuant to brokerage service agreements with clearing brokers, under which these clearing brokers assume and maintain CAMAS's customer accounts. CAMAS's clients are located throughout the United States. CAMAS's primary operating facilities are located in Parsippany, New Jersey.

Comprehensive Capital Management, Inc. ("CCM") is a registered investment advisor subject to the regulation of the Securities and Exchange Commission. CCM provides investment management services to clients located throughout the United States. CCM operates pursuant to brokerage service agreements with broker-dealers, under which these brokers assume and maintain CCM's client accounts.

Principles of Consolidation

CAMAS and CCM have been consolidated under Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) Accounting Standards Codification (ASC Topic), Consolidation, that provides guidance in determining when variable interest entities should be consolidated in the financial statements of the primary beneficiary. Accordingly, the accompanying financial statements include the accounts of CAMAS, the primary beneficiary, and CCM (collectively, the "Companies") which are operated under common control and ownership. A separate entity which potentially qualifies as a variable interest entity has not been consolidated due to the insignificant nature of this entity to the Companies' financial statements. All intercompany transactions have been eliminated in consolidation.

Use of Estimates / Significant Estimates

The preparation of the consolidating financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts of assets and liabilities, revenues and expenses and changes therein, and disclosures of contingent assets and contingent liabilities and accompanying notes. It is reasonably possible that the Companies' estimates may change in the near term.

Significant estimates inherent in the preparation of the accompanying consolidating financial statements include collectability of accounts receivable, accumulated depreciation and amortization, deferred revenue, deferred income taxes and various accrued expenses. Management periodically reviews these estimates and it is reasonably possible that management's assessment of these estimates may change based on actual results and other factors.

Revenue Recognition

Commission revenue and related commission expense for CAMAS are recorded on a trade-date basis as securities and other investment transactions occur.

CCM's fee income is derived from investment advisory services under agreements that generally provide for compensation based on various percentages of assets under management. Fees are billed and payable either annually or quarterly. Fifty percent of fees are non-refundable and earned when billed. The balance, which is refundable pro-rata in the event of early termination, is recognized over the term of the billing period. Deferred revenue at December 31, 2014, represents investment advisory fees billed in excess of amounts earned. Other revenue, which includes financial planning and consulting services, is recognized when the services have been provided and are billable.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

For purposes of the statement of cash flows, the Companies consider all short-term investments with an original maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents. Included in these amounts at December 31, 2014 is $25,915 and $10,665 of funds held by clearing broker-dealers on behalf of CAMAS and CCM, respectively. These amounts result from the broker-dealer's collection of customer fees and commissions for each Company's account.

Commissions Receivable

Commissions receivable represents unsecured amounts due from clearing brokers. Management periodically assesses the collectability of the amounts, and has determined a corresponding allowance for uncollectible amounts is not required at this time. Interest and finance charges are not accrued on open balances. Management reviews commission receivables on a monthly basis to determine what items, if any, are past due.

The Companies are engaged in various trading, brokerage and financial planning activities in which counterparties primarily include broker-dealers, banks, and other financial institutions. In the event counterparties do not fulfill their obligations, the Companies may be exposed to risk. The risk of default depends on the creditworthiness of the counterparty or issuer of the instrument. It is the Companies' policy to review, as necessary, the credit standing of each counterparty.

Securities Transactions

Proprietary securities transactions in regular-way trades, if any, are recorded on the trade date, as if they had settled. Profit and loss arising from all securities and commodities transactions entered into for the account and risk of CAMAS are recorded on a trade date basis. CAMAS and CCM do not take possession of customers' securities or commodities.

Concentrations of Credit Risk

The Companies maintain their cash in bank deposit accounts, which, at times, may exceed federally insured limits. The Companies have not experienced any losses in such accounts. Management believes it is not exposed to any significant credit risk related to cash.

Fair Value of Financial Instruments

In accordance the FASB ASC, Fair Value Measurements and Disclosures, fair value is defined as a market-based measurement, not an entity-specific measurement. The objective of a fair value measurement is to estimate the price at which an orderly transaction to sell the asset or to transfer the liability would take place between market participants at the measurement date under current market conditions (that is, an exit price at the measurement date from the perspective of a market participant that holds the assets or owes the liability). A fair value measurement assumes that the transaction to sell the asset or transfer the liability either occurs in the principal market (or in its absence, the most advantageous market) for the asset or liability.

Following is a description of valuation methodologies used for assets and liabilities recorded at fair value. There have been no changes in the methodologies used at December 31, 2014.

Cash and cash equivalents, commissions and fees receivable, other current assets, accounts payable and accrued expenses, and other liabilities: The carrying amounts approximate fair value because of the short term maturity of these instruments.

Notes payable, line of credit, and capital leases: carried at amortized cost as the Companies can obtain similar loans, lines, and leases at similar terms; therefore the Companies have determined it approximates fair value.

The preceding methods described may produce a fair value calculation that may not be indicative of net realizable value or reflective of future fair values. Furthermore, while the Companies believe its valuation methods are appropriate and consistent with other market participants, the use of different methodologies or assumptions to determine the fair value of certain financial instruments could result in a different fair value measurement at the reporting date.

Property and Equipment

Property and equipment are recorded at cost. Major renewals and betterments are capitalized whereas, maintenance, minor repairs and replacements, which do not improve or extend the lives of the respective assets, are expensed as incurred. Depreciation is calculated using the straight-line method based on the estimated useful lives of the related assets.

The Companies review the recoverability of its long-lived assets on a periodic basis in order to identify events or changes in circumstances, which may indicate a possible impairment in accordance with the provisions of FASB ASC, Accounting for the Impairment of Disposal of Long-Lived Assets. The assessment for potential impairment is based primarily on the Companies' ability to recover the unamortized balance of its long-lived assets from expected future cash flows from operations on an undiscounted basis. The Companies believe that no such events or changes have occurred.

AND COMPREHENSIVE CAPITAL MANAGEMENT, INC.

Income Taxes

The Companies recognize the amount of taxes payable or refundable for the year. Income taxes are accounted for using the asset and liability method. Under this method, deferred tax assets and liabilities are recognized for the future tax consequences attributable to differences between the financial statement carrying amounts of existing assets and liabilities and their respective tax-basis carrying amounts. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured using enacted tax rates expected to apply to taxable income in the years in which those temporary differences are expected to be recovered or settled. The effect on deferred tax assets and liabilities of a change in tax rates is recognized in income in the period in which the enactment date occurs. A valuation allowance is provided for deferred tax assets if it is more likely than not that these items will not be realized.

The Companies adopted FASB ASC, Income Taxes. The standard prescribes a minimum recognition threshold and measurement methodology that a tax position taken or expected to be taken in a tax return is required to meet before being recognized in the financial statements. It also provides guidance for derecognition, classification, interest and penalties, accounting in interim periods, disclosure, and transition.

In assessing the realizability of deferred tax assets, management considers whether it is more likely than not that some portion or all of the deferred tax assets will not be realized. The ultimate realization of deferred tax assets is dependent upon the generation of future taxable income during the periods in which those temporary differences become deductible. Management considers the scheduled reversal of deferred tax liabilities, projected future taxable income, and tax planning strategies in making this assessment. Based upon the level of historical taxable income and projections for future taxable income over the periods in which the deferred tax assets are deductible, management believes it is more likely than not that we will realize the benefits of these deductible differences, net of the existing valuation allowances.

The Companies recognize interest and penalties related to unrecognized tax benefits within the provision for income taxes on continuing operations in the consolidating statements of operations.

CAMAS has elected, with the consent of its stockholders, to be taxed under the provisions of Subchapter S of the applicable federal and State of New Jersey tax laws. Under those provisions, CAMAS does not pay any significant federal or state income taxes. The stockholders include their allocable share of taxable income or loss on their individual federal and state income tax returns.

CAMAS, a subchapter S corporation, has the tax position that it is a pass-through entity for all applicable jurisdictions. As a pass-through entity, the income tax is attributable to the owners and any income tax amounts due to or from each jurisdiction is classified as transactions with the owners. The Company is subject to regular audit by tax authorities. The Company believes that it has appropriate support for the positions taken on its tax returns. Management believes that the pass-through status would be sustained upon examination.

Deferred income taxes are recognized by CCM on temporary differences in the amount of assets and liabilities for income tax and financial reporting purposes. The principal sources of the differences are different methods of recognizing depreciation and amortization for financial accounting and income tax purposes. Deferred income taxes are classified as current or non-current depending on the classification of the assets or liabilities to which they relate. Management provides for a valuation allowance based on its evaluation of the realization of such deferred tax benefits. The allowance is periodically adjusted for changes in managements' estimates of the ultimate realization of these benefits.

The Companies file income tax returns in the United States federal and New Jersey state jurisdictions. The Companies are no longer subject to income tax examinations at any time within three years from the latest filing date for federal and four years from the latest filing date for New Jersey.

Commissions Expense

Commissions and related clearing expenses for CAMAS are recorded on a trade date basis as securities transactions occur. Commission expenses for fees produced by registered representatives of CCM are deferred and recognized as earned by the representatives. Prepaid commissions consist of commissions paid to sales representatives for annual contracts upon renewal. Prepaid commissions are recognized as commission expense ratably over the remaining life of the contract.

Risk Management

CCM does not guarantee their clients a profit on funds managed. The client signs a management account agreement indicating whether they decide to use risk reduction, tactical asset allocation, or timing services offered by CCM. The agreement also indicates that client's funds will fluctuate with market forces.

Advertising Costs

Advertising costs are charged to promotion and marketing expense as incurred. Advertising costs charged to promotion and marketing expense for CAMAS and CCM for the year ended December 31, 2014 are $62,536 and $10,159, respectively.

Subsequent Events

Management has reviewed subsequent events and transactions that occurred after December 31, 2014 through the date of the auditors' report and the date of issuance on February 16, 2015. The financial statements include all events or transactions, including estimates, required to be recognized in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. Management has determined that there are no nonrecognized subsequent events that require additional disclosure.

Operating Leases

At December 31, 2014, CAMAS is obligated under an operating lease for office facilities, which expires during September 30, 2015. The minimum monthly rent requirement is $14,751. CAMAS is also liable for its proportionate share of increases in operating costs and real estate taxes.

Future minimum annual lease payments are as follows:

Year Ending December 31,
2015	$ 132,759
	$ 132,759

CAMAS has leased part of its office facilities to three subtenants, on a month-to-month basis, at an aggregate monthly rent of approximately $4,000. Rent expense for office facilities, net of sublease income of $48,000, was $136,958 for the year ended December 31, 2014.

Note 5 - Line of Credit

CAMAS has an available line of credit with a maximum amount of $100,000. The outstanding balance as of December 31, 2014 is $26,579 and is due on demand. Interest accrues at 3.5% per annum. The line is secured by the Company's personal property and renews every October. Interest expense related to this line of credit was $945 for the year ended December 31, 2014.

CCM has an available line of credit with a maximum amount of $50,000. The outstanding balance as of December 31, 2014 is $49,099 and is due on demand. Interest accrues at 5.25% per annum. The line is unsecured and renews every January. Interest expense related to this line of credit was $99 for the year ended December 31, 2014.

Note 6 - Related Party Transactions

Obligations to and from affiliates result from cash advances, which are non-interest bearing and due on demand. At December 31, 2014, CAMAS had obligations due from CCM and related party of $7,795 and $4,329, respectively. At December 31, 2014, CCM had obligations due from related party of $640.

During the year ended December 31, 2014, CCM advanced its majority stockholder $155,000. The respective outstanding balances due from stockholders of CCM as of December 31, 2014 was $369,160. These advances are non-interest bearing, unsecured and due on demand, the Company expects repayment within 12 months. On December 31, 2014 CAMAS's majority stockholder was owed $306 from CAMAS due to the overpayment of an advance repayment by the majority shareholder.

There is a note payable to a related party outstanding accruing interest at 1% due annually. At December 31, 2014, the note had an outstanding balance of $50,000, payable in three equal installments in May 2016, 2017, and 2018. The note is unsecured.

Note 7 - Income Taxes

The provision (benefit) for income taxes for the year ended December 31, 2014 in the consolidating statement of income is as follows:

	CAMAS	CCM	Total
Current:
Federal
State	$ 2,157	$ 2,528	$ 4,685
Deferred:
Federal		6,210	6,210
State		2,060	2,060
Total	$ 2,157	$ 10,798	$ 12,955

Deferred taxes for CCM as of December 31, 2014 consist of:

	Federal	State	Total
Deferred tax asset (long-term)	$ 93,270	$ 31,720	$ 124,990
Valuation allowance	(47,350)	(18,200)	(65,550)
Net deferred tax asset (long-term)	$ 45,920	$ 13,520	$ 59,440

CCM believes a valuation allowance of approximately 50% and 0% of deferred tax assets for NOLs and deferred tax assets for depreciation and amortization, respectively, are appropriate for the year ended December 31, 2014. The change in the valuation allowance for the year ended December 31, 2014 was a decrease of $6,150. Deferred tax assets for depreciation and amortization are primarily the result of differences between tax and book depreciation and amortization. Accordingly, CCM has recorded a net tax benefit for the year ended December 31, 2014 of $29,542. CCM has net operating loss carry-forwards for federal and state taxes of approximately $378,978 and $404,749, respectively. Federal and State net operating losses are set to expire in 2032 and 2034.

Note 8 - Profit Sharing Plan

CAMAS sponsors a 401(k) profit-sharing plan that covers all employees who meet certain eligibility requirements. CAMAS may, at its discretion, contribute to the plan. Discretionary contributions totaling $350 were made for 2014.

Note 10 - Indemnifications

In the normal course of its business, the Companies indemnify and guarantee certain service providers, such as clearing and custody agents, trustees and administrators, against specified potential losses in connection with their acting as an agent of, or providing services to, the Companies or its affiliates. The Companies also indemnify some clients against potential losses incurred in the event specified third-party service providers, including subcustodians and third-party brokers, improperly executed transactions.
