REPORT OF INDEPENDENT ACCOUNTANT

To the Board of Directors
Bettinger & Leech Financial Corp.

We have audited the accompanying balance sheets of BETTINGER AND LEECH FINANCIAL CORP. as of December 31, 2014 and 2013 and the related statements of income, changes in stockholders' equity and cash flows for the years then ended that you are filing pursuant to rule 17a-5 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. These financial statements are the responsibility of the company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits.

We have conducted our audits in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatements. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, such financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of BETTINGER AND LEECH FINANCIAL CORP. at December 31, 2014 and 2013 and the results of its operations and cash flows for the years then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Our examination was made for the purpose of forming an opinion on the basic financial statements, taken as a whole. The statement of the computation of minimum net capital requirements is presented for the purpose of additional analysis and is not a required part of the basic financial statements, but is supplementary information required by rule 17a-5 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Such information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the examination of the basic financial statements and, in our opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the basic financial statements taken as a whole.

REPORT ON INTERNAL ACCOUNTING CONTROL

To the Shareholders
Bettinger and Leech Financial Corp.

We have examined the financial statements of BETTINGER AND LEECH FINANCIAL CORP. as of December 31, 2014 and 2013 and have issued our report thereon dated February 14, 2015. As part of our examination, we made a study and evaluation of the Company's system of internal accounting control to the extent we considered necessary to evaluate the system as required by generally accepted auditing standards required by rule 17a-5(g)(1). This study and evaluation included a review of the accounting system, the internal accounting controls, and the procedures for safeguarding the firm's assets. In addition, we reviewed the practices and procedures followed by the Company in making periodic computations of the minimum financial requirements pursuant to rule 17a-3(a)(11).

Under generally accepted auditing standards, the purpose of such study and evaluation are to establish a basis for reliance on the system of internal accounting control in determining the nature, timing, and extent of other auditing procedures that are necessary for expressing an opinion on the financial statements and to provide a basis for reporting weaknesses in internal accounting control.

The objectives of internal accounting controls are to provide reasonable, but not absolute, assurance as to the safeguarding of assets against loss from unauthorized use or disposition, and the reliability of financial records for preparing financial statements and maintaining accountability for assets. The concept of reasonable assurance recognizes that the cost of a system of internal accounting control should not exceed the benefits derived and also recognizes that the evaluation of these factors necessarily requires estimates and judgments by management. However, for the purpose of this report, the determination of weaknesses to be reported was made without considering the practicality of corrective action by management within the framework of a cost/benefit relationship.

There are inherent limitations that should be recognized in considering the potential effectiveness of any system of internal control. In the performance of most control procedures, errors can result from misunderstanding of instructions, mistakes of judgment, carelessness, or other personal factors. Control procedures whose effectiveness depends on segregation of duties can be circumvented by collusion. Similarly, control procedures can be circumvented intentionally by management either with respect to the execution and recording of transactions or with respect to the estimates and judgments required in the preparation of financial statements. Further, projection of any evaluation of internal accounting controls to future periods is subject to the risk that the procedures may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the degree of compliance with the procedures may deteriorate.

Our study and evaluation of the system of internal accounting controls for the years ended December 31, 2014 and 2013, which was made for the purpose set forth in the first paragraph above and which should not necessarily disclose all weaknesses in the system that may have existed during the period under review, disclosed no weaknesses that we believe to be material.
