1. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Nature of Operations

Stanwich Advisors, LLC (the "Company") was formed as a limited liability company under the laws of the State of Connecticut. The liability of the members for the losses, debts and obligations of the Company is limited to their capital contributions. The Company is a broker dealer registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC") and is a member of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority ("FINRA") and the Securities Investor Protection Corp. ("SIPC"). The Company will continue for an indefinite period of time. The Company provides consulting, advisory and capital raising services to private equity fund managers ("Clients").

Placement Fees Receivable

Placement fees receivable are typically due over an agreed upon number of years commencing upon the commitments of capital. There were no placement fees receivable past due on December 31, 2016. The allowance is determined by a variety of factors, including the age of the receivables, current economic conditions, historical losses and other information management obtains regarding the financial condition of Clients. No allowance for doubtful accounts for the placement fees receivable was considered necessary at December 31, 2016. Placement fees with original maturities in excess of one year are discounted to present value.

Other Receivables

Other receivables represent Client reimbursable expenses. Amounts are invoiced to Clients as incurred and generally reimbursed when the fund associated with the expenses closes. The Company recognizes an allowance for doubtful accounts based on historical experience, an individual account analysis, aging of the account balance and the expected recovery of amounts from various collection methods.

Property and Equipment

Property and equipment are stated at cost. Depreciation is provided for in amounts sufficient to relate the cost of depreciable assets to operations over their estimated useful service lives using the straight-line method. Leasehold improvements are amortized over the shorter of the estimated useful lives or the lease term. Expenditures for property and equipment are capitalized and depreciated over their service lives. Related maintenance and repairs are expensed as incurred. When capitalized assets are retired or otherwise disposed of, the costs and related accumulated depreciation are removed from the accounts and any resulting gain or loss is recognized in income for the period.

Revenue Recognition

Placement fee revenues are recognized as earned which is upon commitments of capital from investors identified by the Company, the price is fixed or determinable, and collection is reasonably assured. In the event it is decided capital will not be called, any related revenue previously earned by the Company would be written-off. The Company also recognizes consulting and advisory fees as earned.

Income Taxes

Under provisions of the Internal Revenue Code, limited liability companies that are treated as partnerships are not subjected to income taxes, and any income or loss realized is taxed to the individual members. Accordingly, no provisions for Federal income taxes appear on the financial statements. Under Connecticut Tax Code, a Connecticut limited liability company is subject to an annual minimum fee. Other than the minimum fee, Connecticut also taxes income and loss at the individual member level.
