DECEMBER 31, 2017

To the Board of Directors of Scott James Group, Inc.

6700 Arlington Boulevard

Falls Church, VA 22042

I have reviewed the accompanying balance sheet of Scott James Group, Inc. as of December 31, 2017, the related management statement included in the accompanying Scott James Group, Inc. Exemption Report, and the notes to its financial statements for the period ended December 31, 2017. Scott James Group, Inc. stated that the Company has met the identified exemption provisions throughout the most recent fiscal period without exception.

The Management Statement and the financial statements accompanying the Management Statement, are the responsibility of the management of Scott James Group, Inc. My responsibility is to review the Company's Management Statement relative to its compliance requirements. I am a public accounting firm registered with the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, United States, the PCAOB, and I am required to be independent with respect to the Company in accordance with U. S. federal securities laws and applicable rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission and the PCAOB.

I conducted my review in accordance with standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, United States, and, accordingly, included inquiries and other required procedures to obtain evidence about whether Scott James Group, Inc. complied with the Exemption Provisions. A review is substantially less in scope than an examination, the objective of which is the expression of an opinion on the management statement. [Scott James Group, Inc. is not required to have, nor was I engage to perform, a review of its internal control over financial reporting. As part of the review I was required to obtain an understanding of internal control over financial reporting, but not for the purpose of expressing an

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

(1) Nature of business and significant accounting policies

Nature of business – The Company is a broker-dealer registered with the SEC and is a member of FINRA. The Company acts as an introducing broker and dealer in securities primarily consisting of stocks, bonds, and mutual funds. It clears all transactions with and for customers on a fully disclosed basis with a clearing broker or dealer, who carries all the customer accounts and maintains the records pertaining thereto. The Company's customers consist primarily of individuals located in the Washington, D.C. metropolitan area.

A Summary of the Company's significant accounting policies follows:

Use of estimates – The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect certain amounts and disclosures. Accordingly, actual results could differ from those estimates.

Investment securities – Investment securities valued using level 2 inputs that are based one or more quoted prices in markets that are not active. Changes in this fair value are recognized currently as unrealized gains or losses and included in the statement of operations under the caption "Gains on investments".

TAMBA S. MAYAH, CPA

Income recognition - Commission revenue is recognized when it is received by the Company, based on security transactions recorded on their trade date.

Income taxes – The Company, with the consent of its shareholder, has elected under the Internal Revenue Code to be an S Corporation. In lieu of corporate income taxes, the shareholder of the S Corporation is taxed on his share of the Company's taxable income. Therefore, no provision or liability for federal or state income taxes has been included in the financial statements.

Cash and cash equivalents - For purposes of reporting the statement of cash flows, the Company includes only demand deposit accounts as cash on the accompanying statement of financial condition.

Fair value measurement and hierarchy – ASC Topic 820 establishes a hierarchal disclosure framework which prioritizes and ranks the level of market price observability used in measuring assets and liabilities at fair value. Market price observability is affected by a number of factors, including the type of investment, the characteristics specific to the investment and the state of the marketplace including the existence and transparency of transactions between market participants. Assets and liabilities with readily valuable active quote prices or for which fair value can be measured from actively quoted prices in an orderly market generally will have a higher degree of market price

SCOTT JAMES GROUP, INC. NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

(1) Nature of business and significant accounting policies (continued)

observability and a lesser degree of judgment used in measuring fair value. ASC Topic 820 establishes a three-level valuation hierarchy for inputs used in measuring fair value that maximizes the use of observable inputs and minimizes the use of unobservable inputs by requiring that the most observable inputs be used when available. Observable inputs are inputs that market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability developed base on market data obtained from sources independent of the Company. Unobservable inputs are inputs that reflect the Company's assumptions about the assumptions market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability developed based on the best information available in the circumstances. Fair value is defined as the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability (i.e. the "exit price") in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. The hierarchy is broken down into three levels based on the observability of inputs as follows:

TAMBA S. MAYAH, CPA

- Level 1 – Valuations based on quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the Company has the ability to access. Valuation adjustments and block discounts are not applied to Level 1 instruments. Since valuations are based on quoted prices that are readily and regularly available in an active market, valuation of these products does not entail a significant degree of judgment.
- Level 2 – Valuations based on one or more quoted prices in markets that are active or for which all significant inputs are observable, either directly or indirectly.
- Level 3 – Valuations based on inputs that are unobservable and significant to the overall fair value measurement.

The availability of observable inputs can vary by types of assets and liabilities and is affected by a wide variety of factors, including, for example, whether the investment is established in the marketplace, the liquidity of markets and other characteristics particular to the transaction. To the extent that valuation is based on models or inputs that are less observable or unobservable in the market, the determination of fair value requires more judgment. Accordingly, the degree of judgment exercised by management in determining fair value is greatest for assets and liabilities categorized in Level 3

Subsequent events policy – Subsequent events have been evaluated through February 28, 2018 which is the date the financial statements were issued.

SCOTT JAMES GROUP, INC. NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

AUDITOR'S REPORT ON INTERNAL ACCOUNTING CONTROL

December 31, 2017

TAMBA S. MAYAH, CPA

INDEPENDANT AUDITOR' REPORT ON INTERNAL ACCOUNTING CONTROL

To the Board of Directors

SCOTT JAMES GROUP, INC.

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements of Scott James Group, Inc. for the year ended December 31, 2017, I considered the Company's internal control structure including procedures for safeguarding securities, in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing my opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on the internal control structure.

Also, as required by Rule 17a-5(g)(1) and (2) of the Securities and Exchange Commission, I have made a study of the practices and procedures (including tests of compliance with such practices and procedures) followed by Scott James Group, Inc., that I have considered relevant to the objective stated in Rule 17a-5(g)(1) in making the periodic computation of aggregate indebtedness and net capital under Rule 17a-3(11) and (2) procedures for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of rule 15c3-3. I did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company (1) in making the quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications and comparison, and the recordation of differences required by Rule 17a-13; (2) in complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System; (3) in obtaining and maintaining physical possession or control of all fully paid and excess margin securities of customers as required by Rule 15c3-3 because the Company does not carry security accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities.

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining a system of internal accounting control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of control procedures and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the Commission's above-mentioned objectives. The objectives of a system and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition, and that transactions are executed in accordance with managements authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in any internal accounting control procedures or the practices and procedures referred to above, errors or irregularities may nevertheless occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the degree of compliance with them may deteriorate.

TAMBA S. MAYAH, CPA

Board of Directors
Scott James Group, Inc.

My study and evaluation made for the limited purpose described in the first paragraph would not necessarily disclose all material weaknesses in the system. Accordingly, I do not express an opinion on the system of internal accounting control of Scott James Group, Inc. taken as a financial reporting that I consider to be significant deficiencies.

A control deficiency exists when the design or operation of control does not allow management or employees, in the normal course of performing their assigned function, to prevent or detect misstatements on a timely basis. A significant deficiency is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in control that is less severe than a material weakness, yet important enough to merit attention by those charged with governance. A material weakness is a possibility that a material misstatement of the entity's financial statements will not be prevented, or detected and corrected on a timely basis. I consider the following deficiencies to be a material weakness in internal control over financial reporting.

The size of the business and the limited number of employees imposes practical limitations on the effectiveness of those internal accounting control practices and procedures that depend on the segregation of duties. Under the provisions of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountant's Statement of Auditing Standard No. 115, the lack of segregation of duties is defined as areas of material weakness in internal control. Since these conditions are inherent in the size of the Company, the specific weaknesses are not described herein, and no corrective action has been taken or proposed but the Company. My study and evaluation disclosed no facts that came to my attention to cause us to believe the Company was not in compliance with the exemptive provision Rule 15c3-3.

I understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the Commission to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, I believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2017, to meet the Commission's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the use of management, the Securities and Exchange Commission, FINRA, and other regulatory agencies which rely on rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and should not be used for any other purpose.

I have reviewed the checks received and forwarded records of Scott James Group, Inc. for the fiscal year ending December 31, 2017 and found all checks were forwarded to the clearing firm by noon of the following business day after receipt. I did not find that there were any securities received for the year then ended, December 31, 2017.

Based on the records reviewed, in my opinion, Scott James Group, Inc., met the Identified Exemption Provisions in 17C.F.R. §240.15c3-3(k) throughout the fiscal year then ended, December 31, 2017, without exception.

The Accountant does not work for Scott James Group, Inc., or any of its affiliate Companies. Does the Accountant cannot assume responsibility for any other acts of the Company other than a review of the Company's check forwarding process, and for the year then ending December 31, 2017.
