LOHI SECURITIES, LLC
NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

NOTE 1 - ORGANIZATION AND SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Organization and Business

LoHi Securities, LLC (“LoHi Securities”, “LoHi Securities” or the “Company”), is a Colorado limited liability company, organized in 2003 to engage in best efforts underwriting and private placements of securities. The Company is registered as a broker-dealer in securities with the Securities and Exchange Commission (the “SEC”) and is a member of the Financial Industry Regulation Authority, Inc. (“FINRA”).

15c-3 Exemption

The Company, under Rule 15c3-3(k)(2)(i) is exempt from the reserve and possession or control requirements of Rule 15c3-3 of the Securities and Exchange Commission. The Company does not carry or clear customer accounts.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

The Company considers all highly-liquid investments purchased with an original maturity of three months or less on the purchase date to be cash equivalents.

Revenue Recognition

The Company primarily derives its revenues from investment banking and capital raising activities. Revenue associated with investment banking and capital raising activities is recognized when earned in accordance with the applicable investment banking and placement agent agreements. Due diligence fees and expense advances received by the Company, along with any related expenses that are incurred, are initially deferred and are recognized only when the services have been provided.

The company also derives revenues from offering compliance and consulting services to several clients.

The Company records its securities transactions on a trade-date basis. Changes in the valuation of portfolio investments are included in the statement of operations.

Note 1-Organization and Summary of significant accounting policies

Valuation of Securities

The Company accounts for its investments in accordance with Accounting Standards Codification (“ASC”) 820. Under ASC 820, fair value is defined as the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability (i.e., the “exit price”) in an orderly transaction between market participants and the measurement date.

In determining fair value, the Company uses various valuation approaches. ASC 820 establishes a fair value hierarchy for inputs used in measuring fair value that maximizes the use of observable inputs and minimizes the use of unobservable inputs by requiring that the most observable inputs be used when available. Observable inputs are those that market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability based on market data obtained from sources independent of the Company. Unobservable inputs reflect the Company’s assumption about the inputs market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability developed based on the best information available in the circumstances.

The fair value hierarchy is categorized into three levels based on the inputs as follows:

Level 1 - Valuations based on unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the Company has the ability to access. Valuation adjustments and blockage discounts are not applied to Level 1 securities. Since valuations are based on quoted prices that are readily and regularly available in an active market, valuation of these securities does not entail a significant degree of judgment.

Level 2 - Valuations based on quoted prices in markets that are not active or for which all significant inputs are observable, either directly or indirectly.

Level 3 - Valuations based on inputs that are unobservable and significant to the overall fair value measurement.

The availability of valuation techniques and observable inputs can vary from security to security and is affected by a wide variety of factors, including the type of security, whether the security is new and not yet established in the marketplace, and other characteristics particular to the transaction. To the extent that valuation is based on models or inputs that are less observable or unobservable in the market, the determination of fair value requires more judgment. Those estimated values do not necessarily represent the amounts that may be ultimately realized due to the occurrence of future circumstances that cannot be reasonably determined.

Note 1-Organization and Summary of significant accounting policies (concluded)

Valuation of Securities (Concluded)

Fair value is a market-based measure considered from the perspective of a market participant rather than an entity-specific measure. Therefore, even when market assumptions are not readily available, the Company's own assumptions are set to reflect those that market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability at the measurement date. The Company uses prices and inputs that are current as of the measurement date, including during periods of market dislocation. In periods of market dislocation, the observability of prices and inputs may be reduced for many securities. This condition could cause a security to be reclassified to a lower level within the fair value hierarchy.

The Company values investments in securities that are freely tradable and listed on a national securities exchange or reported on NASDAQ national market at the last sales price as of last business day of the year.

Many cash and over-the-counter (OTC) contracts have bid-and-ask prices that can be observed in the marketplace. Bid prices reflect the highest price that the marketplace participants are willing to pay for an asset. Ask prices represent the lowest price that the marketplace participants are willing to accept for an asset. For securities whose inputs are based on bid-ask prices, the Company's valuation policies require that fair value be within the bid-ask range. The Company's policies for securities traded in the OTC markets and listed securities for which no sale was reported on that date are valued at their last reported "bid" price if held long, and last reported "asked" price if sold short. The Company considers these investments as Level 1 securities for active markets and Level 2 securities for thinly traded markets. Changes in fair value are reflected in the Company's statement of operations.

Income Taxes

The Company is recognized as a Sole Member LLC by the Internal Revenue Service. As such, the Company does not record a provision for income taxes because its members report their share of the Company's income or loss on their income tax return.

The Company is required to determine whether a tax position is more likely than not to be sustained upon examination by the applicable taxing authority, including resolution of any tax related appeals or litigation processes, based on the technical merits of the position. The Company files an income tax return in the U.S. federal jurisdiction, and may file income tax returns in various U.S. states. The Company is not subject to income tax return examinations by major taxing authorities for years before 2012. The tax benefit recognized is measured as the largest amount of benefit that has a greater than fifty percent likelihood of being realized upon ultimate settlement. De-recognition of a tax benefit previously recognized results in the Company recording a tax liability that reduces net assets. However, the Company's conclusions regarding this policy may be subject to review and adjustment at a later date based on factors including, but not limited to, on-going analyses of and changes to tax laws, regulations and interpretations thereof.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Note 1-Organization and Summary of significant accounting policies (concluded)

Income Taxes (Concluded)

The Company recognizes interest accrued related to unrecognized tax benefits and penalties related to unrecognized tax benefits in income taxes payable, if assessed. No interest expense or penalties have been recognized as of and for the year ended December 31, 2017.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Advertising Costs

Advertising costs are expenses as incurred.

NOTE 2 - NET CAPITAL REQUIREMENTS

NOTE 4 - FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS WITH OFF-BALANCE SHEET RISK AND OTHER RISKS AND UNCERTAINTIES

The Company is engaged in various corporate financing activities with counterparties that primarily include issuers with which the Company has an investment banking assignment. In the event counterparties, do not fulfill their obligations, the Company may be exposed to risk. The risk of default depends on the creditworthiness of the counterparty or issuer of the instrument. It is the Company's policy to review, as necessary, the credit standing of each counterparty with which it conducts business.

In the Company's trading activities, the Company may purchase securities for its own account and may incur losses if the market value of those securities decline subsequent to December 31, 2017.

The Company's financial instruments, including cash and cash equivalents, commissions receivable, other assets, and accrued expenses and other liabilities, are carried at amounts that approximate fair value due to the short-term nature of those instruments. Investments are valued as described in Note 1.

As of December 31, 2017, the Company does not have deposits in banks in excess of the FDIC insured amount of $250,000.

NOTE 5 - SUBSEQUENT EVENTS

The Company has performed an evaluation of subsequent events through the date the financial statements were issued. The evaluation did not result in any subsequent events that required disclosures and/or adjustments.

NOTE 6 - SIGNIFICANT CLIENTS

The Company derived approximately 76% of total revenue from one client in 2017.
