Exemption Report
Year Ended December 31, 2021

1. Organization and Business

Ducera Securities LLC (the “Company”), a wholly owned subsidiary of Ducera LLC (the “Parent”), is a limited liability company and was formed under the laws of Delaware on May 18, 2015. On February 11, 2016, the Company became a broker-dealer and as such is registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission (the “SEC”) and is a member of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority.

The primary business of the Company is to act as a broker-dealer providing advisory services on mergers, acquisitions, divestitures, restructuring, defensive strategies, joint ventures, capital raising activities, private placements, and similar transactions, activities, and strategies.

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Basis of Presentation

These financial statements were prepared in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America which requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from these estimates.

Revenue Recognition

The Company recognizes revenue to depict the transfer of promised goods or services to customers in an amount that reflects the consideration to which the entity expects to be entitled in exchange for those goods or services. The guidance requires an entity to follow a five-step model to (a) identify the contract(s) with a customer, (b) identify the performance obligations in the contract, (c) determine the transaction price, (d) allocate the transaction price to the performance obligations in the contract, and (e) recognize revenue when (or as) the entity satisfies a performance obligation. In determining the transaction price, an entity may include variable consideration only to the extent that it is probable that a significant reversal in the amount of cumulative revenue recognized would not occur when the uncertainty associated with the variable consideration is resolved.

Significant Judgements

Revenue from contracts with customers includes advisory fees from investment banking services. The recognition and measurement of revenue is based on the assessment of individual contract terms. Significant judgment is required to determine whether performance obligations are satisfied at a point in time or over time; how to allocate transaction prices where multiple performance obligations are identified; when to recognize revenue based on the appropriate measure of the Company’s progress under the contract; and whether constraints on variable consideration should be applied due to uncertain future events.

Additionally, the Company receives reimbursement for expenses incurred as part of the general advisory services and transaction fees. The Company recognizes these reimbursed expenses in the period in which they were incurred.

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies (continued)

Cash

All cash deposits are held by one financial institution and therefore are subject to the credit risk at that financial institution. The Company has not experienced any losses in such accounts and does not believe there to be any significant credit risk with respect to these deposits.

Accounts Receivable

Accounts receivable arise when the Company has the unconditional right to receive payment under a contract with a customer and are derecognized when the cash is received. Accounts receivable include retainer fees, reimbursable expenses, and success fees due from clients. As of January 1, 2021, the accounts receivable balance was $0. At December 31, 2021, there were no accounts receivable reported in the statement of financial condition.

Allowance for credit losses

The Company complies with Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") Topic 326, Financial Instruments – Credit Losses ("ASC 326"). ASC 326 impacts the impairment model for certain financial assets measured at amortized cost by requiring a current expected credit loss ("CECL") methodology to estimate expected credit losses over the entire life of the financial asset, recorded at inception or purchase. The Company records the estimate of expected credit losses as an allowance for credit losses. For financial assets measured at an amortized cost basis, the allowance for credit losses is reported as a valuation account on the statement of financial condition that is deducted from the asset's amortized cost basis. Changes in the allowance for credit losses are reported in credit loss expense.

The allowance for credit losses is based on the Company's expectation of the collectability of financial instruments including accounts receivables utilizing the CECL framework. The Company considers factors such as historical experience, credit quality, age of balances and current and future economic conditions that may affect the Company's expectation of the collectability in determining the allowance for credit losses. The Company's expectation is that the credit risk associated with due from broker and other receivables is not significant until they are 90 days past due based on the contractual arrangement and expectation of collection in accordance with industry standards.

As of December 31, 2021, there was no allowance for credit losses. For the year ended December 31, 2021, there was no credit loss expense related to the allowance for credit losses or any recoveries of amounts previously charged reflected on the statement of operations.

Accounting Estimates

The Company's financial statements were prepared in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America which requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from these estimates.

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies (continued)

Contract Balances

Contract assets arise when the revenue associated with the contract is recognized prior to the Company's unconditional right to receive payment under a contract with a customer (i.e., unbilled receivable) and are derecognized when either it becomes a receivable or the cash is received. Contract liabilities arise when customers remit contractual cash payments in advance of the Company satisfying its performance obligations under the contract and are derecognized when the revenue associated with the contract is recognized when the performance obligation is satisfied. As of January 1, 2021, and during the year the Company had no contract assets or contract liabilities. As of December 31, 2021, the Company had no contract assets or contract liabilities. Contract assets would include reimbursable expenses associated with a contract.

Income Taxes

The Company is a single member limited liability company ("LLC") that is treated as a disregarded entity. The Company's owner, the Parent, is an LLC that has not elected to be treated as a corporation and accordingly is not subject to United States federal and state income tax at the entity level, but is subject to local taxes which are based on income. The Parent is required to take into account each item of the Company's income, gain, loss, deduction, and credit for the taxable year. The policy of the Parent is to allocate its consolidated tax provision or benefit, if any, to the members of the consolidated group based upon their respective contributions to the consolidated taxable income for financial reporting purposes.

The Company is subject to NYC taxes. For the year-ended December 31, 2021, the Company recorded taxes of $385,435. At December 31, 2021, the Company has determined that the Company had no uncertain tax positions that would require financial statement recognition.

3. Revenues from Contracts with Customers

Revenues consist of fees from advisory services and reimbursed costs incurred in fulfilling the contract. Revenues reflect revenues from our Corporate Finance, Financial Restructuring, and Financial Advisory Services business segments.

Revenues for all three business segments are recognized upon satisfaction of the performance obligation and may be satisfied over time or at a point in time. The amount and timing of the fees paid vary by the type of engagement.

The Company recognizes revenue to depict the transfer of promised goods or services to customers in an amount that reflects the consideration to which the entity expects to be entitled in exchange for those goods or services. The Company recognizes revenue from contracts with customers upon satisfaction of our performance obligations by transferring the promised services to the customers. A service is transferred to a customer when the customer obtains control of and derives benefit from that service. Revenue from a performance obligation satisfied over time is recognized by measuring our progress in satisfying the performance obligation in a manner that depicts the transfer of the services to the customer.

Exemption Report

3. Revenues from Contracts with Customers (continued)

The amount of revenue recognized reflects the consideration the Company expects to be entitled to in exchange for those promised services (i.e., the “transaction price”). In determining the transaction price, the Company considers multiple factors, including the effects of variable consideration.

Variable consideration is included in the transaction price only to the extent it is probable that a significant reversal in the amount of cumulative revenue recognized will not occur when the uncertainties with respect to the amount are resolved. In determining when to include variable consideration in the transaction price, the Company considers the range of possible outcomes, the predictive value of our past experiences, the time period of when uncertainties expect to be resolved and the amount of consideration that is susceptible to factors outside of our influence, such as market volatility or the judgment and actions of third parties. The substantial majority of the Company’s advisory fee (i.e., the success related Completion Fees) are considered variable and constrained as they are contingent upon a future event which includes factors outside of our control (e.g., completion of a transaction or third party emergence from bankruptcy or approval by the court).

Revenues from Corporate Finance engagements primarily consist of fees generated in connection with advisory services related to corporate finance, mergers and acquisitions, and private placements. Completion Fees from these engagements are recognized at a point in time when the related transaction has been effectively closed. At that time, the Company has transferred control of rendered service and the customer obtains control. Corporate Finance contracts generally contain a variety of services that may be capable of being distinct, but they are not distinct within the context of the contract as the various services are inputs to the combined output of successfully brokering a specific transaction. Management’s judgment is required in determining when a transaction is considered to be complete or terminated.

Revenues from Financial Restructuring engagements primarily consist of fees generated in connection with advisory services to debtors, creditors and other parties-in-interest involving recapitalization or deleveraging transactions implemented through, inter alia, bankruptcy proceedings, out-of-court exchanges, consent solicitations and other mechanisms, as well as in distressed mergers and acquisitions and capital markets activities. Retainer Fees from restructuring engagements are recognized over time using a time elapsed measure of progress as our clients simultaneously receive and consume the benefits of those services as they are provided. Completion Fees from these engagements are recognized at a point in time when the related transaction has been effectively closed. At that time, the Company has transferred control of the service and the customer obtains control.

Revenues from Financial Advisory Services engagements primarily consist of fees generated in connection with valuation services and rendering fairness and financial opinions. Revenues are recognized at a point in time as these engagements include a singular objective that does not transfer any notable value to the Company’s clients until the opinions have been rendered and delivered to the client.

Disaggregation of revenue is presented on the face of the Statement of Operations by type of revenue type earned by the Company.

4. Transactions with Related Parties

The Company maintains an intercompany services agreement (the "Expense Sharing Agreement") with the Affiliate, also owned by the Parent, whereby the Affiliate provides accounting, administrative, office space, human resources and other services. During the year ended December 31, 2021, the Company, pursuant to the Expense Sharing Agreement, incurred $151,284 of expenses, included in compensation and related costs, occupancy, and other on the accompanying statement of operations. At December 31, 2021, the Company owes the Affiliate $83,497 and owes the Parent $108,376, which are included in due to affiliate in the accompanying Statement of Financial Condition.

The terms of these arrangements may not be the same as those that would otherwise exist or result from agreements and transactions among unrelated parties.

5. Concentrations

During 2021, four engagements accounted for approximately 51% of the Company's revenue.

6. Regulatory Requirements

The Company is subject to Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") Uniform Net Capital Rule 15c3-1 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, which requires the maintenance of minimum net capital and requires that the ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital, both as defined, shall not exceed 15 to 1. At December 31, 2021, the Company had net capital of $7,873,349 which exceeded the required net capital of $15,471 by $7,857,878.

The Company limits its business activities pursuant to footnote 74 to SEC Release 34-70073, and as discussed in Q & A 8 of the related FAQ issued by SEC staff. Accordingly, there are no items to report under the requirements of this Rule.

7. Commitments and Contingencies

The Company had no underwriting commitments, no contingent liabilities and had not been named as defendant in any lawsuit at December 31, 2021 or during the year then ended.

8. Subsequent Events

Management of the Company has evaluated events or transactions that may have occurred through February 28, 2022 and determined that there are no material events that would require additional disclosure in the Company's financial statements.
