SAF FINANCIAL SECURITIES LLC
NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
DECEMBER 31, 2021

1. Organization and Business

SAF Financial Securities LLC (the “Company”) through its affiliate’s sponsors, offer, and operate an alternative fund platform (the “SAF Platform”) as a SaaS (software-as-a-service) to fund managers and fund investors. The Company provides brokerage execution to institutional customers. It operates out of one office in New York City, NY. The Company is a registered broker dealer with the Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”) and is a member of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority Inc. (“FINRA”). The Company is wholly owned by Strategic Alternative Funds Group, LLC (the “Parent”), a holding company located in New York City, NY.

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Basis of Presentation

These financial statements were prepared in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America (“GAAP”) which requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from these estimates.

Revenue

Revenue recognition guidance requires an entity to recognize the amount of revenue to which it expects to be entitled for the transfer of promised goods or services to customers. The guidance requires an entity to follow a five step model to (1) identify the contracts with a customer, (2) identify the performance obligations in the contract, (3) determining the transaction price, (4) allocate the transaction price to the performance obligations in the contract, and (5) recognize revenue when (or as) the entity satisfies a performance obligation.

Fee Income

The Company earns commission revenue as an introducing broker for the transactions of its customers. The Company recognizes commission revenue at a point in time, on the trade date because that is when the underlying financial instrument is identified, the pricing is agreed upon and there are no significant actions which the Company needs to take subsequent to this date to satisfy the performance obligation. Amounts earned are generally calculated as a percentage of the market value associated with the trade.

Significant Judgments

Revenue from contracts with customers includes placement fees. The recognition and measurement of revenue is based on the assessment of individual contract terms. Significant judgment is required to determine whether performance obligations are satisfied at a point in time or over time; how to allocate transaction prices where multiple performance obligations are identified; when to recognize revenue based on the appropriate measure of the Company’s progress under the contract; and whether constraints on variable consideration should be applied due to uncertain future events.

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies – continued

Placement Fee

The performance obligation from private placements is recognized at the point in time when it is determined that the customer obtains control over the promised good or service. This is typically at the closing of the transaction. The amount of revenue recognized reflects the consideration the Company expects to be entitled to in exchange for those promised goods or services.

Receivables and Contract Balances

Receivables arise when the Company has an unconditional right to receive payment under a contract with a customer and are derecognized when the cash is received. As of January 1, 2021, the receivable balance was $25,346. At December 31, 2021, there were receivables of $623,549 reported in the statement of financial condition.

Contract assets arise when the revenue associated with the contract is recognized prior to the Company's unconditional right to receive payment under a contract with a customer (i.e., unbilled receivable) and are derecognized when either it becomes a receivable or the cash is received. Contract liabilities arise when customers remit contractual cash payments in advance of the Company satisfying its performance obligation under the contract and are derecognized when the revenue associated with the contract is recognized when the performance obligation is satisfied. As of January 1, 2021, the Company's contract asset was $317,738 and there was no contract liability. On December 31, 2021, the Company's contract asset was $73,199. There was no contract liability as of December 31, 2021.

Disaggregated Revenue

Disaggregation of revenue is presented on the face of the statement of operations by type of revenue type earned by the Company.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

All cash deposits are held by one financial institution and therefore are subject to the credit risk at that financial institution. The Company has not experienced any losses in such accounts and does not believe there to be any significant credit risk with respect to these deposits.

Concentration of Revenue

The Company's revenues are related to fees collected and there is no assurance of future revenues from these funds. Three customers accounted for 71% of revenues in 2021.

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies – continued

Allowance for Credit Losses

The Company complies with ASC Topic 326, Financial Instruments – Credit Losses (“ASC 326”). ASC 326 impacts the impairment model for certain financial assets measured at amortized cost by requiring a current expected credit loss (“CECL”) methodology to estimate expected credit losses over the entire life of the financial asset, recorded at inception or purchase. The Company records the estimate of expected credit losses as an allowance for credit losses. For financial assets measured at an amortized cost basis, the allowance for credit losses is reported as a valuation account on the statement of financial condition that is deducted from the asset’s amortized cost basis. Changes in the allowance for credit losses are reported in credit loss expense.

The allowance for credit losses is based on the Company's expectation of the collectability of financial instruments including due from broker and other receivables utilizing the CECL framework. The Company considers factors such as historical experience, credit quality, age of balances and current and future economic conditions that may affect the Company’s expectation of the collectability in determining the allowance for credit losses. The Company’s expectation is that the credit risk associated with due from broker and other receivables is not significant until they are 90 days past due based on the contractual arrangement and expectation of collection in accordance with industry standards.

As of December 31, 2021, there was no allowance for credit losses. For the year ended December 31, 2021, there was no credit loss expense related to the allowance for credit losses or any recoveries of amounts previously charged reflected on the statement of operations.

Income Taxes

The Company is a single member limited liability company and is treated as a disregarded entity for federal income tax reporting purposes. The Internal Revenue Code (“IRC”) provides that any income or loss is passed through to the ultimate beneficial individual member for federal, state and certain local income taxes. Accordingly, the Company has not provided for federal and state income taxes. The Company has no tax sharing agreement with the Parent and accordingly has no commitment to fund or receive amounts from any tax liabilities or benefits with earnings of the Company. Accordingly, the Company has not provided for any NYC UBT tax expense.

The Company recognizes the tax benefit of uncertain tax positions only when the position is more likely than not to be sustained, assuming examination by taxing authorities. The tax benefit recognized is measured as the largest amount of benefit that has a greater than 50% likelihood of being realized upon ultimate settlement with the relevant taxing authorities. Based on this analysis, the Company has determined that it has not incurred any liability for unrecognized tax benefit as of December 31, 2021.

In addition, the Company is required to maintain a minimum net capital, as defined, equal to the greater of $50,000 or 6.67% of aggregate indebtedness.
