NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENT

1. Nature of business and summary of significant accounting policies

Nature of Business

Ainvest Financial, Inc. (the "Company") fka Light Horse Market Solutions, Inc. is a privately held corporation organized under the laws of the state of Florida in 2002. The Company is wholly owned by Ainvest Holdings Corporation (the "Parent") fka Lighthouse Holdings Corporation. The Company's operations consist primarily of introducing customer accounts on a fully disclosed basis to its clearing broker. The Company does not maintain customer accounts. The Company also acts as a selling group member in the distribution of capital markets transactions.

The Company is a broker-dealer formed under the Securities Exchange Act and registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC"). The Company received approval of its membership in the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority, Inc. ("FINRA") in July 2002.

Use of Estimates

The financial statements have been prepared in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America ("GAAP") and requires management to make reasonable estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of the assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses at the date of the financial statements and for the period they include. Actual results may differ from these estimates.

Revenue Recognition

All revenues are recorded in accordance with ASC 606, which is recognized when: (i) a contract with a client has been identified, (ii) the performance obligation(s) in the contract have been identified, (iii) the transaction price has been determined, (iv) the transaction price has been allocated to each performance obligation in the contract, and (v) the Company has satisfied the applicable performance obligation over time.

The Company's revenues from contracts with customers are recognized when the performance obligations are satisfied at an amount that reflects the consideration expected to be received in exchange for such services. The majority of the Company's performance obligations are satisfied at a point in time and are typically collected from customers by debiting their brokerage account with the Company. The Company believes that the performance obligation is satisfied on the trade date because that is when the underlying financial instrument or purchase is identified, the pricing is agreed upon and the risks and rewards of ownership have been transferred to/from the customer.

Commission income is earned by providing trade facilitation, execution, clearance and settlement, custody, and trade administration services to customers. Acting as an agent, commission income is generated by the trade execution from the Company's clients' purchases and sales of securities, either on exchanges or over-the-counter, through the purchases of various investment products such as mutual funds, fixed income, options and commodity transactions. In return for such services, the broker dealer charges a commission. Revenues recognized under commission income consist of one performance obligation which is satisfied on trade date. Trade execution performance obligation is satisfied at a point in time.

Receivables from clearing brokers represent cash held on account.

Valuation of Investments in Securities and Securities at Fair Value - Definition and Hierarchy

In accordance with GAAP, fair value is defined as the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability (i.e., the “exit price”) in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date.

In determining fair value, the Company uses various valuation approaches. In accordance with GAAP, a fair value hierarchy for inputs is used in measuring fair value that maximizes the use of observable inputs and minimizes the use of unobservable inputs by requiring that the most observable inputs be used when available. Observable inputs are those that market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability based on market data obtained from sources independent of the Company. Unobservable inputs reflect the Company’s assumptions about the inputs market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability developed based on the best information available in the circumstances. The fair value hierarchy is categorized into three levels based on the inputs as follows:

Level 1 - Valuations based on unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the Company has the ability to access. Valuation adjustments and block discounts are not applied to Level 1 securities. Since valuations are based on quoted prices that are readily and regularly available in an active market, valuation of these securities does not entail a significant degree of judgment.

Level 2 - Valuations based on quoted prices in markets that are not active or for which all significant inputs are observable, either directly or indirectly.

Level 3 - Valuations based on inputs that are unobservable and significant to the overall fair value measurement.

The availability of valuation techniques and observable inputs can vary from security to security and is affected by a wide variety of factors including, the type of security, whether the security is new and not yet established in the marketplace, and other characteristics particular to the transaction. To the extent that valuation is based on models or inputs that are less observable or unobservable in the market, the determination of fair value requires more judgment. Those estimated values do not necessarily represent the amounts that may be ultimately realized due to the occurrence of future circumstances that cannot be reasonably determined.

Because of the inherent uncertainty of valuation, those estimated values may be materially higher or lower than the values that would have been used had a ready market for the securities existed. Accordingly, the degree of judgment exercised by the Company in determining fair value is greatest for securities categorized in Level 3. In certain cases, the inputs used to measure fair value may fall into different levels of the fair value hierarchy. In such cases, for disclosure purposes, the level in the fair value hierarchy within which the fair value measurement in its entirety falls, is determined based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement.

Fair value is a market-based measure considered from the perspective of a market participant rather than an entity-specific measure. Therefore, even when market assumptions are not readily available, the Company’s own assumptions are set to reflect those that market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability at the measurement date. The Company uses prices and inputs that are current as of the measurement date, including periods of market dislocation. In periods of market dislocation, the observability of prices and inputs may be reduced for many securities. This condition could cause a security to be reclassified to a lower level within the fair value hierarchy.

Securities Owned, at Fair Value

Securities owned are valued at market.

Statement of Cash Flows

For the purpose of calculating changes in cash flows, cash includes all cash balances and highly liquid short-term investments with original maturity date of three months or less.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

Cash represents cash deposits held at financial institutions. Cash equivalents include short-term highly liquid investments of sufficient credit quality that are readily convertible to known amounts of cash and have original maturities of three months or less. Cash equivalents are held for the purpose of meeting short-term liquidity requirements, rather than investment purposes. The Company may, during the ordinary course of business, maintain account balances in excess of federally insured limits. The Company does not expect any risk or loss with regard to these deposits.

Property and Equipment

Property and equipment is stated at cost less accumulated depreciation and amortization. The Company provides for depreciation and amortization as follows:

Asset	Useful Life	Estimated Principal Method
Office and other equipment	5 years	Straight-line
Furniture & fixtures	5 years	Straight-line
Computer hardware	3 years	Straight-line

Income Taxes

The Company has elected to be taxed as a corporation under the Internal Revenue Service Code. Accordingly, under such an election, the Company's taxable income is reported by the Corporation. As a result, the financial statements do not reflect a provision for income taxes.

The Company recognizes and measures tax positions taken or expected to be taken in its tax return based on their technical merit and assesses the likelihood that the positions will be sustained upon examination based on the facts, circumstances and information available at the end of each period. Interest and penalties on tax liabilities, if any, would be recorded in expenses.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENT

1. Nature of business and summary of significant accounting policies (continued)

The U.S. Federal jurisdiction and New York are the major tax jurisdictions where the Company files income tax returns. The Company is generally no longer subject to U.S. Federal or State examinations by tax authorities for years beginning before 2019.

Leases

In accordance with Accounting Standards Codification 842, Leases("ASC 842"), the Company determines if an arrangement contains a lease at inception based on whether or not the Company has the right to control the asset during the control period and other facts and circumstances. The Company evaluates the classification of leases as operating or finance at inception. Leases that meet one or more of the following criteria will be classified as finance leases:

- The Company can acquire the leased asset at the end of the lease term for a below-market price.
- The ownership of the leased asset is transferred to the Company at the end of the lease period.
- The duration of the lease encompasses at least 75% of the useful life of the leased assets.
- The present value of the minimum lease payments under the lease represent at least 90% of the fair value of the leased asset.

The Company has determined that all leases under which they are the lessee to be operating leases. The Company is the lessee in a lease contract when they obtain the right to control the asset. Operating lease right-of-use ("ROU") assets represent the Company's right to use an underlying asset for the lease term, and lease liabilities represent the Company's obligation to make lease payments arising from the lease, both of which are recognized based on the present value of the future minimum lease payments over the lease term at the commencement date. The Company determines the lease term by assuming the exercise of renewal options that are reasonably certain.

As most of the Company's leases do not provide an implicit interest rate, the Company uses the Prime Rate from the Federal Reserve Bank as a guide for financing over the period of the lease based on the information available at the commencement date in determining the present value of future payments.

Leases with a lease term of 12 months or less at inception are not recorded on the Company's balance sheet and are expensed on a straight-line basis over the lease term in the Company's statement of operations.

2. Fair value measurements

The Company's assets and liabilities recorded at fair value have been categorized based upon a fair value hierarchy as described in the Company's significant accounting policies in Note 1.

In addition, the receivables from clearing broker are pursuant to the clearance agreement and includes a clearing deposit of $125,069 reflected in the accompanying statement of financial condition.

5. Concentrations of credit risk

These activities may expose the Company to off-balance-sheet risk in the event the customer or other broker is unable to fulfill its contracted obligations and the Company has to purchase or sell the financial instrument underlying the contract at a loss.

The Company maintains its cash balances in a financial institution which is insured by the Federal Insurance Corporation ("FDIC").
