Our practice group is comprised of various international banking, management consulting, corporate finance, marketing and institutional brokerage professionals. We have pooled our knowledge, our varied relationships and expertise to facilitate greater distribution of and participation in sustainable finance, responsible enterprises or ESG fund offerings for all vested players, in the global institutional investor ecosystem.

Our veteran and seasoned team has a broad and deep network of institutional investors, ranging from large private and public retirement funds, faith, values - or mission-based investors, endowments, foundations, advisors, consultants, and various multi-family offices. In our Sustainability Finance Practice, we serve as a bridge, a consultative voice, and a fiduciary agent for institutional investors to reach the best available sustainable and responsible institutional investment opportunities. Our commitment to the finance industry and investors alike, is to adopt a collaborative approach that brings socially conscious capital and industry together to reshape the commercial landscape for the betterment of the healthy world. In furtherance of these goals, we are guided by "UN PRI" principles in all aspects of our ESG Practice focus. “ Conscious Capitalism, to us means that the 3P’s are aligned and are all beneficiaries: Profits, People and Planet. ”

- Sir Ronald Cohen, the Chairman of The Global Steering Group for Impact Investment (GSG), states in Impact: Reshaping capitalism to drive real change (2021), “Envision a world that moves in only one direction: forward. A world where inequality is shrinking. Where natural resources are regenerated, and people can unlock their full potential and benefit from shared prosperity. A world focused not only on minimizing harm, but on doing measurable good.”
