

Is there any way you can make this kind of crap email stop? How about penalizing the company? They are, after all, the ultimate benefactors of all the spamming. I get, on average, 20-25 of these every day and am thinking that, perhaps, I should auto-forward them all to you, the company of interest, and their stock transfer agent. By myself, I can't do anything to make it stop... getting you and other people involved might leverage the process. Thoughts?
