

SEC File No. 4-519. Request for Rulemaking to expose and prevent unlawful and deceptive activities by securities promoters and their sponsors.

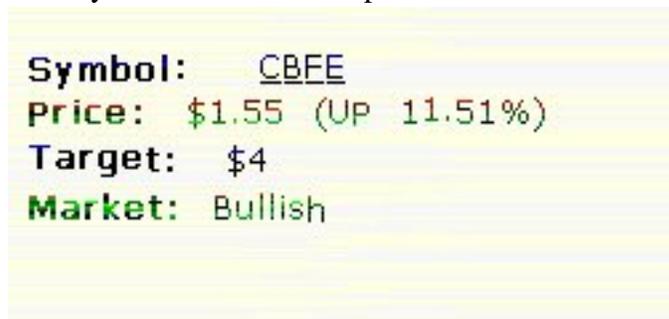

Both my husband and I get three or four of these emails every day. The example is pasted below. Each time it is a different email address with random words generated probably by a computer. The stock they wish us to purchase is part of a graphic pasted into the email making it almost impossible to block. (It is not always a stock. They also have viagra products they advertise.)

We would be happy to forward each one we receive if you could trace and block the sender. We know it is illegal to send these to us as we live in the state of Washington with laws prohibiting it. However, we don't have the knowledge to know how to trace and block them.

Any help to block these emails would be appreciated.

Sincerely,
Gordon and Mary Jo Monten
