Your Request

Senator Merkley, as a member of the Banking Committee, I applaud your position that states "Jeff has been a leader in bringing accountability and oversight back to Wall Street." However part of the system is blindly overlooking the need to regulate one of Wall Streets biggest bullies: Goldman Sachs. I have been in the financial business 45 years and have never witnessed Wall Street greed and the walking over investors interest, including close to 70 Oregonians, many of which are retired, as I have witnessed in this event controlled by Goldman Sachs. You will need to start by reviewing SEC file SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION (Release No. 34-69477; File No. 81-939) April 30, 2013 Notice of an Application of W2007 Grace Acquisition I, Inc. under Section 12(h) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 The company behind W2007 Grace Acquisition is Goldman Sachs and their subsidiary operations. You will find at least 40 letters that object to this market manipulation, including several from me. What has the SEC done in the nearly two years -absolutely nothing. In the meantime Goldman Sachs continues the process of taking investors money for their own corporate greed. The story is much too long to try to go into the detail you or your office will need to understand the complexity of this matter in this brief outreach to your office, on behalf of myself and investor, many of which are retired Oregonians. We have been living this nightmare for eight long years now. I come to your office to reach out for your assistance. Respectfully Art Chandler
