Chair Gary Gensler,
I would like greater disclosure in the following areas:
1. racism. What is the composition of their workforce, by grade, race, income?
2. labor rights. how much of the workforce has a union? has the company fought an organizing attempt in the last five years? If so, how much did they spend on it? How many complaints have been registered against the company under osha and nlrb?
3. global warming/environment. The SEC should require companies and banks to reveal information about their climate risks, contribution to climate change (including total direct and indirect greenhouse gas emissions), environmental and economic benefits and harms, and political spending.
4. I also want to know what they spend each year lobbying around these issues, and whether they invest in other companies that have poor track records on the environment, workers' rights and racism.
As a stakeholder in the economy and financial system, a member of society, and an inhabitant of this planet, this information matters to me and I want the SEC to make sure it is accessible.
