

RE: SEC's request for comments on S7-06-16:

I am an investor.

MORE IMPORTANT: I am an American who strongly values DEMOCRACY and TRANSPARENCY and HONESTY!!!

Our political/economic system is WOEFULLY CORRUPT!!!
EVERYBODY KNOWS THIS!!!

The public is ABSOLUTELY DISGUSTED with politicians and governmental agencies that serve economic and political elites instead of serving the broad public interest!!!

The SEC ABSOLUTELY MUST ADDRESS THIS CRISIS!!!

If you fail to act, public opinion will hold the SEC in contempt!!!

Investors deserve to know the ways corporations are buying elections, polluting our environment, affecting our economy, and more. And while corporations have little to no accountability to even their shareholders, disclosure is one solution that requires companies to consider the consequences – and the interests of their shareholders -- before making decisions that affect their shareholders and regular Americans.

It's time for corporations to be honest with their investors and the American people.

Public corporations should at a minimum be required to:

1. Disclose their political spending.
2. Disclose their oversea tax payments, country-by-country.
3. Disclose their sustainability plans.

We need to end the secrecy and give investors the information they deserve.

Glen Anderson

Lacey, WA