Re: Pay Ratio Disclosure, File No. S7-07-13

Dear Ms. Murphy,

We, the people, the majority who they call the 99% are sick and tired of all the crap that is going on on Wall Street and by CEO's and executive who take outrageous compensation packages while running companies into the ground with no accountability. I strongly support regulations that would require publicly-traded companies to disclose CEO-to-median worker pay ratios. As income inequality reaches unprecedented heights, the public has the right to know which corporations are fueling the yawning gap between rich and poor.

Disclosure of CEO-to-worker pay ratios are also crucial for investors. This information is important for determining whether corporations are diverting resources to executives at the expense of long-term investments and workforce development. Additionally, investors need to be able to gauge whether executives' compensation is falling in line with their performance.

Sincerely,

Jake celaya
