Re: Pay Ratio Disclosure, File No. S7-07-13

Dear Ms. Murphy,

I strongly support regulations that would require publicly-traded companies to disclose CEO-to-median worker pay ratios. As income inequality reaches unprecedented heights, the public has the right to know which corporations are fueling the yawning gap between rich and poor.

Disclosure of CEO-to-worker pay ratios are also crucial for investors. This information is important for determining whether corporations are diverting resources to executives at the expense of long-term investments and workforce development. Additionally, investors need to be able to gauge whether executives' compensation is falling in line with their performance.

Enough is enough of corporate gougers. They should be revealed for what they are doing and that is being rewarded for their jobs way outside of their contributions to their corporations. The fact that the workers are being squeezed to line their pockets makes no difference to them and their outsize egos.

Sincerely,

Barbara Burt
