Why has the SEC under Chairwoman Mary Schapiro failed to reinstate The Uptick Rule which was imposed by our government following The Crash of 1929 to prevent short sellers from driving companies into bankruptcy? The 2005 study which (falsely) shows the Uptick Rule is no longer effective nor needed was deceptively performed during a Bull Market when stock prices were surging. When former SEC Chairman Christopher Cox (allegedly) abolished The Rule in 2007, we have since seen the annihilation of companies through unstoppable Bear Raids, illegal naked shorts, and the proliferation of ETF ultra short proshares. Please ask Mary Schapiro to take the right action to restore fairness and integrity in our stockmarket so US citizens and foreign investors will have confidence once again in Wallstreet. Please restore The Uptick Rule in its original form...no alterations.
