

Submitted: 2009-03-05

INVESTOR INFORMATION

Name: Mr. Dan D Shelburne

The Market and especially the Financial Stocks are being continually run down by Short Sales. Our Government is pouring Money into the Banks while the short sellers are driving those Bank stocks down towards Zero. Why has the SEC not reinstated the Up-Tick Rule? What possible harm could it do? The vast majority of market participants favor this. If you ever intend to get regular investors back into the market, you must rein in Short Selling. Take the profit out of driving the entire Market down to create profits for Bear market traders. Chairman Cox created a great deal of the problems we have now. We expected Chairman Shapiro would act to restore some confidence to investors. Please, reinstate the Up-tick Rule or do a temporary ban on all short selling.