I'm writing you with my concerns about the NYSE & the SEC. I do not understand why The SEC hasn't reinstated the Up-tick rule to the NYSE. Also why hasn't naked short selling been banned from the markets. I have listened to Steve Forbes, Warren Buffett and other professional people discuss this subject for some time. I agree that these rules should be reinstated. We American's and West Virginian's who are long term investors have lost so much money in our IRA's and stocks, we may never recover. It's time Washington started working together on these issues before it's too late for this great country. Also mark to market for the banks might not be a bad idea. Remember most American's are for change, but we American's at heart are for growth not old Socialist's worn out ideas. Thank you
