Stock Shock

The Short Selling of the American Dream

Decimal Place trading caused the Recession of 2008

My name is Richard and I'm the Narrator for the movie Stock Shock directed by Sandra Mohr. It is a movie that was made in June of 2009, just as the full blown recession of 2008 was coming to an end. The recession was caused by the manipulation of stock prices on Wall Street through naked short selling, flash trading, high frequency trading, secret software, super fast computers and what I feel was the main cause of this corruption, " Decimal Place Trading ". As I write this article today, much of the corruption is now slowly coming out through social media outlets like Twitter and Facebook along with the bloggers on the internet, and Yahoo bulletin boards and of course Stock Shock, yet the news media also is to blame for what has taken place in this country and the near collapse of Wall Street and the banking industry.

There are many fingers to point the blame on and I can think of a few off hand that I would like to cover. The first being wall street regulation changes. I'm no expert, not even a writer but decided to write this story since the business news media was not telling it. Wall Street regulation changes helped cause the problems with the first being the removal of fractions in stock pricing. On January 29th, 2001 the NYSE went to 4 decimal place trading. On March 12th, 2001 the NASDAQ followed suit. This new rule had great intention as we headed toward the computer and digital world, but over time was manipulated and companies like Goldman Sachs figured out how to take advantage of the new system. Not sure how it happened, lobbied for years or what, but along came the biggest mistake of all in the elimination of the uptick rule in July of 2007. This rule had been implemented after the great depression and in place since 1938. How could the SEC abolish a rule that had been in place for close to 70 years and worked. Put these two changes together and greed + corruption equals recession.

Facts have come out the past few weeks on the internet, you can google it. Also reports are out on the web that Goldman Sachs made over $100 million dollars a day in 46 of 64 trading days in FY 2009 2nd quarter (April , May, June). Let me say that again. They made over $100 MILLION dollars a day and are still doing it as I write this letter today August 16th, 2009. Well How did they do it ? There has been no report of this by any of the news media. How can this be? This corruption is 100 times the Bernie Madoff story. No coverage by CNBC or Bloomberg news. Why? Goldman Sachs upon Wall Street going to fraction and the abolishment of uptick rule used designed secret software and used this software to gain an advantage on every potential investor by manipulating the stock price in decimal places to make people pay more money by walking the stock price up and down in decimal places, making profits on each and every trade as these investors had no idea what was taken place. Basically Goldman Sachs become a Las Vegas poker dealer right here in New York City on Wall Street turning profits on every trade with their super fast computers and software. Profits in the mili seconds ends up being over $100 Million a day. Now that's a lot of trades and still going on today.

Stock Shock – the Movie has brought out many of these scams, yet it has only been reported by social media networks like twitter and yahoo along with some great bloggers and web sites like satwaves.com The national media has turned a blind eye. I have discussed with the Stock Shock movie director that the bigger crime besides the stolen wealth of 20%- 60% of people's retirement money and individual investments is the actions of the news media or shall I say their Non- action.

Stock Shock the Movie has gotten the attention of Senator Kaufman and Senator Chuck Schumer which is leading to new SEC rules that are coming with Flash trading, effective September 1st, 2009 and more discussions on re-instating the up-tick rule by years end.

Here is my take on why the news media is silent. Stock Shock is about the technology of the future with Sirius XM Radio. The news media is fearful of the success of this company as future technology expands to the cell phones. Basically since Apple came out with the i-phone in July 2008 Sirius XM Radio and XM Radio merged companies also in July 2008. It was the start of the walking computers via cell phones that will only get better and better in time as they upgrade and bring the news to the people instantly via these walking computers. As I write this letter it hits me. The FCC delayed the merger of Sirius and XM for 18 months so that would be 6 months prior to Uptick Rule elimination which would be January of 2007. Was the abolishment of the uptick rule established (July 2007) because of these new technologies merging that would eventual create the new news media years down the road as people use these cell phones to video tape news, link there videos to You Tube and also link their photo's and taped recordings thru these i-phones that have all this media capabilities. Could this be the main reason why all of a sudden the up-tick rule was abolished and what followed right after that the most shorted stock on Wall Street was Sirius XM Radio. Not only was Goldman Sachs using their advantages to take investors money away slowly like Las Vegas poker dealers, Goldman Sachs was also paying millions to CNBC. Was it paid protection to keep quiet. The news media wanted this powerful new merged company called Sirius XM Radio inc destroyed so both the news media along with the corruption on Wall Street both ganged up on Sirius XM Radio to try and bankrupt the company thru negative and at time false news media reporting while Goldman Sachs naked shorted Sirius XM Radio stock in the millions of shares.

Thanks to the movie Stock Shock, its faithful investors, they fought back and today, the real truth is slowly coming out each and every day, what the News Media is still doing and what Goldman Sachs is still manipulating in decimal places, but Sirius XM Radio has survived their onslaught of attacks in the press and on Wall Street, not to mention CNBC's non reporting of the many positives stories that have unfolded with Sirius XM radio since the movie release of Stock Shock.

In the end, the truth is going to prevail over both the business news CNBC and Goldman Sachs. How we are going to expose their part in the failed attempt to bankrupt Sirius XM Radio will be thru Hollywood. There are 4 movies coming out of Hollywood. Listed below

1. Stock Shock – The Short Selling of the American Dream - Director Sandra Mohr
2. Money Never Sleeps - Director Oliver Stone
3. Capitalism “ A love Story “ Director Michael Moore
4. Monopoly Director Ridley Scott

Go figure. Wow, have times changed. Hollywood is going to tell the truth about how the recession of 2008 took place, since the business news failed to tell the American people and investors of the World about the corruption on Wall Street involving decimal place trading and manipulation. They failed to tell the world because both had their own agenda as the news media wanted the technology company Sirius XM Radio bankrupt and Wall Street wanted the Sirius XM radio investor's money.

CNBC:

Some facts about the news media. Do you know that General Electric (GE) owns CNBC, NBC and MSNBC. Did you know that MS stands for Microsoft as GE and Microsoft owns MSNBC. They also own Meet the Press, The Today Show and others.

CNN:

Did you know that CNN is owned by AOL/ Time Warner and that they own 33 magazines including Time and Fortune.

FOX:

Rupert Murdoch owns News Corp, which owns Fox News and their many networks across the country. News Corp also owns 132 Newspapers, NY Post & London Times along with 25 different magazines.

Also, how funny is it that all these newspapers are in trouble financially and has been reported over the past months, especially the Boston Globe's problems and how the New York Times owns it. I'm not sure who owns the WSJ, Motley Fools but I do know that Jim Cramer of CNBC's Mad Money is part owner in the Street.com which has falsely written numerous articles about Sirius XM Radio. How is he allowed to do that while also bashing Sirius XM Radio on CNBC's Mad Money.

How could any one of these once and powerful news media companies not cover the story of naked short selling or decimal place trading. The recent news about naked short selling and flash trading along with high frequency trading have only been in the news since word came out on Wall Street about Stock Shock and with the national news media they have yet to mention the movie Stock Shock. Only then have these story's of corruption on Wall Street come out within the past few weeks and months, but to this day still no talk of the decimal place trading. All these news media companies and TV stations are hoping that Goldman Sachs can still try to bankrupt Sirius XM Radio thru manipulation in decimal places, hence not 1 single word of this on any one of the networks listed above. Not one word. Oh yeah, and cash for clunkers was all over the news for the past month, who do you think will benefit from all the new cars sold. Yes... Sirius XM Radio will be in just about every new car sold, not to mention in all the cell phones of the future. CNBC had at least 100 hours of coverage for the Cash for Clunkers program, yet, not one mention of Sirius XM Radio, the company that stands to gain the most for all these new cars sold.

Goldman Sachs manipulation of stock prices with Sirius XM Radio and many other stocks continue. Goldman Sachs tried to ruin the banking industry also doing the same exact thing (Naked Short Selling) with the banks until the SEC finally stepped in. Their original plan back in July of 2007 to ruin Sirius XM radio lead to more greed by Goldman Sachs and Wall Street as they took the Sirius XM Radio attack plan and then used it against the banking industry as their greed almost ruined our great country. When they are making over $100 million dollars a day in manipulating stock prices in decimal places, I guess they will do anything including putting this country into a recession. That is Greed my friends. Total Greed Goldman Sachs advantage will be diminished with the new changes coming on Wall Street, but which national media company is going to tell the entire truth to the World? Is it going to be Hollywood or is the National Media going to be forced to tell the truth to the World.

The Bottom line. The truth is going to prevail in the end and the Stock Shock movie is going to be told to the World. You can take that to the Bank.
