You need to enforce the law regarding naked short-selling in ALL markets.

By you allowing this to go on, and especially after you admit it could be detrimental to the market place, you are putting yourself in a precarious position and once the masses find out about it, they are not going to be happy. Your cloak has come off and we, the people, can see you for exactly who/what you are. This nonsense must be stopped. You are allowing criminals to get away with stealing money from the very citizens who pay you to do your job.
