Dear Chairman Schapiro,

I am writing because I want you to know my concerns about the impact that Dodd Frank conflict minerals law has had on my country; Burundi. All mineral trade has stopped. No buyers are on the market. I guess that was the point but in reality the people of Burundi who works with mining must starve or try to find ways around the act.

REMEX is a mineral trader in Burundi and we have not been able to sell our minerals in the last few months because of the de-facto embargo created by the US laws. The miners are suffering and cannot work .This is not a good situation for them and us.

The tin production of our country is small and not so modern equipped. Small local miners. The historical volume is 100-120ton mineral/month.

We ask you to give us time to find the way out of the problem and to delay the requirements of your laws. Burundi must have time to put the structures and organizations in place. We ask you for some time.

Please give us some approval to export up to 100 ton/ month until the requirements is implanted. All minerals trade will be monitored and approved but the government of Burundi, as I have written earlier.

We know there are ways forward and we would like the iTSCi project to operate here in Burundi but we know that due diligence is expensive and needs to be funded. We have asked iTSCi to come to Burundi but they will still need to find the funds for it; please we also submit the attached letter to you regarding this problem.

I am going to send more information to you while you are still considering the impact of the law and what to do.

Best Regards

Mr. RADJABU MUTABAZI
