We would like to point out what we believe a false statement on SEC publishing a certain document.

The article about SEC publishing a memorandum first appeared on this website: <https://abacusjournal.com/breaking-bitcoin-sec-etf-meeting-cboe-vaneck-solidx-all-meet-with-sec-commissioner-elad-roisman-approval-confidence-high/>

At the time of publishing search by sec.gov link only gave abacusjournal link. No other sources. Since then media reprinted it massively.

The link to the memorandum is indeed from sec.gov domain but the careful viewer will see it's from comments section. Anyone can leave comments which will appear on sec.gov website: <https://www.sec.gov/comments/sr-cboebzx-2018-040/cboebzx2018040.htm>

Here is the instructions on how to submit comments: <https://www.sec.gov/rules/submitcomments.htm>

It clearly states they accept PDF format now.

In the case we got it wrong and SEC indeed published a document about a meeting that actually took place please dismiss this comment and accept our apologies.
