Dear Securities and Exchange Commission,

The approval for this product is critical for the US to stay in a leadership role in financial markets. Crypto currencies bring a new level of market efficiency in liquidity and offer a deregulated underlying product to the investors in this space. Providing this on this platform provides for oversight, regulation and acceptance one that is necessary as the product becomes more widely accepted by the institutional marketplace. Overtime this will also flow into the retail syndication channel and possibly the alternative investment sector. The world has already accepted, it's a revenue stream the US should share in and help create various efficiencies around.

Please approve this submittal.
