Hi Dom Laviola,

NYSE will no longer offer the will be Arca short volume data free on charge on the public ftp server.

NYSE continues to offer this data in the fee-liable NYSE Volume Summary and/or TAQ NYSE Group Short Sales packages.

As a courtesy, attached you will find the latest Arca Short Volume Data.

Should you wish to purchase the data, please visit the below product page(s) and click BUY NOW to subscribe to the data.

NYSE Volume Summary

<http://www.nyxdata.com/Data-Products/NYSE-Volume-Summary>

Detailed breakdown of NYSE and NYSE MKT Trading activity by share size, number of trades, short sales, odd-lot volume, VWAP, etc. The National Market Volume Summary component file provides total trades, volume, and dollar volume by market center (exchange) in each NYSE-traded issue.

TAQ NYSE Group Short Sales

<http://www.nyxdata.com/Data-Products/NYSE-Short-Sales>

TAQ NYSE Group Short Sales is a monthly product containing a collection of the month's end of day replay files. The monthly TAQ NYSE Short Sale files provide investors the ability to identify short sale behaviors at the NYSE by monitoring the short sale execution share volume for each stock. The monthly TAQ NYSE Short Sales and TAQ MKT Short Sales are made available for the current month on the first of the following month.

Subject: Short Sale information on our website?

Hi Nicolas,

We received an email from someone looking for our daily short sales report. It used to be available on our website.... Any idea where it can be found now?

Subject: RE: NYSE, NYSE Arca and NYSE MKT Report Short Interest

Hi Kristin,

Yes I'm aware of that. I'm referring to the following:

This is all of your daily files from last week

Daily short volume for not just yesterday, but all historical data, had been in the Public Data folder, at <ftp.nyxdata.com> and could be reached by going to /page 875/ up until yesterday. I think perhaps the creation of the Tick Pilot folders resulted in the short data folder being deleted:

This has been the case since 2009:

Since 2009 I have tracked all short data from the public exchanges, every day, and all other exchanges continue to report the agg. daily short volume:

These are all from yesterday:

NQBX:

NPSX

NSDQ, NYSE, ORF

NSX

BZX, BYX, EDGA, EDGX:

The only one missing, is ARCA:

Which I can show you:

This is ARCA from Friday, 4/8/2016:

ARCA last week:

Instead this is what is out there now:

...and it's not just me:...the only thing is that this guy lied and said it included percentages. it does not now nor did it previously.

I checked rule filings , and there has been no notices posted regarding this change Chairman Shapiro brought to fruition.

<https://www.sec.gov/rules/sro/nysearca.shtml>

Please recheck, repair and /or reply as needed. It will not be good for ARCA's image or such to have public opinion lowered by a possible SEC investigation over what is probably just an accidental deletion of a folder....If it was not an accident, ARCA is the only exchange denying access to the information all exchanges agreed to make public and which have been for 7 years now...including ARCA.

Thank you,

Brandon
