Re: Discover Financial Services – Shareholder Proposal submitted by Myra K. Young

Ladies and Gentlemen:

Pursuant to Exchange Act Rule 14a-8(j), Discover Financial Services (“Discover” or the “Company”) hereby notifies the Division of Corporation Finance of its intention to exclude a shareholder proposal (the “Proposal”) submitted by Myra K. Young (the “Proponent”) from Discover’s proxy materials for its 2018 Annual Meeting of Shareholders (the “2018 Proxy Statement”), for the reasons stated below.

This letter, together with the Proposal and the related correspondence, are being submitted to the Staff of the Division of Corporation Finance (the “Staff”) via email in lieu of mailing paper copies. A copy of this letter and the attachments are being sent on this date to the Proponent, with a copy to John Chevedden, her agent. We respectfully remind the Proponent that if she elects to submit additional correspondence to the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission or the Staff with respect to the Proposal, a copy of that correspondence should be furnished concurrently to the undersigned pursuant to Rule 14a-8(k).

The Proposal

The Proposal sets forth the following resolution and supporting statement to be voted on at the 2018 Annual Meeting of Shareholders:

RESOLVED, Discover Financial Services shareholders request that our board take each step necessary so that each voting requirement in our charter and bylaws that calls for a greater than simple majority vote be eliminated, and replaced by a requirement for a majority of the votes cast for and against applicable proposals, or a simple majority in compliance with applicable laws. This means the closest standard to a majority of the votes cast for and against such proposals consistent with applicable laws. It is important that our company take each step necessary to adopt this proposal topic. It is also important that our company take each step necessary to avoid a failed vote on this proposal topic.

Supporting Statement: Shareowners are willing to pay a premium for shares of companies that have excellent corporate governance. Supermajority voting requirements have been found to be one of six entrenching mechanisms that are negatively related to company performance according to “What Matters in Corporate Governance” by Lucien Bebchuk, Alma Cohen and Allen Ferrell of the Harvard Law School (https://papers.ssrn.com/sol3/papers.cfm?abstract_id=593423).

Supermajority requirements are used to block initiatives supported by most shareowners but opposed by a status quo management. The majority of S&P 500 and S&P 1500 companies have no supermajority voting requirements. Additionally, unlike the majority of S&P 500 and S&P 1500 companies, our company prohibits shareholders from calling special meetings.

This proposal topic won from 74% to 99% support at Weyerhaeuser, Alcoa, Waste Management, Goldman Sachs, FirstEnergy, McGraw-Hill, Macy’s, Ferro Arconic, and Cognizant Technology Solutions. Currently a 1%-minority can frustrate the will of our 66%-shareholder majority. In other words a 1%-minority could have the power to prevent shareholders from improving our corporate governance.

Please vote to enhance shareholder value:

A copy of the full Proposal and related correspondence with the Proponent is attached to this letter as Exhibit A.

Analysis

The Proposal May Be Excluded Pursuant to 14a-8(i)(3) Because the Proposal is Materially False and Misleading.

Rule 14a-8(i)(3) provides that a company may exclude a shareholder proposal from its proxy materials if “the proposal or supporting statement is contrary to any of the Commission’s proxy rules, including Rule 14a-9, which prohibits materially false or misleading statements in proxy solicitation materials.” Rule 14a-9 provides that no solicitation may be made by means of any proxy statement containing “any statement, which, at the time and in light of the circumstances under which it is made, is false or misleading with respect to any material fact, or which omits to state any material fact necessary in order to make the statements therein not false or misleading.” In Staff Legal Bulletin No. 14B, the Staff stated that exclusion under Rule 14a-8(i)(3) is appropriate where the “company demonstrates objectively that a factual statement is materially false or misleading.” Staff Legal Bulletin No. 14B (Sept. 15, 2004). See, e.g., JPMorgan Chase & Co. (Mar. 11, 2014, reconsid. denied Mar. 28, 2014) (concurring in the exclusion of a proposal as false and misleading because, among other things, it misrepresented the company's vote counting standard for electing directors, misrepresented the company's practices in following Staff guidance under Rule 14a-8(i)(12), and mischaracterized the company's treatment of abstentions); General Electric Co. (Jan. 6, 2009) (concurring in the exclusion of a proposal as false and misleading because it, among other things, made false and misleading statements regarding the company's vote counting standard for director elections); Johnson & Johnson (Jan. 31, 2007) (concurring in the exclusion of a proposal as false and misleading where the proposal concerned an advisory vote to approve the compensation committee report but contained misleading implications about SEC rules concerning the contents of the report).

As in JP Morgan, General Electric and Johnson & Johnson, the Proposal contains statements that are materially false and misleading to shareholders. The Proposal's supporting statement concludes with this argument: "Currently a 1%-minority can frustrate the will of our 66%-shareholder majority. In other words a 1%-minority could have the power to prevent shareholders from improving our corporate governance."

In referring to "our 66%-shareholder majority," the Proposal indirectly states that the Company's supermajority vote threshold is two-thirds (or 67%), which is patently false. The Company has a supermajority vote threshold of 80% of outstanding shares to amend its Amended and Restated Bylaws, as well as to amend two provisions in its Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation that reinforce the 80% vote requirement to amend the bylaws.¹ As a result, this argument will make no sense to our shareholders. The Company's supermajority voting threshold is a material fact for a proposal regarding whether or not to eliminate such a voting threshold. The Proposal's mischaracterization of the voting threshold—the entire basis for the proposal—is an error that is objectively and materially false and misleading.

In addition, regardless of the Company's particular supermajority voting provisions, the sentence – "In other words a 1%-minority could have the power to prevent shareholders from improving our corporate governance" – is materially false and misleading. The "power" of 1% applies with equal force to a simple majority voting threshold. Whenever there is a voting threshold, it is possible that the threshold will not be reached due to a single vote or a "1%-minority." By saying, "[c]urrently a 1%-minority can frustrate the will..." (emphasis added), the Proposal implies that this would not be the case for the Company once the supermajority threshold is changed to a simple majority threshold. This statement is materially false and misleading.

Finally, there is no action that the holders of 1% of the Company's outstanding shares could cause the Company to take or prevent the Company from taking. The only scenario in which this argument would be factually correct is one where a company had a supermajority threshold in its charter or bylaws of more-than-99%. Discover has no such more-than-99%

supermajority, and any implication that it does – here, stating that a 1%-minority has the power to frustrate the majority – is materially false and misleading.

Accordingly, we believe that the Proposal is defective in its entirety and in violation of Rule 14a-9 as materially false and misleading. On that basis, we believe the Proposal may be properly excluded from the Company’s 2018 Proxy Statement pursuant to Rule 14a-8(i)(3).

Conclusion

Based upon the foregoing analysis, we respectfully request that the Staff concur that it will take no action if the Company excludes the Proposal from its 2018 Proxy Statement. If you have any questions regarding this request or desire additional information, please contact the undersigned by phone at (202) 736-8615 or by email at thomas.kim@sidley.com.

Sincerely yours,

Thomas J. Kim

Dear Corporate Secretary,

I am pleased to be a shareholder in Discover Financial Services (DFS) and appreciate the leadership our company has shown in several areas. However, our company also has unrealized potential that can be unlocked through low or no cost corporate governance reform, such as moving to a simple majority standard.

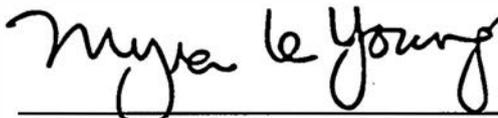

I am submitting the attached shareholder proposal for a vote at the next annual shareholder meeting. The proposal meets all Rule 14a-8 requirements, including the continuous ownership of the required stock value for over a year and I pledge to continue to hold the required amount of stock until after the date of the next shareholder meeting. My submitted format, with the shareholder-supplied emphasis, is intended to be used for definitive proxy publication.

This letter confirms that I am delegating John Chevedden to act as my agent regarding this Rule 14a-8 proposal, including its submission, negotiations and/or modification, and presentation at the forthcoming shareholder meeting. Please direct all future communications regarding my rule 14a-8 proposal to John Chevedden to facilitate prompt communication. Please identify me as the proponent of the proposal exclusively.

Your consideration and the consideration of the Board of Directors is appreciated in responding to this proposal. Please acknowledge receipt of my proposal promptly by email to

Sincerely,

Myra K. Young

Notes:

This proposal is believed to conform with Staff Legal Bulletin No. 14B (CF), September 15, 2004 including (emphasis added):

Accordingly, going forward, we believe that it would not be appropriate for companies to exclude supporting statement language and/or an entire proposal in reliance on rule 14a-8(l)(3) in the following circumstances:

- the company objects to factual assertions because they are not supported;
- the company objects to factual assertions that, while not materially false or misleading, may be disputed or countered;
- the company objects to factual assertions because those assertions may be interpreted by shareholders in a manner that is unfavorable to the company, its directors, or its officers; and/or
- the company objects to statements because they represent the opinion of the shareholder proponent or a referenced source, but the statements are not identified specifically as such.

We believe that it is appropriate under rule 14a-8 for companies to address these objections in their statements of opposition.
