(the “Exchange” or “NYSE Arca”) filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission (the “Commission”) the proposed rule change as described in Items I and, II below, which Items have been prepared by the self-regulatory organization. The Commission is publishing this notice to solicit comments on the proposed rule change from interested persons.

A. Self-Regulatory Organization’s Statement of the Purpose of, and the Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

1. Purpose

The Exchange is proposing changes to Rule 6.64 with respect to opening trading in an option series as described below.

Opening Process

Rule 6.64 describes the process pursuant to which OX (“OX System”)⁴ opens an option series. Paragraphs (b) and (c) of Rule 6.64 provide that, after the primary market for the underlying security disseminates the opening trade or opening quote, the OX System then conducts an “Auction Process” to open a series whereby the OX System determines a single price at which a series may be opened by looking to: (i) the midpoint of the initial uncrossed NBBO disseminated by the Options Price Reporting Authority (“OPRA”), if any, or (ii) the midpoint of the best quotes or orders in the OX Book. If the bid-ask differential for a series is not within an acceptable range, the OX System will not conduct an Auction Process.⁵ For purposes of this rule, the acceptable range means the bid-ask differential guidelines specified in Rule 6.37(b)(1)(A)-(E)⁶. Assuming the bid-ask differential is within the acceptable range, the ⁴ The term “OX” refers to the Exchange’s electronic order delivery, execution and reporting system for designated option issues through which orders and quotes of Users are consolidated for execution and/or display. See Rule 6.1A(a)(13) (defining “OX”).

⁵ The Auction bid-ask differentials are known in common parlance as “legal-width quotes.”

⁶ Rule 6.37(b)(1). The bid-ask guidelines specified in Rule 6.37(b)(1)(A)-(E) that are required to open a series are narrower than the $5 wide bid-ask differential for options traded on OX during Core Trading Hours.

OX System matches up orders and quotes based on price-time priority⁷ and executes the orders that are matched at the midpoint pricing.⁸

Any orders in the OX System that are not executed in the Auction Process become eligible for the Core Trading Session immediately after the conclusion of the Auction Process. If the OX System does not open a series with an Auction Process, the OX System shall open the series for trading after receiving notification of an initial NBBO disseminated by OPRA for the series or on a Market Maker quote, provided that the bid-ask differential does not exceed the bid-ask differential specified under Rule 6.37A(b)(4).⁹

Proposed Modifications to the Opening Process

First, the Exchange proposes to change Rule 6.64(b) regarding how the OX System determines when to start the Auction Process. Current paragraph (b) of the Rule provides that “[a]fter the primary market for the underlying security disseminates the opening trade or the opening quote, the related option series will be opened automatically.” However, because it is possible that either an opening quote or opening trade alone may not accurately reflect the state of the market, the Exchange proposes to specify that an option series will be opened automatically, “once the primary market for the underlying security disseminates a quote and a trade that is at or within the quote.”¹⁰ The Exchange believes the proposed change makes clear

⁷ Orders will have priority over Market Maker quotes at the same price. See Rule 6.64(b)(B).

⁹ See Rule 6.37A(b)(4). See Rule 6.37(b)(5) [sic] provides that options traded on OX during Core Trading Hours may be quoted with a difference not to exceed $5 between the bid and offer regardless of the price of the bid.

¹⁰ See proposed Rule 6.64 (b). The Exchange also proposes to clarify that “[a]t or after 9:30 a.m. Eastern Time,” i.e., when the market opens, the Exchange would initiate the Opening that the Exchange would only open a series automatically after it receives a quote in the underlying security and a trade in that security at or between the disseminated quote rather than simply upon receipt of either an “opening trade or opening quote.” The Exchange believes that waiting to open trading in an option series until there has been both a disseminated quote and trade in the underlying security would help to augment the Auction Process by ensuring that an underlying security has been opened pursuant to a robust price discovery process before opening the overlying options for trading. The Exchange believes that the proposed change would provide market participants with greater certainty as to the true state of the market at the opening of the trading day and should lead to more accurate prices on the Exchange.¹¹

Next, the Exchange proposes to modify Rule 6.64(b)(E), which currently provides, in relevant part, that “[i]f the OX System does not open a series with an Auction Process, the OX System shall open the series for trading after receiving notification of an initial NBBO disseminated by OPRA for the series or on a Market Maker quote.”¹² However, the Exchange has determined that it would no longer open on a local Market Maker quote but would require that Market Maker quotes, like the NBBO, come from OPRA. Thus, the Exchange proposes to open after receiving an “initial uncrossed NBBO from ORRA” and to delete rule text related to opening on a Market Maker quote.¹³ The Exchange notes that OPRA disseminates to each Process for all series associated with the underlying security. See id.

¹¹ The Exchange notes that it would not open, for example if the first disseminated quote in the underlying security is $50.50 bid, $50.75 ask, and the first trade in the underlying had been executed for $50.00. The Exchange would, however open if the first trade in the underlying was $50.50.

¹² See Rule 6.64(b)(E).

¹³ See proposed Rule 6.64(b)(E) (providing that “[i]f the OX System does not open a series with an Auction Process, the OX System shall open the series for trading after receiving notification of an initial uncrossed NBBO disseminated by OPRA for the series, provided that the bid-ask differential does not exceed the bid-ask differential specified under Rule

exchange the NBBO as well as the top of book for each exchange, such that the Exchange's market maker quote would be disseminated back to the Exchange as the BBO – and could be, but is not necessarily, the NBBO. Because OPRA disseminates this information to all exchanges at the same time, the Exchange believes the proposal to open only after receiving an uncrossed NBBO from OPRA would eliminate any ambiguity as to the source of the information used to open each series and should lead to more accurate prices on the Exchange.

In connection with the proposed changes to Rule 6.64(b), the Exchange likewise proposes to strike from Rule 6.64(c) reference to “the midpoint of the best quote bids and quote offers in the OX Book” as it relates to the Exchange determining the opening price for options issues designated for trading on the OX System.¹⁴ The Exchange believes this conforming change is necessary given that the Exchange would no longer open solely on a Market Maker quote and therefore this information would not form the basis of the opening price of a series. As proposed, the opening price of a series would be the price “at which the greatest number of contracts will trade at or nearest to the midpoint of the initial uncrossed NBBO disseminated by OPRA.”¹⁵ The Exchange believes this change adds transparency and internal consistency to the rule text.

Finally, the Exchange proposes new paragraph (F) to Rule 6.64(b) to provide the Exchange with discretion to deviate from the standard Opening Process where it is necessary in the interests of a fair and orderly market.¹⁶ This proposed rule change is based on the rules of

6.37A(b)(4).”

¹⁴ Current Rule 6.64(c) provides, in relevant part, that the opening price of a series will be the price “at which the greatest number of contracts will trade at or nearest to the midpoint of the initial uncrossed NBBO disseminated by OPRA, if any, or the midpoint of the best quote bids and quote offers in the OX Book.”

¹⁵ See proposed Rule 6.64(c).

¹⁶ See proposed Rule 6.64(b)(F) (providing that “[t]he Exchange may deviate from the standard manner of the Auction Process, including adjusting the timing of the Auction

other options exchanges.¹⁷ Similar to how other markets operate, the Exchange believes it may be appropriate, in the interest of a fair and orderly market, to open trading even if the conditions specified in Rule 6.64 are not met. For example, if the primary market is unable to open due to a systems or technical issue, but trading in the underlying security is otherwise unaffected, the Exchange believes it would be appropriate to open trading in any options series overlying such securities. Further, proposed Rule 6.64(b)(F) would provide the Exchange with discretion to manage the Opening Process in the event of unanticipated circumstances occurring around 9:30 a.m. Eastern Time or a halt being lifted.

2. Statutory Basis

The Exchange believes the proposed rule change is consistent with Section 6(b)¹⁸ of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (the “Act”), in general, and furthers the objectives of Section 6(b)(5),¹⁹ in particular, in that it is designed to promote just and equitable principles of trade, to foster cooperation and coordination with persons engaged in facilitating transactions in securities, and to remove impediments to and perfect the mechanism of a free and open market and a national market system.

Specifically, the proposed change to Rule 6.64(b) would clarify that the Exchange would only open a series automatically after it receives a quote in the underlying security and a trade in Process in any option class, when it believes it is necessary in the interests of a fair and orderly market”).

¹⁷ See e.g., BATS Exchange, Inc. (“BATS”) Rule 21.7(c) (Market Opening Procedures) (“The Exchange may deviate from the standard manner of the Opening Process, including adjusting the timing of the Opening Process in any option class, when it believes it is necessary in the interests of a fair and orderly market”).

that security at or between the disseminated quote – as opposed to automatically opening on either an opening quote or an opening trade alone per the current rule text, which may not always accurately reflect the state of the market. The Exchange believes this added transparency would promote just and equitable principles of trade and remove impediments to, and perfect the mechanism of, a free and open market and a national market system to the benefit of market participants. Further, the Exchange believes that waiting to open trading in an option series until there has been both a disseminated quote and trade in the underlying security would protect investors and the public interest because it would help to augment the Auction Process by ensuring that an underlying security has been opened pursuant to a robust price discovery process before opening the overlying options for trading. Moreover, this proposed change would promote just and equitable principles of trade to the benefit of investors and the public interest because it would provide market participants with greater certainty as to the true state of the market at the opening of the trading day and should lead to more accurate prices on the Exchange.

The Exchange also believes that specifying that, to open a series, the Exchange would require an initial uncrossed NBBO disseminated by OPRA would promote just and equitable principles of trade as the change is designed to protect investors and the public interest. The Exchange notes that OPRA disseminates to each exchange the NBBO as well as the top of book for each exchange, such that the Exchange's market maker quote would be disseminated back to the Exchange as the BBO – and could be, but is not necessarily, the NBBO. Because OPRA disseminates this information to all exchanges at the same time, the Exchange believes the proposal to open only after receiving an uncrossed NBBO from OPRA would eliminate any ambiguity as to the source of the information for each series and should lead to more accurate prices on the Exchange.

Similarly, the Exchange believes the conforming change to Rule 6.64(c), which strikes reference to quote bids and quote offers in the OX Book for purposes of determining an opening price, likewise would promote just and equitable principles of trade as it would add transparency and internal consistency to Exchange rules, which would make them easier for market participants to navigate.

Finally, the Exchange believes the proposal to permit the Exchange to open options trading when such opening is in the interests of a fair and orderly market (even if the conditions set forth in the rule are not met), is consistent with the protection of investors and the public interest because the proposed changes would allow the Exchange to open trading in options contracts in a fair and orderly manner. Specifically, the Exchange believes that the proposed changes would reduce potential delays in opening an option series that may prevent the Exchange from displaying and/or routing orders on its Consolidated Book and may also prevent the Exchange from disseminating a protected quote that draws trading interest from other options markets. Thus, the Exchange believes that the proposed changes would allow the Exchange to open options series faster and more efficiently, thereby reducing any delay in execution of orders on the Exchange that may be unnecessary and harmful to market participants. The Exchange also notes that this proposed rule change is based on the rules of other options exchanges.²⁰

B. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Burden on Competition

The Exchange does not believe that the proposed rule change would impose any burden on competition that is not necessary or appropriate in furtherance of the purposes of the Act. The proposed change is not designed to address any competitive issue but rather to add specificity and transparency to Exchange rules, thereby reducing confusion and making the Exchange's rules easier to understand and navigate. The Exchange believes that the proposed rule change would serve to promote regulatory clarity and consistency, thereby reducing burdens on the marketplace and facilitating investor protection.
