1.D cont.	GENERAL INFORMATION ON FEES In certain circumstances, all fees and account minimums may be negotiable. The fee charged is calculated as described above and is not charged on the basis of a share of capital gains upon or capital appreciation of the funds or any portion of the funds of an advisory client (SEC Rule 205(a)(1)). A client agreement may be canceled at any time, by either party, for any reason upon receipt of 30 days prior written notice. Upon termination of any account, any prepaid, unearned fees will be promptly refunded, and any earned, unpaid fees will be due and payable. The client has the right to terminate an agreement without penalty within five business days after entering into the agreement. All fees paid to BICC for investment advisory services are separate and distinct from the fees and expenses charged by mutual funds and exchange traded funds ("ETFs") to their shareholders. These fees and expenses are described in each fund's prospectus. These fees will generally include a management fee, other fund expenses, and a possible distribution fee. If the mutual fund also imposes sales charges, a client may pay an initial or deferred sales charge. A client could invest in a mutual fund or ETF directly, without the services of BICC. In that case, the client would not receive the services provided by BICC which are designed, among other things, to assist the client in determining which mutual fund, funds or ETFs are most appropriate to each client's financial condition and objectives. Accordingly, the client should review both the fees charged by the funds and ETFs and the fees charged by BICC to fully understand the total amount of fees to be paid by the client and to thereby evaluate the advisory services being provided. For California Residents: Subsection (j) of Rule 260.238, California Code of Regulations requires that all investment advisers disclose to their advisory clients that lower fees for comparable services may be available from other sources. PROXY POLICY DISCLOSURE BICC's firm policy and practice is that BICC does not have any authority or responsibility to vote any client proxies. Advisory clients have expressly retained proxy voting authority for their portfolio securities and accounts and accordingly, BICC has no responsibility and may not take any action regarding the firm's advisory client proxies. LEGAL PROCEEDINGS Clients should note that BICC may not provide legal counsel or advise or act on behalf of any clients in legal proceedings e.g., class actions, bankruptcies or other legal proceedings, involving companies whose securities are held or previously were held in client portfolios, including, but not limited to, the filing of "Proofs of Claim" in class action settlements. Item of Form (identify)	Answer
12.B & 13.A	BROKERAGE DISCRETION and RECOMMENDATIONS INVESTMENT SUPERVISORY SERVICES BICC will endeavor to recommend brokers or dealers which will provide the best services at the lowest commission rates possible. The reasonableness of commissions are based on the broker's ability to provide professional services, competitive commission rates, research and other services which will help BICC in providing investment management services to clients. BICC may, therefore recommend a broker-dealer who provides useful research and securities transaction services even though a lower commission may be charged by a broker who offers no research services and minimal securities transaction assistance. Research services may be useful in servicing all our clients, and not all of such research may be useful for the account for which the particular transaction was effected. Certain clients, when undertaking an advisory relationship, already have a pre-established relationship with a broker and will instruct BICC to execute all transactions through that broker. In the event that a client directs BICC to use a particular broker or dealer, it should be understood that under those circumstances BICC will not have authority to select the broker-dealer or to negotiate commissions, aggregate those client's transactions with other client orders, obtain volume discounts and best execution may not be achieved. In addition, under these circumstances a disparity in commission charges may exist between the commissions charged to other clients. BICC recommends that clients establish brokerage accounts with the Schwab Institutional division of Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. ("Schwab"), a registered FINRA broker-dealer and SIPC member, to maintain custody of clients' assets and to effect trades for their accounts. BICC is independently owned and operated and not affiliated with Schwab. Schwab provides BICC with access to its institutional trading and custody services, which are typically not available to Schwab retail investors. These services generally are available to independent investment advisors on an unsolicited basis, at no charge to them so long as a total of at least $10 million of the adviser's clients' assets is maintained in accounts at Schwab Institutional, and is not otherwise contingent upon BICC committing to Schwab any specific amount of business. Schwab's services include brokerage, custody, research, and access to mutual funds and other investments that are otherwise generally available only to institutional investors or would require a significantly higher minimum initial investment. For BICC's client accounts maintained with Schwab, Schwab generally does not charge separately for custody but is compensated by account holders through commissions or other transaction-related fees for securities trades that are executed through Schwab or that settle into Schwab accounts. Schwab also makes available to BICC other products and services that benefit BICC but may not benefit its clients' accounts. Some of these other products and services assist BICC in managing and administering clients' accounts. These include software and other technology that provide access to client account data (such as trade confirmations and account statements); facilitate trade execution (and allocation of aggregated trade orders for multiple client accounts); provide research, pricing information and other market data; facilitate payment of BICC's fees from its clients' accounts; and assist with back-office functions, recordkeeping and client reporting. Many of these services generally may be used to service all or a substantial number of BICC's accounts, including accounts not maintained at Schwab Institutional.

12.B & 13.A cont.	Schwab Institutional also makes available to BICC other services intended to help BICC manage and further develop its business enterprise. These services may include: (i) compliance, legal and business consulting; (ii) publications and conferences on practice management and business succession; and (iii) access to employee benefits providers, human capital consultants and insurance providers. Schwab Institutional may also provide other benefits such as educational events or occasional business entertainment of BICC's personnel . In addition, Schwab may make available, arrange and/or pay for these types of services rendered to BICC by independent third parties. Schwab Institutional may discount or waive fees it would otherwise charge for some of these services or pay all or a part of the fees of a third-party providing these services to BICC. While as a fiduciary, BICC endeavors to act in its clients' best interests, and BICC's recommendation that clients maintain their assets in accounts at Schwab may be based in part on the benefit to BICC of the availability of some of the foregoing products and services and not solely on the nature, cost or quality of custody and brokerage services provided by Schwab, which may create a potential conflict of interest. BICC generally recommends and uses Schwab for our clients' brokerage and custody services. Clients may select Schwab or a broker-dealer firm of their own choosing. If a client selects Schwab for custody services without directing BICC to use that firm for brokerage services as well, BICC may exercise its discretion and use that firm for the client's brokerage services. BICC has evaluated Schwab over the years, and will continue to evaluate the services it provides in the future. These services include a blend of execution services, commission costs and professionalism that assists BICC in obtaining quality services including seeking best execution for client transactions. While BICC believes that Schwab provides quality brokerage and custody services, BICC will not be trading or independently seeking best execution price capability through other broker dealers unless the firm determines that other firms may offer a blend of better services. BICC may also on occasion negotiate commissions on behalf of our clients in an effort to obtain competitive commission rates. BICC reserves the right to decline acceptance of any client account that directs the use of a broker dealer other than Schwab, if BICC believes that this would adversely affect BICC's ability to manage a client's portfolio. As a matter of policy and practice, BICC does not have any formal or informal arrangements or commitments for obtaining research products or services on a soft dollar basis.
13. B.	ADDITIONAL COMPENSATION BICC may from time to time compensate, either directly or indirectly, any person (defined as a natural person or a company) for client referrals. The firm may also enter into referral arrangements with third parties. In these arrangements, BICC may compensate a person based on a percentage of the advisory fees for the clients referred to BICC which may range up to 50% of a client's advisory fee paid as a referral fee. An advisory client's advisory fee is not increased in any way as a result of the payment of any referral fees by BICC. BICC is aware of the special requirements under Section 206(4)-3 of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940. As such, appropriate disclosures will be made, all records maintained by BICC and applicable Federal and/or State laws will be observed.
