Item of Form (identify)	Answer
Item 11A.	The Registrant consults with clients and will manage accounts either on a discretionary or non-discretionary basis. The Registrant may direct clients to other investment advisers who will direct trading. In each and every instance, the third party investment adviser who is managing the account will have discretionary authority. Ms. Kademian may, from time to time on a non-custodial basis, obtain trading discretion from clients. She also offers financial consulting services to clients. As part of her service, she monitors accounts regularly, ranging from daily to monthly, depending on the account and the frequency of trading. Client is referred to the Lockwood ADV, Part II, Schedule H (wrap fee brochure) for a complete discussion and disclosure regarding its programs. The Registrant obtains investment advisory services and managed money products from Lockwood Advisors, Inc., an affiliate of Pershing, LLC, each of which are subsidiaries of the Bank of New York Mellon. Ms. Kademian may utilize these services and products to provide clients access to investment advisory services. Clients who utilize Lockwood Advisors' Managed Account Link and Mutual Fund Link programs will contract with Lockwood Advisors, Inc. for such services and programs. The Registrant may collect certain financial information regarding clients and make that information available to Lockwood. Since certain of the Registrant's clients' portfolios are invested in mutual funds, clients of these portfolios will ordinarily pay two levels of fees - an advisory fee to the Registrant directly and another indirectly to the managers of mutual funds held in a client's portfolio. For individually managed portfolios, the Registrant charges an advisory fee for its services in addition to and without reference to any other fees that may be charged by any other investment manager directly trading an account or any consultant or custodian providing services to the client. Registrant does not vote proxies. It is Registrant's clients' responsibility at all times to vote proxies for securities held in their portfolio.
Item 12B.	The Registrant may from time to time suggest the brokerage services of First Allied Securities, Inc., a registered broker-dealer with whom she is registered as a representative, or other broker-dealers depending on the client consultation. The client at all times has final say in the selection of a broker-dealer. Brokers are selected on the basis of their financial strength, reputation, willingness to negotiate commissions, and best execution policies. Registrant does not direct client transactions to a particular broker in return for products and research services. The Registrant may from time to time obtain a limited power of attorney from clients in connection with various investment programs the client selects. Each power of attorney is strictly limited to the account and clients' objectives regarding investing.

Item 12B. (contd.)	Advisor may require that clients establish brokerage accounts with the Schwab Institutional division of Charles Schwab &amp; Co., Inc. (Schwab), a registered broker-dealer, member SIPC, to maintain custody of clients' assets and to effect trades for their accounts. Advisor is independently owned and operated and not affiliated with Schwab. Schwab provides Advisor with access to its institutional trading and custody services, which are typically not available to Schwab retail investors. Schwab's services including brokerage, custody, research, and access to mutual funds and other investments that are otherwise generally available only to institutional investors or would require a significantly higher minimum initial investment. For Advisor's client accounts maintained in its custody, Schwab generally does not charge separately for custody but is compensated by account holders through commissions or other transaction-related fees for securities trades that are executed through Schwab or that settle into Schwab accounts. Schwab also makes available to Advisor other products and services that benefit Advisor but may not benefit its clients' accounts. Some of these other products and services assist Advisor in managing and administering clients' accounts. These include software and other technology that provide access to client account data (such as trade confirmations and account statements); facilitate trade execution (and allocation of aggregated trade orders for multiple client accounts); provide research, pricing information and other market data; facilitate payment of Advisor's fees from its clients' accounts; and assist with back-office functions, recordkeeping and client reporting. Many of these services generally may be used to service all or a substantial number of Advisor's accounts including accounts not maintained at Schwab Institutional. Schwab Institutional also makes available to Advisor other services intended to help Advisor manage and further develop its business enterprise. These services may include consulting, publications and conferences on practice management, information technology, business succession, regulatory compliance, and marketing.
Item 13A.	The Registrant may receive commissions for recommending suitable insurance and variable life and annuity for clients. MISCELLANEOUS ANTI-MONEY LAUNDERING REGULATIONS As part of the Registrant's responsibility for the prevention for money laundering, the Registrant may require a detailed verification of a managed client account's identity, the identity of any beneficial owner of the account and the source of the funds deposited into the account. The Registrant reserves the right to request such information as is necessary to verify the identity of a client account and any underlying beneficial owner of an account. In the event of delay or failure by the client account, the Registrant may refuse to accept such account as a client or may terminate its agreement with such account party. In that event, the broker/dealer for the account may, by written notice, suspend the withdrawal rights of such account party if the broker/dealer reasonably deems it necessary to do so to comply with anti-money laundering regulations applicable to the Registrant.
