	be higher or lower than the price that would otherwise be paid by a client absent the aggregation. Any transaction costs incurred in the transaction are shared pro rata based on each client's participation in the transaction. In some cases, this procedure could have an adverse effect on a particular account. In the opinion of Westwood, however, the results of such procedure will, on the whole, be in the best interests of each of its advisory accounts. When a decision is made to aggregate orders, Westwood seeks to allocate securities among its client accounts in a fair and equitable manner. Under Westwood's trade allocation policy, securities generally are allocated among client accounts according to each account's pre-determined participation in the transaction. Westwood considers a number of factors when determining if investments are appropriate and suitable for allocation to an account. These factors include, but are not limited to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The investment objective, policies and strategy of the account;</li> <li>• The appropriateness of the investment to an account's time horizon and risk objectives;</li> <li>• Existing levels of account ownership in the investment and in similar securities; and</li> <li>• The immediate availability of cash or buying power to fund the investment.</li> </ul> Westwood seeks to allocate transactions before execution of a block order. However, under certain circumstances, trades may not be allocated prior to entering the trade order. In such event, Westwood will seek to allocate such orders at the earliest practicable time. Pre-allocated and unallocated block trades that are partially filled are generally allocated on the basis of the relative net assets of the participating accounts. Westwood may execute transactions in the same securities on behalf of a number of accounts, including accounts in which Westwood and/or its officers or employees may have a financial interest, such as the mutual funds managed by Westwood. Thus, there may be a conflict of interest to the extent that trades are allocated to accounts in which Westwood or its officers and employees may have a financial interest that may not also be allocated to other clients. These transactions may be executed separately or they may be aggregated when, in Westwood's reasonable judgment, aggregation may result in an overall economic benefit to those accounts in terms of pricing, brokerage commissions or other expenses. Westwood will not aggregate client trades with proprietary (insider) accounts of Westwood. In general, trades are allocated between portfolio teams on a pro rata basis (to the extent a portfolio team decides to participate fully in the trade), for further allocation by each portfolio team between that portfolio's eligible accounts. Where pro rata allocation is not practicable, Westwood will seek to make trade allocations consistent with the factors identified above, and in a fair and equitable manner. Once trades are allocated, they may be reallocated only in unusual circumstances due to recognition of specific account restrictions. From time to time, Westwood has access to security distributions during an initial or secondary public offering ("IPO"). However, due to the small size of Westwood's business compared to other asset managers and market participants, Westwood rarely, if ever, obtains access to a sufficient number of IPO shares so as to make a material allocation of such shares among all, or even many, of its client accounts for which such investments otherwise might be appropriate. However, to the extent practicable, Westwood will allocate IPO shares on a pro rata basis among applicable accounts. Where pro rata distribution is not practicable, Westwood will seek to make a fair and equitable allocation taking into consideration such factors as:

Under the terms of the joint venture, Teton entered into an investment advisory agreement with the Fund. Westwood entered into a sub-advisory agreement with Teton and the Fund under which Westwood continues to act as investment subadvisor to certain series of the Fund. In 1998, Teton was incorporated as Gabelli Advisers, Inc. In 2007, Gabelli Advisers, Inc. changed its name to Teton Advisers, Inc. On March 20, 2009, Teton became a publicly traded company, with Westwood owning a minority voting interest in Teton. The terms of the subadvisory agreement remained the same. Westwood may invest part of its corporate capital into the series of the Fund.
Item 8.C.6	Westwood has a subsidiary agreement with Westwood Trust (a trust company chartered by the State of Texas) whereby Westwood serves as subadvisor to the Westwood Trust Commingled Funds. Westwood and Westwood Trust are wholly owned subsidiaries of Westwood Holdings Group, Inc.
Items 9.D. and 9.E.	Westwood has adopted a Code of Ethics expressing the firm’s commitment to ethical conduct. The Code is based on the principle that the officers, directors and employees of Westwood owe a fiduciary duty to clients to conduct their personal securities transactions in a manner, which does not interfere with client portfolio transactions, or otherwise take advantage of their relationship with clients, and which reflects the principles referenced above. The Code of Ethics requires employees to pre-clear all personal securities transactions through the compliance officer or his or her designee. The Code prohibits Westwood employees from purchasing or selling securities for their own account that Westwood owns or controls for client accounts. If an employee holds such securities in their brokerage accounts prior to their employment with Westwood or an employee purchases a security that Westwood later purchases for a client account, Westwood will place those holdings on “restricted status” and the employee may not sell the securities until Westwood has exited the security for client accounts. The Code provides for “black-out periods” during which employees may not purchase or sell a stock that Westwood is in the process of purchasing or selling for client accounts. To monitor compliance with its Code of Ethics, the firm’s CCO receives duplicate brokerage statements and transaction confirmations for every employee with personal brokerage accounts and employees must sign a quarterly compliance certification. The Code of Ethics and Westwood’s Insider Trading Policy further prohibit the use of material non-public information in a personal or professional capacity. Westwood requires that all employees act in compliance with all applicable Federal and State regulations governing registered investment advisory practices. Any employee not in observance of the above may be subject to disciplinary action up to and including termination. Clients may request a complete copy of Westwood’s Code of Ethics by contacting their representative

Item of Form (identify)	Answer
Items 12.A. and 12.B. (continued)	Section 28(e) of the Exchange Act provides a “safe harbor” to investment advisers who use commission dollars of their advised accounts to obtain investment research and brokerage services that provide lawful and appropriate assistance to the manager in performing investment decision-making responsibilities. Westwood intends to use commission sharing only for those products and services that fall within the Section 28(e) safe harbor. To the extent that certain items have research and non-research components (“mixed-use”) (e.g., FactSet and Bloomberg), Westwood will allocate commissions for only those portions of the service or product that is research or execution related. This cost basis analysis will be conducted on a case-by-case basis depending upon the total costs for a service or product and the extent to which the product or service is used by Westwood for research or brokerage execution related services. Westwood may use the products and services received from broker-dealers to service all Westwood accounts. Thus, not all such services may be used for the benefit of the client that pays the brokerage commission, which results in the receipt of such research or brokerage services. The use of brokerage commissions to obtain research and brokerage-related products and services creates a conflict of interest between Westwood and its clients because the clients pay for such products or services that are not exclusively for the benefit of the advisory clients and that may be primarily or exclusively for the benefit of Westwood. To the extent that Westwood is able to acquire products and services without expending its own resources (including management fees paid by clients), Westwood’s use of commission sharing arrangements would tend to increase its profitability. In addition, the availability of these non-monetary benefits may influence Westwood to select one broker-dealer over another to perform services for clients. Moreover, the use of “mixed-use” products or services creates a conflict in that as much of the cost of the product or service will be allocated to soft dollars. Westwood generally will only use commission sharing for brokerage and research related products and services. Non-brokerage and non-research products and services received by Westwood from broker-dealers in connection with client trades will be paid for directly by Westwood. Notwithstanding Westwood’s good faith determination that certain products and services are research or brokerage-related, Westwood may inadvertently use commissions to pay for non-brokerage or non-research products or services to the extent that Westwood’s good faith determination is not accurate. Westwood will provide a commission sharing report to clients upon request. Clients may direct Westwood as to how to prepare this report. Aggregating/Block Orders Westwood may aggregate orders on behalf of its clients when it believes that such aggregation may facilitate its duty to seek best execution. In connection with an aggregated order, Westwood maintains a written record that specifies which clients’ accounts will participate in the aggregate order and the amount of securities intended to be purchased for each such account. If the aggregate order is filled in its entirety, the securities acquired are allocated among the clients’ accounts in accordance with the written record. If the aggregate order is partially filled, Westwood will allocate trades on a pro rata basis among the client accounts in proportion to the contemplated allocation in the written record, subject to rounding to ensure that each account receives round lots. Where pro rata allocation is not practicable, Westwood will allocate trades in a fair and equitable manner consistent with the factors identified above in response to Item 4.C.7.

Items 12.A. and 12.B. (continued)	Westwood does not aggregate client orders with any proprietary accounts of Westwood. Directing Brokerage Westwood permits clients to select what broker executes securities transactions for the client's account (know as "directed brokerage"). If the client elects to direct brokerage transactions to a particular broker-dealer, Westwood may not be able to aggregate such client's order with orders for other clients. Consequently, Westwood may not be able to obtain best execution for a client that directs brokerage. Further, a client that directs brokerage may pay higher commissions because Westwood may not participate in the negotiation of commission rates for those transactions. Clients that direct their brokerage to a specific broker-dealer, including any wrap account clients, will not participate in IPO allocations. Stepouts The trading desk has the discretion to employ "step-out" procedures to accommodate all clients in one trade in certain thinly traded stocks, or where best execution would be best attained by using a single broker for execution rather than several brokers. In addition, an executing broker for a block trade may step out a portion of the aggregated trade to a broker-dealer for whom a client has directed that trades be executed or settled through a particular broker-dealer. In these circumstances, a broker other than the broker settling a trade may have executed the trade. As a result, clients may incur additional transaction costs. Cross Trades In certain instances, Westwood may be able to execute client trades by crossing the trade between advisory clients or where Westwood may act as an agent for another party. In these trades, Westwood receives no additional compensation. Cross trades with registered mutual funds will comply with all applicable requirements of the Investment Company Act of 1940. Westwood maintains a record of each cross trade and the client accounts affected. Westwood beneficially owns a minority voting interest in Teton Advisors, Inc. (Teton).
