(If yes, describe on Schedule F.)

11. Review of Accounts. If applicant provides investment supervisory services, manages investment advisory accounts, or holds itself out as providing financial planning or some similarly termed services:

- A. Describe below the reviews and reviewers of the accounts. For reviews, include their frequency, different levels, and triggering factors. For reviewers, include the number of reviewers, their titles and functions, instructions they receive from applicant on performing reviews, and number of accounts assigned each.

Review – For accounts managed on a continuous basis, the Investment Adviser Representative (IAR) servicing the account is responsible for reviewing the accounts at least once a quarter. Some IARs are supervised by a Designated Registered Principal (“DRP”). In these cases the DRP is obliged to review the accounts at least quarterly and is responsible for ongoing supervision of the IAR. In addition, the home office Compliance and Supervision Departments are provided with exception reports that help to identify problem situations. Exception reports are designed to detect transactions in designated securities, excessive transactions, front-running, and suitability. Clients may be sent activity letters when their account exhibits a change in trading pattern, or a large number of transactions in a single month.

- B. Describe below the nature and frequency of regular reports to clients on their accounts.

Confirms of all buys and sells are sent to the client by the custodian, unless the client opts to suppress confirmations. Statements are provided to the client from the custodian at least quarterly if there is no activity and monthly if there is activity. In addition Clients may receive a quarterly performance report. IARs may meet with clients as frequently as is agreed or as requested by the client or IAR, but are encouraged to meet with clients at least annually. Clients may receive reports generated by Albridge at the discretion of the investment adviser representative assigned to the account. Reports generated by Albridge use an internal rate of return or the Modified-Dietz method of calculating performance. Clients utilizing Guided Portfolio Solutions receive account presentations using time-weighted performance values and Internal Rate of Return dollar-weighted performance values.

Item of Form (identify)	Answer
Items 7 & 8	First Allied Securities and Affiliates First Allied Securities, Inc. ("First Allied") is a fully disclosed, full service broker-dealer and Registered Investment Adviser, clearing its business primarily through Pershing, LLC ("Pershing") and J.P. Morgan Clearing Corp. a wholly-owned subsidiary of JPMorgan Chase & Co. ("JP Morgan"). First Allied's principal activities include retail and institutional private client services, including but not limited to providing advice with respect to financial markets and executing securities transactions as a broker or dealer. First Allied is a member of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority ("FINRA") and the Securities Investor Protection Corporation ("SIPC"), and a member of the National Futures Association. First Allied, its affiliated representatives, and solicitors provide a variety of services designed to meet the varying investment advisory and related needs of individual and institutional clients. Each program described in this brochure offers some or all of the following services for a fee: selection of or assistance in selecting an investment adviser, ongoing evaluation and review of investment advisers, evaluation and review of portfolio composition, execution, reports of activity in a client's account, financial planning and consultation on client assets. Some programs may charge transaction charges to defray the costs of trade execution. Day-to-day portfolio management of client accounts may be undertaken by affiliated registered investment advisers, independent unaffiliated investment management firms or by First Allied's Investment Adviser Representatives ("IARs"). First Allied and its affiliates are engaged in the business of buying and selling stocks, bonds, mutual funds, options, insurance, and direct participation programs, plus financial consulting and securities analysis. As a broker/dealer, First Allied effects transactions in securities including stocks, bonds, options, mutual funds, variable insurance products and limited partnerships. First Allied may participate as a member of a selling group for initial public offerings. Due to the fact that First Allied is both a securities broker-dealer and registered investment adviser, clients may have both an advisory account and brokerage account with the firm. First Allied representatives may offer clients advisory services, brokerage services, or both, depending upon what is most suitable for the client in light of his or her financial needs. Advisory accounts are generally offered to investors that meet the account minimums and have a long-term investment horizon. Generally, First Allied considers it appropriate to use its own execution services for the purchase and sale of securities for investment management clients where clients have so agreed. First Allied and its IARs may give advice and take action in the performance of their duties to clients which differs from advice given, or the timing and nature of action taken, with respect to other clients' accounts, or the timing and nature of action taken with respect to IAR or employee accounts. First Allied Securities, Inc. is registered as an introducing broker with the National Futures Association. The principal executive officers spend 90% of their time on normal broker/dealer activities, and 10% on Investment Advisory activities. Other Financial Industry Activities or Affiliations. As a registered securities broker/dealer, First Allied may buy and sell securities for its own account, and may buy and sell the same securities on behalf of other clients of First Allied. First Allied is not the custodian of the accounts. All client funds and client accounts are custodied by JP Morgan or Pershing or another approved custodian on a fully disclosed basis. First Allied broker dealer activities are separate from First Allied asset management activities.

First Allied may utilize or offer to clients the investment management products and services of these firms. These products and services are described more fully in the Form ADV Part II of each firm. Potential conflicts of interest will be disclosed to clients who utilize these services through delivery of the respective Form ADV Part II. Advanced Equities Insurance Services, Inc. ("AEIS") is an insurance general agency that offers insurance products through licensed insurance agents. The majority of these agents are registered as investment adviser representatives or registered representatives of an AEIS affiliate. Advanced Equities Pension Services, Inc. and Associates In Excellence, Inc. (collectively "AEPS") are third-party pension administration firms. They provide third-party pension administration for plan sponsors, including some plan sponsors that receive other services from AEPS affiliates, including First Allied. IARs do not receive compensation for referring clients to AEPS and may refer plan sponsor to this affiliate or other third party firms for pension administration services. First Allied does not provide pension administration services. Advisory account transactions executed with the affiliates listed above will be limited by stringent requirements and subject to supervisory review. Certain Affiliates may make markets in securities, and may buy and sell for their own accounts. The Affiliates and their registered representatives and employees may own an interest in or buy or sell for their own accounts, the same securities which may be purchased or sold for the account of advisory clients. First Allied conducts computerized surveillances and periodic on-site audits and file reviews designed to detect evidence of insider trading and other conflicts of interest. Principals, representatives, and employees of First Allied may have responsibilities to Affiliates or, in the case of representatives, to non-affiliated entities. Certain administrative and payroll expenses for employees of any Affiliate in the Financial Services Group may be allocated among the Affiliates. Item of Form (identify)	Answer
Item 5	Code of Ethics As part of its internal compliance program, First Allied has adopted policies and procedures imposing certain conditions on transactions for accounts of its IARs and associated persons. Such policies and procedures are designed to prevent any improper conduct when potential conflicts of interest may exist with respect to a client, among other things. Additionally, restrictions are periodically imposed by First Allied to address potential conflicts of interest arising from First Allied's business as a broker-dealer. First Allied adopts various procedures to guard against insider trading, pursuant to which information known within one area may not be distributed to other areas . Representatives Providing Advisory Services First Allied managed products and services are generally offered by investment adviser representatives ("IAR") registered with First Allied. Education and Business Standards: First Allied generally requires that individuals involved in determining or giving investment advice meet the requirements for dispensing investment advice in any state in which the IAR intends to prospect advisory clients. These requirements may include IAR registration in the state, qualification by exam (Series 65 or equivalent), qualification demonstrated by experience as allowed by the individual state, or professional certification. In addition, First Allied requires that each IAR possess licenses and/or experience to meet minimum state registration requirements and adequately perform job functions. IAR's possessing a FINRA Series 6 or Series 7 must have valid securities registration in states where they are registered as an IAR. There is no assurance that the level of experience and service each individual IAR provides is uniform. First Allied IARs may conduct advisory business under their own business name. Investors may review a complete listing of business names First Allied IARs utilize by reviewing First Allied's Form ADV Part I, located on the Investment Adviser Public Disclosure website at www.adviserinfo.sec.gov/IAPD and entering "First Allied Securities, Inc." into the Firm Name field. The IAR is responsible for ongoing review of the account, regular communication with the client, and determining that the portfolio selected is appropriate with regard to the client's investment objective. Periodically, the IAR will communicate with the client to reconfirm the client's investment objectives and risk tolerance. Account activity is reviewed quarterly by First Allied personnel. The majority of First Allied IARs are registered representatives of First Allied's broker/dealer, although from time to time, First Allied may accept an investment adviser representative who is not a registered representative of a broker/dealer. If the IAR is not registered with the broker/dealer, he/she will not receive brokerage commissions or trailers discussed later in this document (Section titled "Information on All Programs – Mutual Fund Fees and Expenses"). Some First Allied products may also be offered by solicitors, engaged by a registered investment adviser other than First Allied. Please see the section on solicitors below for more information (Section titled "Compensation to First Allied, Affiliates and IARs – Solicitors"). Clients may check the background of their IAR through BrokerCheck, a service provided by Finra, at www.finra.org. IARs who have not been registered with a broker/dealer for the previous two years may not be found through BrokerCheck. Clients may obtain additional information about these IARs by contacting First Allied at (619) 702-9600.

Item 6	Many First Allied IARs are licensed life insurance agents with AEIS and/or a third-party insurance general agency. The principal and advisory affiliates of First Allied are licensed with several life, disability, and other insurance companies. IARs may recommend insurance products offered by these companies. An inherent conflict of interest exists since the adviser may receive insurance commissions in addition to advisory fees. First Allied advisory clients will be advised in advance of sources of compensation. Clients are also advised that they are under no obligation to purchase insurance products through AEIS, First Allied or First Allied IARs. IARs may recommend securities or asset management products offered by First Allied or its affiliates. If clients purchase these products through First Allied or an affiliate, First Allied, the IAR, and/or the affiliate may receive the normal commissions or fees. Thus, a potential conflict exists between First Allied's interests and those of First Allied advisory clients. The client is under no obligation to purchase products First Allied recommends, or to purchase products through First Allied or its affiliates. IARs of First Allied Securities, Inc. may engage in outside business activities that are not subject to securities regulations. These businesses are monitored for potential conflicts of interest by the First Allied Compliance and Supervision departments to the extent required by regulations. First Allied Principals Following is brief description including the name, year of birth, formal education after high school and business background for the preceding five years for each principal executive officer of the applicant or each person with similar status or performing similar functions. Adam Nicholas Antoniades, born 1964, President and Chief Executive Officer of First Allied since August 2007, and Chairman of First Allied since July 2008. 	another approved custodian. The use of an outside custodian will not change the fee structure. The custodian provides clients with confirmation of all transactions and monthly account statements, unless the client has opted for confirmation suppression in writing. For some products, First Allied or, in the case of wrap fee programs, a co-sponsor or the wrap-fee sponsor, provides clients with a quarterly performance report of their accounts, containing statistical reviews and analyses of the accounts. IARs may provide clients with performance reports generated through Albridge, at the discretion of the IAR or the request of the client. Reports generated by First Allied or the wrap fee sponsor for Private Client Services and Managed Account Command may be “household” or aggregated to include all accounts owned by a family, at the request of the client. Account Minimums: The minimum stated for each product may be waived by the IAR, First Allied, and the investment manager under certain circumstances. Waivers may be granted in situations where a client intends to make additional contributions to the account sufficient to meet the minimum or if the IAR manages accounts for immediate family members of the prospective client, bringing the overall family account values to the minimum account size. General Overview of Client Fees: Unless otherwise noted, the annual fee is payable quarterly in advance, based on the market value of the account(s) on the last calendar day of each calendar quarter. Some accounts introduced to First Allied through a merger may charge fees in arrears on a quarterly or semi-annual basis. For those accounts billed in arrears, accounts will be debited at the end of each calendar period based upon the month end market value of the account. The fee for portfolio management will be charged as an annual percentage of assets under management, according to the schedule shown for each product. Fees for these accounts may be negotiable, as determined by the individual IAR servicing the account. The fee will be payable on the business day following the end of the previous calendar quarter. The fee for the portion of the first quarter the account(s) is managed will be calculated on a pro rata basis. In the event a large deposit occurs mid-quarter, the fee will be recalculated at quarter-end and the account will be billed a second fee, in arrears, on the additional deposits. Fees charged are not calculated on the basis of a share of capital gains upon or capital appreciation of the funds or any portion of the funds of an advisory client. Fees for Select, Private Client Services, and Managed Account Command may be “household” or aggregated to include all accounts owned by a family, at the request of the client. Although the majority of securities held in managed accounts have daily liquidity and valuation, from time to time, securities with longer-term liquidity and valuation may be purchased in a managed account. IAR or client may designate certain holdings in a client account as not eligible to be included in the calculation of the management fee. Typically, this occurs when the IAR has received a commission on the security in the recent past or when the client directs that an account or a portion of an account not be deployed into the selected program. All assets held in Fund Allocator accounts will be included for billing purposes. For consulting and financial planning, IARs may charge a fixed flat or hourly rate or a percentage of assets in the client’s portfolio for investment advice and/or advisory services. These fees are negotiable at the discretion of the IAR and shall be disclosed to the client in advance of rendering any consulting or financial planning services. These fees may be payable

	in advance or in arrears for a period of time to be specified in the investment advisory agreement and agreed to in writing by both the client and the IAR. Client may authorize the custodian holding client funds and securities to deduct First Allied advisory fees from the client's managed account or another account client has custodied through First Allied at Pershing, JP Morgan, or other approved custodian, in accordance with statements prepared and submitted to the custodian by First Allied. For all products except Fund Allocator, fees may be paid directly to First Allied by the client. The custodian will provide periodic account statements to the client no less than quarterly. Such statements will reflect all fee withdrawals by First Allied. It is the client's responsibility to verify the accuracy of the fee calculation. The custodian will not determine whether the fee is properly calculated. Clients who participate in the programs or retain the services described in this brochure and who pay inclusive fees for a variety of services may pay more or less for such services than if they purchase such services separately. Factors that bear upon the cost of First Allied fee-based programs in relation to the cost of the same services if purchased separately include the type and size of the account, the expected number of trades in the account and the range of supplementary advisory and client related services provided to the account, among other things. Certain IARs may impose a minimum dollar requirement of assets under management, within the parameters established in this document and the investment advisory agreement (i.e., IARs may impose higher minimums to accept an account for management, but accounts valued lower than minimums established in this document may only be accepted with First Allied's approval). IAR will disclose the fee range to the client in advance of any advisory services and the fee charged to each client will be established prior to any service and will be based on both the nature and total dollar value of that account. In addition to the fees specified above and any dealer mark-ups, clients of First Allied may pay additional fees, certain odd lot differentials, exchange fees, transfer taxes, electronic funds and wire transfer fees, or custodial fees in connection with trust service. An account service schedule detailing these fees is provided to the client upon opening of an account. In addition to fees paid for First Allied advisory services, mutual funds generally charge an additional advisory or management fee. Unless otherwise stated, transactions are effected "net," (i.e., without commission), and a portion of the fee is generally considered as being in lieu of commissions. The client should consider that, depending on activity in the account, clients may pay more or less if they were to effect the transactions in a brokerage account or directly with a mutual fund company. Brokerage Charges/Commissions. IARs may provide advice to clients regarding brokerage products. If the client implements this advice through the IAR, First Allied, its affiliates, and/or the IAR may receive additional compensation in the form of brokerage commissions. First Allied receives transaction-based commissions in its separate capacity as a FINRA member broker/dealer. The IAR would receive this commission in their separate capacity as a Financial Consultant. This method of compensation would be fully disclosed to the client on the trade confirmation. For managed client accounts involving any brokerage commissions and/or transaction charges, a schedule of these commission/transaction charges must be included in the Investment Management Agreement prior to execution of the contract by both the client and IAR. Fees may be waived for brokerage commissions at the IAR's discretion.

	Mutual Fund Fees and Expenses. All fees paid to First Allied for investment advisory services are separate and distinct from the fees and expenses charged by mutual funds to their shareholders. Fees and expenses charged by mutual funds are described in each fund's prospectus. These fees will generally include a management fee, other fund expenses, and a possible distribution fee. If the fund also imposes sales charges, a client may pay an initial or deferred sales charge. The IAR may receive a portion or all of this sales charge/commission in their separate capacities as Financial Consultants. IAR may also receive 12(b) 1 fees in this manner. A client may also have the ability to invest in a mutual fund directly, without the services of First Allied and/or the IAR. In that case, the client would not receive the services provided by First Allied and/or IAR which are designed, among other things, to assist the client in determining which mutual fund or funds are most appropriate to each client's financial condition and objectives. Accordingly, the client should review both the fees charged by the funds and the fees charged by First Allied and/or the IAR to fully understand the total amount of fees to be paid by the client. Compensation to First Allied, Affiliates and IARs First Allied receives a portion of each management fee charged to the client based on the contract in place between First Allied and the IAR. A portion of the fees and charges imposed by First Allied programs offered herein may be paid to the IAR, solicitors, investment managers, and co-sponsors. The amount of the fees received by the IAR may or may not be greater if the client participates in a wrap fee program instead of paying separately for investment advice, brokerage and other services. The portion of the fee received by IARs may vary, based on the total relationship between the IAR and First Allied or affiliates of First Allied. First Allied may, at the discretion of management, reduce its share of this fee, thereby increasing the IAR's portion of management fees, based on the overall assets under management by an IAR, either with First Allied or in a specific program. Clients' fees are not increased by this arrangement. Because of this the IAR may have a financial incentive to recommend certain alternative methods of paying program fees and charges (e.g. wrap fee) over other alternatives (e.g. fee plus commission) or an incentive to recommend certain advisory products over others that are available through First Allied. In some cases, the IAR servicing client accounts may be a salaried employee of First Allied. These IARs may receive bonuses, dependent on their overall production including managed accounts and brokerage and insurance business. These employees may have an incentive to recommend First Allied products and services. The IAR may offer reduced fees to certain clients for managed account and other advisory services, at the discretion of the IAR. Reduced fees are typically offered to family members of the IAR and may be offered to In most cases, for discretionary accounts, First Allied has complete discretion over the compensation to be paid to effect securities transactions so long as that compensation is in line with the transaction charges stated in the investment advisory agreement. First Allied may buy for the accounts of advisory clients securities from underwriters or dealers in public offerings at prices that include compensation to the underwriters or dealers. First Allied receives marketing support and sponsorship at First Allied-sponsored conferences.

	The IAR does not receive any benefits directly from mutual fund companies other than the aforementioned 12(b) 1 fees. First Allied may exercise agreements with other Registered Investment Advisers and recommend other Advisers to clients. In such instances, First Allied receives a portion of the account fee or commissions. The client is under no obligation to use the services of the other Adviser(s) First Allied recommends. The client will receive a "Compensation Disclosure Statement" when/if First Allied makes these recommendations. In instances of a "wrap fee" program, clients will receive a Schedule H wrap fee brochure in lieu of the Form ADV Part II disclosures. The Schedule H is prepared by the outside money manager. Solicitors. First Allied may pay cash fees to third parties who provide referrals for potential advisory clients to First Allied. Referred clients will not pay higher fees because of these arrangements. All solicitors' agreements are in compliance with the Investment Adviser Act of 1940 Section 275.206(4)-3. All clients procured by solicitors will be given full written disclosures describing the terms and fee arrangements between the adviser and the solicitor prior to or at the time of entering into the advisory agreement. First Allied's Relationship with Mutual Fund Companies, Insurance Companies and Other Product Sponsors. As representatives of an independent broker/dealer, First Allied Financial Consultants have the ability to build investment portfolios based on the specific needs and goals of each individual client. First Allied offers a wide variety of approved products and programs including stocks, bonds, options, mutual funds, annuities, life insurance, alternative investments, college savings plans, and asset management programs. Because there are hundreds of investment choices within this universe of approved products, First Allied's marketing resources are focused on a select group of companies (the "Product Sponsors") that offer a broad spectrum of products and meet First Allied's due diligence criteria. The Product Sponsors have greater access to our Financial Consultants to market, train and educate them on their products and industry related topics with the intent to better serve their mutual clients. It is important to know that although the Product Sponsors pay extra compensation to First Allied and/or its affiliates; clients do not pay more to purchase these products through First Allied than clients would pay to purchase them through another broker-dealer. The payment of this additional compensation to First Allied by these Product Sponsors may pose a financial incentive for us to promote certain products over other products, although we believe that these arrangements do not compromise the advice provided by First Allied Financial Consultants. Companies that are not Product Sponsors may at times send First Allied payments in recognition of our sales and marketing efforts, and may have additional opportunities to provide marketing services to our Financial Consultants. Also, both Product Sponsors and other companies may pay marketing allowances to First Allied in connection with the sale of certain products and for training and education meetings for our Financial Consultants. Both Product Sponsors and other companies may also reimburse up to 100% of the cost of due diligence, training and education/joint marketing meetings for our Financial Consultants, as permitted by industry rules. Sales of any products by First Allied Financial Consultants may qualify them for additional cash and non-cash compensation that may include support for their business activities, attendance at seminars, conferences and entertainment. Additionally, some investments, whether issued by Product Sponsors or not, may pay higher rates of compensation than others (for example, commissions on equities are usually greater than those on bonds, and private placement offerings generally carry higher commissions than investments in publicly traded securities). Complete disclosure including the names of companies who have paid this compensation to First

	Allied may be obtained at www.firstallied.com or by contacting First Allied in writing. Insurance and Annuities. IARs may at times provide advice to clients regarding life insurance and annuities for a fee. If the client implements this advice through the IAR, the IAR may receive additional compensation in the form of a commission from the life insurance/annuity company. The IAR receives this commission in their separate capacity as insurance agents, insurance brokers, or registered representatives. Participation or Interest in Client Transactions. Payment for Order Flow. From time to time, First Allied may direct equity trades to certain third market execution providers ("third market") in an effort to obtain best execution for client transactions. In the event that a trade is directed to the third market, First Allied may receive order flow payment. The order flow payment is generally greater for securities with larger spreads between the bid and ask prices. As a result, a conflict of interest may exist in regard to where trades are directed. It is the intention of First Allied to utilize these market centers only when it appears that the client will receive the most favorable price. Margin Interest. First Allied receives a rebate on all margin interest for accounts custodied through Pershing and JP Morgan. As a result, a conflict of interest exists with the establishment and maintenance of margin accounts and with First Allied's added incentive to recommend higher levels of margin to clients. First Allied and certain IARs receive a rebate on money market balances maintained with certain money market funds. This rebate is less than or equal to 0.0025% of the combined balances in these funds. When acting in its investment adviser capacity, IARs and First Allied may utilize money market funds for client accounts in "sweep" arrangements under which a client's cash balances automatically are invested in such funds. Such investments will result in First Allied earning advisory, distribution and other fees in addition to the fees described herein. Principal Trades. Current regulations place substantial limits on the ability of First Allied to execute principal trades for investment advisory clients, for fixed income and certain other securities generally traded on a principal basis. Accordingly, trades involving such securities for clients of the programs described in this brochure generally are executed by dealers other than First Allied. Should it be in the best interest of the client to execute a principal trade, First Allied will provide the required disclosure to the client and obtain the client's consent prior to settlement of the trade. Dealers executing principal trades typically include a mark-up or spread in the net price at which the transaction is executed. As a result, such trades will include the payment of mark-ups or similar compensation to such unaffiliated dealers. Principal transactions in which First Allied buys or sells a security from its own inventory from or to a client, may be effected with investment advisory clients only after appropriate disclosure is made by First Allied and consent obtained from client. Significant conflicts of interest exist in principal transactions, including the possibility that the client could receive a better price if the trade were transacted in a non-principal capacity and First Allied's incentive to generate a profit by buying or selling from its own inventory. Unless otherwise specified, all executions must be effected through First Allied. With most First Allied advisory products, the Investment Adviser Representative may act as both an Investment Manager and broker/dealer Financial Consultant for an advisory client. Mutual Fund Trailers. As such, a substantial conflict of interest may exist with respect to recommendations to buy or sell securities. Such conflicts are disclosed in the applicable advisory contract with clients. Incentive Awards. First Allied IARs are eligible to receive incentive prizes or awards offered by product promoters. The policy of First Allied is to permit all representatives to accept such awards and prizes to the extent that they are usual and customary within the industry and in compliance with the Securities and Exchange Commission, Financial Industry Regulatory Authority, or state rules, regulations or guidelines concerning the receipt of such awards or incentives. First Allied, in accordance with Financial Industry Regulatory Authority regulations, generally must recognize compensations awards, and prizes as commissions and report them to the Internal Revenue Service as revenues. Termination of Managed Account(s) The Account may be terminated by any party at any time upon five days written notice to the other party. Client agrees that such termination will not affect the liabilities or obligations of the parties under this Agreement which arise from transactions initiated prior to termination. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary herein, Client shall have the right to terminate the Agreement without fee or penalty within five (5) business days of the execution of this Agreement. If the Account is liquidated as the result of a termination notice, Account assets will be payable to Client within ten (10) days of liquidation, subject to normal brokerage settlement terms. If Client sends written notice to terminate this Agreement after five (5) business days of execution of this Agreement, Client will receive a pro-rated refund of the pre-paid fee for the applicable quarter based upon the number of days remaining in the quarter after termination. Should the IAR terminate his/her relationship with First Allied and the client's account remains with First Allied, First Allied may assign the account to an IAR who is registered in the client's home state, at First Allied's discretion. Important Considerations No Guarantee: There is no guarantee that the advisory services offered will result in the client's goals and objectives being met. Nor is there any guarantee of profit or protection from loss. No assumption can be made that any wrap fee arrangement, timing service, portfolio management service, or other advisory service of any nature will provide a better return than other less sophisticated investment strategies. Arbitration: Any controversy or claim between Client and First Allied, including, but not limited to, errors and omissions arising out of or relating to our Agreement or the breach thereof, shall be settled by arbitration in accordance with the securities arbitration rules then in effect with FINRA, and judgment upon the award rendered by the arbitrator(s) may be entered in any court having jurisdiction thereof. Information about each manager is available upon request. GUIDED PORTFOLIO SOLUTIONS Guided Portfolio Solutions ("GPS") is a comprehensive fee-based platform offering a full spectrum of fee-based products and solutions. The platform includes mutual fund and ETF advisory, advisor-directed, separately managed account, and unified managed account products. GPS leverages the Folio Dynamix technology, which includes proposal generation, trading, performance reporting, research and billing services. GPS accounts are custodied at Pershing or, on a limited basis, another approved custodian. Currently, only the mutual fund wrap product is available for client use. First Allied anticipates introducing the remaining GPS modules over the next 12 months. As each module is introduced, additional disclosure will be added to this document. IARs utilizing GPS for advisory clients will obtain risk and suitability information from the client sufficient to complete a risk tolerance assessment and Investor Policy Statement ("IPS"). Risk and suitability information will be used to provide investment recommendations to the client, contained in the IPS. Information collected will include client identifying information, anticipated portfolio size, tax status, investment horizon, risk tolerance, and investment objective(s). The IPS is used to establish standards for management of the portfolio, define investment parameters designed to reduce risk, identify constraints for portfolio management, and establish the methodology for evaluating manager performance and rebalancing parameters. The IPS is developed with input from the Client, who is afforded the opportunity to adjust the recommendations in writing. Clients must demonstrate acceptance of the IPS through their signature. FUND ALLOCATOR Fund Allocator is a turnkey managed mutual fund wrap program that utilizes five custom market models, each with low or high tax-sensitive options, managed by Advanced Equities Asset Management ("AEAM"), an affiliated registered investment adviser. IARs will assist clients, based on the IPS, in selecting the appropriate investment style(s). These investment styles include Income (initial target allocation of 20% equities/80% fixed income), Growth & Income (initial target allocation of 40% equities/60% fixed income), Moderate Growth (initial target allocation of 60% equities/40% fixed income), Growth (initial target allocation of 80% equities/20% fixed income), and Equity (initial target allocation of 100% equities). AEAM uses Modern Portfolio Theory to dynamically manage each asset class to combat market volatility and provide long-term, risk-adjusted returns. AEAM is responsible for conducting due diligence, screening, and ranking each mutual fund used within Fund Allocator. AEAM uses cost-efficient share classes of mutual funds, such as A shares at net asset value or institutional shares, that AEAM has identified as having historically shown a propensity to outperform their benchmarks and/or manage downside risk and are complementary to one another from a portfolio construction perspective. AEAM receives a portion of the wrap fee for these services. The minimum account size for Fund Allocator is $25,000. Accounts with lower minimums may

be accepted at the discretion of First Allied. Exceptions will be based on the overall client relationship with First Allied or client commitment to meet the account minimum within a reasonable timeframe.

Clients pay an all-inclusive wrap fee for portfolio management, investment advisory services by IAR, execution services, and custodial services. The maximum client fee for Fund Allocator is 2.50% of assets, payable quarterly in advance. Clients pay reduced fees for larger accounts:

Maximum Program Fee
$0 - $250,000	2.50%
$250,001 - $500,000	2.00%
$500,001 - $1,000,000	1.50%
$1,000,000 - $2,000,000	1.30%
Over $2,000,000	1.25%

Trailers or 12b-1 fees received by First Allied from the mutual fund companies are reinvested into the client account(s). As Fund Allocator fees are negotiable with the IAR, Client may pay more or less than another client for the same services. Client fees may be debited directly from the Fund Allocator account or from another designated account held through First Allied. Client will not receive an invoice detailing the advisory fee calculation: the amount debited from the account will appear on the custodial statement of the account the Client has indicated the fee should be debited from.

The wrap-fee is distributed between First Allied, AEAM, IAR, and the custodian. IAR receives a larger portion of the fee for larger accounts, which may create a conflict of interest for IAR.

Quarterly performance reports are available to the IAR to provide to Client. Client will also receive a statement from the custodian on a monthly basis or, if there is no activity in the account, on a quarterly basis.

FIRST ALLIED ETF SELECT

First Allied Select ("Select") is a wrap-fee program offering services that include portfolio management by affiliated investment advisers and investment advisory services by IARs, execution services, or custodial and cash management services. Clients in Select work with an IAR to determine an investment objective and, upon determining that Select is appropriate for the client, select a suitable Select portfolio.

Portfolios in Select are managed by Advanced Equities Asset Management, Inc., ("AEAM") an affiliate registered investment adviser.

Using the guidance provided by the IAR, the client selects a core portfolio from those included in the Select program. AEAM individually manages the client's portfolio through the client's account held at Pershing. First Allied does not manage Select accounts and does not exercise any discretion in Select accounts.

In this program the client enters into an investment advisory agreement with First Allied (the wrap sponsor) and with AEAM. Although clients are not prohibited from directly contacting AEAM, clients are encouraged to work directly with their First Allied IAR.

For ERISA and IRA accounts, First Allied utilizes an offset method to account for certain 12b-1 and other marketing payments that First Allied may receive, and so the stated highest annual fee for ERISA and IRA Select accounts is 2.75%, although in all cases the maximum annual fee amount actually deducted from the ERISA and IRA client accounts will be 2.5%, with the balance of 0.25% being offset through First Allied's receipt, if any, of 12b-1 and other marketing payments from certain mutual fund companies. AEAM is compensated with a portion of the total fee paid by the client. The amount of this compensation may or may not be more than AEAM would have received if the client paid separately for AEAM's or other third-party managers' investment advice or participated in other programs. AEAM may have a financial incentive to recommend the program over other programs or services. Details of the Select program can be found in the First Allied Form ADV Schedule H. FIRST ALLIED MANAGED ACCOUNT COMMAND First Allied Managed Account Command ("MAC") is a wrap-fee program offering services that include investment advice by third-party investment advisers, reporting, execution services, or custodial and cash management services. Through a relationship with Pershing/Lockwood, clients in the MAC program work with a First Allied representative or solicitor's representative (collectively referred to as "IARs") to develop an investment policy statement and select one or more participating third-party investment advisers to manage their assets. Using the guidance provided by the IAR, the client selects their participating investment adviser (the "Participating Adviser") from among those advisers included in the MAC program. Each Participating Adviser individually manages a client's portfolio held at Pershing. First Allied does not manage MAC accounts and does not exercise any discretion in MAC accounts. Participating Advisers in the MAC program are selected by First Allied from advisers determined by Pershing/Lockwood through a due diligence process. Although the majority of Participating Advisers are all independently registered and not affiliated with First Allied, clients may utilize Advanced Equities Asset Management ("AEAM"), an affiliate registered investment adviser, through MAC. In this program the client enters into an investment advisory agreement with First Allied (the wrap sponsor) and with the selected Participating Adviser. Clients may pay a higher fee for accessing AEAM's services through MAC than by accessing the same or substantially similar services through First Allied Select. Although clients are not prohibited from directly contacting the Participating Adviser retained to manage their accounts, clients are encouraged to work directly with their IAR. MAC fees are based on a percentage of assets under management, with "breakpoints" (fee reductions) for larger accounts. The IAR will assist the client in selecting one or more investment management firms to provide day-to-day portfolio management of client accounts based on each client's objectives and circumstances. All investment managers are evaluated by the wrap program sponsors and/or First Allied before being considered eligible to participate in the ACM program. Each such manager provides the product sponsor with relevant documentation, which may include sample portfolios, asset allocation histories, copies of Form ADV, past performance information, marketing literature, key personnel biographies and other relevant documents. The continued recommendation of investment managers is subject to ongoing review by the wrap sponsor. The sponsor and First Allied periodically review a broad range of factors in order to determine whether the manager is likely to be successful in meeting client objectives. Factors considered include investment performance, staffing, operational issues, disciplinary history and financial conditions. If, as a result of its ongoing evaluation, First Allied finds it necessary and in the client's best interest to either remove the investment management company from its approved list or recommend the termination of the management firm, First Allied will inform the client and attempt to obtain the client's permission to terminate the relationship. In the event that the client requests the continued management of the client's assets by a terminated manager, the client may be allowed to maintain such relationship. ACM is available only on the basis of an all inclusive wrap fee paid to First Allied. 	tolerance, market sophistication and financial goals. Account supervision is guided by the stated objectives of the client (i.e., maximum capital appreciation, growth, income, or growth and income). Each portfolio is designed to meet a particular investment goal which the IAR has determined is suitable to the client's circumstances. Once the appropriate portfolio has been determined, the portfolio will be continuously managed based on the portfolio's goals, and on each client's individual needs. Each client has the opportunity to place reasonable restrictions on the types of investments to be held in the portfolio, which, if applicable, should be stated, in writing, in the Investment Management Agreement in the space provided. When appropriate to the needs of the client, IAR may recommend the use of trading (securities sold within 30 days), short sales, margin transactions and/or option writing. Because these investment strategies involve a generally higher degree of risk, they will only be recommended when consistent with the client's stated tolerance for risk and investment objectives. FINANCIAL PLANNING First Allied's IARs may offer financial plans for a fixed or hourly fee. Fees charged by one IAR may differ from fees charged by another IAR and are determined by the IAR. Fees are based on the complexity of the plan and the qualifications of the IAR. Fixed fees range from $200 to $10,000. First Allied may, upon approval from the Compliance Department, approve an IAR charging more for a financial plan. Hourly fees range from $100 to $500. Fees are shared between the IAR and First Allied. In some instances clients may choose to retain a First Allied IAR to provide regular (annually or quarterly) updates to the financial plan. Contracts for financial plans that result in fees of more than $5,000 are reviewed by the First Allied Compliance Department to ensure the IAR's qualifications and the scope of the plan justifies the fee. First Allied's Compliance and Supervision Departments randomly review financial plans to verify the qualifications of the IAR and the scope of the plan justify the fee charged. Fees for financial planning services are negotiable based on several factors including but not limited to: the time involved in the production of the plan, the specificity or depth of the plan, and the range of services provided. Commissions upon implementation of the plan may be in addition to any pre-arranged fee. On occasion, the fee may be waived upon implementation of the plan. Fees for financial planning services will be agreed upon in advance. First Allied and IAR may have a conflict with respect to advice provided in the Financial Plan because First Allied and/or the IAR may receive securities or insurance commissions or other compensation from products purchased as a result of the recommendations contained in the Financial Plan. The Client understands that he or she is under no obligation to implement the Financial Plan by executing transactions or purchasing financial products such as insurance or annuity contracts through IAR and/or First Allied. If the Client chooses at his or her sole discretion to effect transactions through IAR with First Allied, IAR may act as a registered representative for First Allied, and in connection with those transactions, First Allied and IAR shall collect transaction fees, including commissions, separate from and in addition to the Financial Plan Fee charged hereunder. Because of IAR's brokerage licensure with First Allied, in formulating the Financial Plan IAR may consider only the financial products (other than certain fixed insurance products) offered through First Allied. As a result, the Financial Plan and/or its implementation may not be comprehensive because IAR may not recommend the use of financial products that otherwise might be appropriate investments but that are not offered through First Allied. Financial plans are held to certain guidelines and plan software or outline will be pre-approved

First Allied has entered into agreements with third-party vendors for First Allied investment adviser representatives to use software for financial planning clients. Through an agreement with an affiliate registered investment adviser, Greenbook Investment Management, ("GBIM") IARs may provide clients with a financial plan prepared by GBIM. Fees for these plans will be shared between IAR, First Allied and GBIM. Clients receiving these plans will receive a copy of GBIM's Form ADV Part II. CONSULTING SERVICES First Allied IARs may offer investment advice for specific situations. This advice is typically offered outside the scope of the management of specific client accounts or financial planning. Examples of permissible consulting services include advising a client on specific securities not managed or recommended by the IAR, initial client meeting, advising clients on accounts that are not managed by the IAR, estate distribution, or other situations that require the expertise of an IAR. On a limited basis with prior approval of First Allied management, IARs may charge a fee for services the individual IAR (and his/her supervisor) is qualified to provide. In such instances, the services must be related to the financial industry. Fees for consulting services will be agreed upon by the client and the IAR as either an hourly or flat fee. Half the fee is payable in advance with the balance due at the time the advice is delivered to the client. Hourly fees may be billed at a rate between $100 and $500 per hour. Flat fees exceeding $2,500 will be reviewed by the Compliance or Supervision Department of First Allied. Fees are shared between First Allied and the IAR. Advice given to clients on a consulting basis may differ from advice given to managed clients or brokerage clients. Consulting clients may receive the same advice elsewhere for lower fees. Neither First Allied nor the IAR is responsible for implementation of consulting advice unless the client retains First Allied and the IAR to implement the advice by entering into a management agreement or executing transactions in a brokerage account through First Allied. Other Investment Advisory Business: First Allied may, in addition, provide investment advice concerning limited partnerships in cable television, leasing, venture capital, real estate investment trusts, managed futures offerings and debt related real estate offerings among other things. Clients may also arrange for advice of a financial nature, not specifically related to securities. TOOLS and OTHER SOURCES OF INFORMATION: For managed accounts offered through First Allied, the IAR may use asset allocation software to help determine objectives and risk tolerance for clients. Based on the analysis provided by the software, the IAR is able to determine the client's tolerance to risk. The software is used to optimize the client's portfolio and assist the IAR in selecting an appropriate investor portfolio, which offers diversification consistent with varied levels of risk tolerance and in selecting individual securities (including mutual funds) within the scope of that portfolio. Some IARs may analyze individual securities but generally IARs provide overall plan allocation. First Allied has an arrangement with various wrap fee sponsors to perform due diligence and reporting services on available money managers. The wrap fee sponsors also assist representatives in selecting a manager that is appropriate for the client's investment objectives. INVESTMENT OR BROKERAGE DISCRETION: As part of its primary business as a broker-dealer, First Allied effects securities transactions for its brokerage and advisory clients. With respect to PAM and PAM II accounts and upon approval, the IAR may be granted the authority to determine the securities to be bought and sold,

INTRODUCTION

First Allied Securities, Inc. (“First Allied”) and its affiliated investment adviser representatives (“IARs”) provide a variety of services designed to meet the varying investment advisory and related needs of individual clients.

First Allied offers Prime Asset Management II (“PAM II”), in which IARs provide clients investment advisory services and guidance in securities selection for one all-inclusive fee. Other services included in the programs are trade execution, custody and performance reporting. First Allied offers these consulting services to individuals, pension and profit sharing plans, trusts, estates or charitable organizations, and corporate entities.

In First Allied Managed Account Command (“MAC”), First Allied offers consulting services to clients through an agreement with Pershing/Lockwood (“Lockwood”). In this program, First Allied assists clients in selecting investment advisory services provided by participating third-party investment advisers for an all-inclusive fee.

In ETF Select, First Allied offers portfolio management through an affiliate, Advanced Equities Asset Management, for one all-inclusive fee. In this program, First Allied IARs offer investment advisory services and guidance in determining the appropriate ETF Select portfolio or strategy in which to invest. First Allied Private Client Services is also available through Select. Other services included in the programs are trade execution, custody and performance reporting. First Allied offers these consulting services to individuals, pension and profit sharing plans, trusts, estates or charitable organizations, and corporate entities.

PAM II PROGRAM

Clients in the PAM II program work with a First Allied IAR to select securities for the client’s account. First Allied, through its IARs, will obtain sufficient client information to be able to assist the client in determining investment objectives and financial goals. Each IAR individually manages a client’s portfolio. All PAM II accounts are eligible for the IAR to have discretion over mutual fund selections. If requested by the client, and upon approval from First Allied management, individual IARs may retain discretion over other securities in the PAM II account, such as stocks, bonds and covered call options.

The minimum for PAM II accounts is $50,000. From time to time, account minimums may be waived. The minimum may be waived by the IAR and First Allied under certain circumstances. Waivers may be granted in situations where a client intends to make additional contributions to the account sufficient to meet the minimum or if the IAR manages accounts for family members of the prospective client, bringing the overall family account values to the minimum account size.

First Allied IARs base investment decisions for client accounts on suitability information provided by the client, including birth date, income and net worth, employment information, account value, account holdings, investment objective, and any reasonable restrictions the client may place on the account. The Client should notify First Allied in writing if client’s financial situation or investment objectives change or reasonable account restrictions change.

The client agrees that the client, not First Allied, will vote proxies relating to assets in the account(s). The client may revoke this authorization at any time in writing addressed to First Allied, indicating another person who will vote proxies in the account(s).

Reports/Account Reviews

The client will receive Quarterly Performance Measurement Summary Reports for the account with a description of all account activity.

The IAR servicing the account is responsible for reviewing the accounts on at least a quarterly basis. IARs are supervised by a DRP. The DRP is obliged to review the accounts at least quarterly and is responsible for ongoing supervision. In addition, the First Allied Compliance and Supervision Departments are provided with a variety of exception reports and undertake regular review to help identify problem situations. Exception reports are designed to detect transactions in designated securities, excessive transactions, front-running, and suitability issues, among others.

FEES

Schedule of Fees

Annual fee to First Allied:

$ Value of Account Assets	Per Quarter Account Fee	Annual Account Fee
First $50,000 to $250,000	0.625%	2.5%
Next $250,000 to $750,000	0.5625%	2.25%
Next $750,000 to $2,000,000	0.4375%	1.75%
Amounts Over $2,000,000	Negotiable	Negotiable

The fee for the account is payable quarterly in advance, based on the asset value of the account(s) on the last calendar day of each calendar quarter. The fee will be payable on the business day following the end of the previous calendar quarter. The fee for the portion of the first quarter the account(s) is managed will be calculated on a pro rata basis.

Fees are negotiable based on a number of factors, including the types of securities in which the account is invested, which may result in a client paying a fee which is less than the standard fee, or more or less than other PAM II clients. Fees are prorated and payable quarterly in advance.

The IAR is compensated with a portion of the fee. The amount of this compensation may or may not be more than that which would be received by the IAR if the client paid separately for investment advice, brokerage and other services, or participated in other programs offered by First Allied. The IAR may therefore have a financial incentive to recommend the program over other programs and services.

FIRST ALLIED MANAGED ACCOUNT COMMAND PROGRAM

Clients in the First Allied Managed Account Command (“MAC”) program work with an IAR to develop an investment policy statement and select one or more participating third-party investment advisers (“Participating Adviser”) to manage their assets. IAR’s may use software provided by Lockwood to develop the investment policy statement and select the participating third-party advisers. First Allied, through its IARs, will obtain sufficient client information to be able to assist the client in determining their investment objectives and financial goals. Using the guidance provided by the IAR, the client selects the Participating Adviser from among those advisers included in the MAC program. Each Participating Adviser individually manages a client’s portfolio held at Pershing. First Allied does not manage MAC accounts and does not exercise any discretion in MAC accounts. Participating Advisers in the MAC program are selected by First Allied from a universe of investment advisers pre-determined by Lockwood. Lockwood evaluates this universe of advisers for the MAC program.

The minimum for MAC equity accounts is $100,000. The minimum for MAC fixed income accounts is $250,000. For each Participating Adviser selected, a separate account will be required.

First Allied may provide the Participating Adviser(s) with information about the client in order for the Participating Adviser to provide retained services, including but not limited to, client name, Social Security number, suitability information (including birth date, income and net worth), address, employment information, account number, account value, account holdings, investment objective, any options the client has selected such as householding, and any reasonable restrictions the client may place on the account. The client should notify First Allied in writing if the client’s financial situation or investment objectives change. The client should also notify the Participating Adviser in writing if the client’s reasonable account restrictions change.

The client agrees that the Participating Adviser or the client, not First Allied or Lockwood, will vote proxies relating to assets in the account(s). The client may revoke this authorization at any time in writing addressed to First Allied, indicating another person who will vote proxies in the account(s). For employee benefit plans subject to ERISA, the Participating Adviser has been delegated the right, or has accepted discretion, to vote proxies that pertain to assets in the account(s).

Reports/Account Reviews

The client will receive Quarterly Performance Summary Reports for the account with a description of all account activity.

The IAR servicing the account is responsible for reviewing the accounts on at least a quarterly basis. IARs are supervised by a DRP. The DRP is obliged to review the accounts at least quarterly and is responsible for ongoing supervision. In addition, the First Allied Compliance and Supervision Departments are provided with a variety of exception reports and undertake regular review to help identify problem situations. Exception reports are designed to detect transactions in designated securities, front-running, and suitability issues, among others.

FEES

Schedule of Fees

Annual fee to First Allied and Lockwood:

Account Asset Value	Maximum Annual Fee
	Equity/Balanced	ETF/Fixed Income
On the first $500,000	3.00%	2.00%
On the next $500,000	2.50%	2.00%
Assets over $1,000,000	2.25%	1.50%

Lockwood pays a portion of the MAC fee to the Participating Adviser for its services to the client. The portion of the fee paid to the Participating Adviser ranges from 0.017% to 0.035% of assets under management for fixed-income accounts, 0.04% to 0.075% of assets under management for equity accounts. The portion of the fee paid to the Adviser may be more or less than the fee a client may pay if the client obtained the Adviser’s services directly, depending on the size of the client’s account. Fees to Advisers are paid quarterly in advance.

The MAC fee for the account is payable quarterly in advance, based on the asset value of the account(s) on the last calendar day of each calendar quarter. The fee will be payable on the business day following the end of the previous calendar quarter. The fee for the portion of the first quarter the account(s) is managed will be calculated on a pro rata basis.

Fees are negotiable based on a number of factors, including the types of securities in which the account is invested, which may result in a client paying a fee which is less than the standard fee, or more or less than other MAC clients. Fees are prorated and payable quarterly in advance.

The IAR is compensated with a portion of the fee. The amount of this compensation may or may not be more than that which would be received by the IAR if the client paid separately for investment advice, brokerage and other services, or participated in other programs offered by First Allied, Lockwood, or the Adviser(s). The IAR may therefore have a financial incentive to recommend the program over other programs and services.

FIRST ALLIED ETF SELECT PROGRAM INCLUDING PRIVATE CLIENT SERVICES

Clients in the ETF Select program work with a First Allied IAR to select a portfolio managed by Advanced Equities Asset Management (“AEAM”), a FASI affiliate, for the client’s account. First Allied, through its IARs, will obtain sufficient client information to be able to assist the client in determining investment objectives and financial goals. FASI IARs assist clients in establishing an account custodied at Pershing, LLC for AEAM Portfolio Managers to trade on behalf of the client.

Qualified AEAM employees manage the client’s portfolio on a discretionary basis, utilizing primarily exchange-traded and closed-end funds, although other securities may be included in ETF Select accounts, in the discretion of the Portfolio Manager. FASI IARs do not exercise discretion in ETF Select accounts.

The minimum for ETF Select accounts is $50,000, unless otherwise noted below. From time to time, account minimums may be waived by the IAR, First Allied and AEAM, under certain circumstances. Waivers may be granted in situations where a client intends to make additional contributions to the account sufficient to meet the minimum or if the IAR manages accounts for family members of the prospective client, bringing the overall family account values to the minimum account size, or if the client’s overall relationship with FASI affiliates is substantial.

First Allied IARs base investment decisions for client accounts on suitability information provided by the client, including birth date, income and net worth, employment information, account value, account holdings, investment objective, and any reasonable restrictions the client may place on the account. The Client should notify First Allied in writing if client’s financial situation or investment objectives change or reasonable account restrictions change.

The client agrees that AEAM, not First Allied, will vote proxies relating to assets in the account(s). The client may revoke this authorization at any time in writing addressed to First Allied, indicating another person who will vote proxies in the account(s).

ETF Select portfolios available include:

ETF Select 40 – Growth & Income: The core of the portfolio is allocated to approximately 40% Equity/60% Fixed Income, seeking both capital appreciation and preservation. The portfolio follows an allocation strategy that systematically adjusts as the market outlook changes. For example, in more bearish environments, the fixed income allocation will increase, while in more bullish environments, the equity exposure will increase. The overall equity portion of a Growth & Income portfolio will subsequently vary between 20% and 60% depending on our market outlook.

ETF Select 60 – Moderate Growth: The core of the portfolio is allocated to approximately 60% Equity/40% Fixed Income, seeking both capital appreciation and preservation. The portfolio follows an allocation strategy that systematically adjusts as the market outlook changes. For example, in more bearish environments, the fixed income allocation will increase, while in more bullish environments, the equity exposure will increase. The overall equity portion of a Moderate Growth portfolio will subsequently vary between 40% and 80% depending on our market outlook.

ETF Select 80 – Growth: The core of the portfolio is allocated to approximately 80% Equity/25% Fixed Income, prioritizing capital appreciation over preservation. The portfolio follows an allocation strategy that systematically adjusts as the market outlook changes. For example, in more bearish environments, the fixed income allocation will increase, while in more bullish environments, the equity exposure will increase. The overall equity portion of a Growth portfolio will subsequently vary between 60% and 90% depending on our market outlook.

ETF Select 100 – Equity Growth: The core of the portfolio is allocated to approximately 100% Equity/0% Fixed Income, prioritizing capital appreciation over preservation. The portfolio follows an allocation strategy that systematically adjusts as the market outlook changes so fixed income investments might be held. For example, in more bearish environments, the fixed income allocation will increase, while in more bullish environments, the equity exposure will increase. The overall equity portion of a Growth portfolio will subsequently vary between 70% and 100% depending on our market outlook.

US Large Cap Select: AEAMs' Large Cap Strategy is a separately managed account investing in highly liquid US-listed equities (including ADRs). Its primary objective is to offer clients S&P500 index-like returns with a bias toward downside risk management. The strategy follows a growth at reasonable prices (“GARP”) approach, combining proprietary fundamental and valuation analysis with technical factors to rank-order roughly 1000 large-cap individual securities based upon a risk-adjusted return forecast. The goal is to establish positions in approximately 40-60 securities with strong balance sheets and consistent earnings growth at opportunistic, lower-risk entry points. Sector and style (i.e., growth versus value) weightings are carefully monitored for absolute and relative exposures. The strategy maintains a consistent hedging strategy (by buying instruments designed to go up in value as the market declines) to partially offset some of the portfolio's market risk at all points in time. The amount of hedging is regularly adjusted based upon the firm's custom macro model and the manager's market outlook in order to attempt to produce consistent returns with lower than benchmark volatility. FASI IARs do not exercise discretion in Large Cap Select accounts. The minimum for US Large Cap Select accounts is $25,000.

Terror-Sponsor Free: For certain equity strategies, clients can also choose to have AEAM impose a “terror-free” screen to exclude investing in individual stocks of companies that do business in countries deemed to be state sponsors of terror by the U.S. State Department. This concept of values-based investing is not only socially responsible, but reduces exposure to companies with global security risk. AEAM uses Conflict Securities Advisory Group’s (CSAG) Global Security Risk Monitor database to screen out companies with ties to terrorist sponsoring states, and CSAG reviews model holdings on a quarterly basis to certify the strategy “Terror-Sponsor Free.” FASI IARs do not exercise discretion in Terror-Sponsor Free Select accounts. The minimum for Terror-Sponsor Free Select accounts is $25,000. This model is only available to branch offices upon FASI Executive Management authorization.

Yield Select: AEAM’s Yield Select strategy is a separately managed account that invests in highly liquid U.S.-listed securities, including equities, American Depositary Receipts (ADRs), and closed-end funds (CEFs). Its primary objective is to offer a balance between current income and future growth, with a bias toward downside risk management. The portfolio will be comprised of an income portion that invests in CEFs representing both equity and fixed income asset classes and an equity portion that invests in individual stocks that have a high current yield with the potential for dividend growth and capital appreciation. The goal is to establish a portfolio of approximately 40 positions that is diversified by asset class, sector and size that will generate current income through dividends, interest income and royalty payments with the potential for long-term appreciation. The income portion may be up to 60% of the portfolio. The minimum for Yield Select accounts is $25,000.

First Allied’s Private Client Services

Private Client Services (“PCS”) is separate account management available through the Select wrap fee program. The minimum household size for PCS is $1 million, unless waived by FASI or AEAM. IARs assist the client in determining the best allocation of the strategies described in ETF Select and US Large Cap Select, with additional strategies as described below. AEAM manages the client account on a discretionary basis within the parameters determined by the client and the IAR.

Laddered Individual Muni Bond Portfolio: AEAM works with your IAR and First Allied bond professionals to construct a laddered municipal bond portfolio with a duration designed to correlate to your specific investment time horizon. This laddered bond portfolio is a basket of individual bonds with staggered maturity dates that attempts to help diversify interest rate risk and provide regular cash flow. Bonds will decrease in value as interest rates rise and are subject to both interest rate and credit/default risk.

Structured Products: Structured Products are short-dated investments (typically 18 to 36 months), constructed as a bond and issued by a bank. They do not pay a coupon, but instead pay a return at maturity based on the performance of an index. AEAM utilizes structured products to achieve a portion of the portfolio’s target allocation to asset classes such as Small Cap, International Developed, Emerging Markets, and/or Commodities. Structured Products typically feature a buffer to provide limited downside protection and extra participation on the upside, but frequently have caps that limit total returns. In addition to the risks associated with the underlying index, structured products have issuer risk and lack of liquidity. Holders do not receive dividend payments or voting rights typically associated with the underlying index.

Covered Call Portfolio: This portfolio includes 12-17 individual covered call positions. A covered call involves the simultaneous purchase of a stock and sell of a call option. It provides limited downside protection in exchange for capped upside participation. The strategy uses options to attempt to provide some downside buffer and reduce equity correlation. Positions are diversified by sector, strike price, and expiration. AEAM systematically selects stocks that pass proprietary fundamental and technical screens and have attractive covered call opportunities. Options involve risk and are not suitable for all investors. Prior to buying or selling an option, a person must receive a copy of the Characteristics and Risks of Standardized Options (ODD). This information is provided solely for general education and information purposes and therefore should not be considered complete.

Monetize/Hedge Existing Low-Basis & Concentrated Positions: AEAM has the ability to use option strategies to help provide cash flow from low-basis positions. AEAM can also help create option strategies that hedge some downside risk in these positions or provide a systematic exit plan.

AEAM may employ index option spread techniques for hedging and/or auxiliary income. These techniques involve the concurrent purchase and sale of index options at different contract months and strike prices. AEAM may also engage in covered call and/or put writing or collar strategies surrounding securities held in client accounts.

Reports/Account Reviews

The client may receive Quarterly Performance Measurement Summary Reports for the account with a description of all account activity. The client may request these reports from the IAR at no additional charge.

The IAR servicing the account is responsible for reviewing the accounts on at least a quarterly basis. IARs are supervised by a DRP. The DRP is obliged to review the accounts at least quarterly and is responsible for ongoing supervision. In addition, the First Allied Compliance and Supervision Departments are provided with a variety of exception reports and undertake regular review to help identify problem situations. Exception reports are designed to detect transactions in designated securities, excessive transactions, front-running, and suitability issues, among others.

FEES

Schedule of Fees

The highest annual fee payable for ETF Select accounts (other than ERISA, IRA and Private Client Services accounts as set forth below) is 2.50% (0.6275% per quarter) , payable quarterly in advance, based on the asset value of the account(s) on the last calendar day of each calendar quarter. The fee will be payable on the business day following the end of the previous calendar quarter. The fee for the portion of the first quarter the account(s) is managed will be calculated on a pro rata basis. In the event a large deposit occurs mid-quarter, the fee will be recalculated at quarter-end and the account will be billed a second fee, in arrears, on the additional deposits. For ERISA and IRA accounts, FASI utilizes an offset method to account for certain 12b-1 and other marketing payments that FASI may receive, and so the stated highest annual fee for ERISA and IRA ETF Select accounts is 2.75%, although in all cases the maximum annual fee amount actually deducted from the ERISA and IRA client accounts will be 2.5%, with the balance of .25% being offset through FASI's receipt, if any, of 12b-1 and other marketing payments from certain mutual fund companies. Some strategies in Select may have lower fees.

The highest annual fee for Private Client Services accounts is 1.75% for account values between $1 million and $2.5 million; 1.60% for account values between $2,500,001 and $5 million; 1.25% for account values between $5,000,001 and $7.5 million; 1.10% for account values between $7,500,001 and $10 million; and 1.0% for account values above $10 million.

Fees are negotiable based on a number of factors, which may result in a client paying a fee which is less than the highest annual fee, or more or less than other ETF Select clients.

The IAR is compensated with a portion of the fee. The amount of this compensation may or may not be more than that which would be received by the IAR if the client paid separately for investment advice, brokerage and other services, or participated in other programs offered by First Allied. The IAR may therefore have a financial incentive to recommend the program over other programs and services.

AEAM is compensated with a portion of the fee. The amount of this compensation may or may not be more than AEAM would have received if the client paid separately for AEAM's or other third-party managers' investment advice or participated in other programs. AEAM may have a financial incentive to recommend the program over other programs or services.

INFORMATION ON ALL PROGRAMS

Cost Comparisons: Wrap Fee vs. Non-Wrap Fee

Clients who pay inclusive wrap fees for a variety of services may pay more or less for such services than if they purchase such services separately. Factors that bear upon the cost of a PAM II, MAC, or ETF Select account in relation to the cost of the same services, if purchased separately, include the type and size of the account, the expected number of trades in the account, and the range of supplementary client related services provided with respect to the account, among other things.

Additional Information Regarding Fees and Charges

The wrap fee described above shall include First Allied's brokerage services, custodial services, and First Allied's other services to the account(s), including Quarterly Performance.

The fee will not include certain odd-lot differentials, transfer taxes, exchange fees, and other charges imposed by law on the execution of transactions in the account(s), or any brokerage or other charges for transactions not effected through First Allied. If the Adviser selects closed-end investment companies for the account(s), the client will pay its proportionate share of the investment companies' expenses, including such closed-end company's advisory fee.

The fee covers brokerage services only when transactions are executed through JP Morgan, Pershing or another approved custodian. Some programs discussed in this brochure are limited to specific custodians. Should the Adviser or client select another brokerage provider, the client may pay additional charges.

When the client selects mutual funds for all or a portion of its account(s), the client will pay its proportionate share of the mutual funds' fees and expenses, including management fees and shareholder servicing and/or distribution (Rule 12b-1) expenses, to the extent permitted by law. These fees and expenses are separate and distinct from the wrap fee charged by First Allied. First Allied and its IARs will receive Rule 12b-1 fees for distributing a fund's shares and/or providing services to shareholders, to the extent permitted by law. Shareholder services fees compensate First Allied for, among other things, handling purchases and sales of fund shares, maintaining records, providing clients with copies of prospectuses and other materials, assisting mutual funds in soliciting proxies, and responding to Client inquiries about share prices, balances, dividend amounts, and dividend payment dates.

For ERISA accounts, IARs will not receive 12(b)1 fees in addition to a management fee for mutual fund investments..

Termination

The account(s) may be terminated by either party with five (5) days written notice. Any pre-paid fees will be refunded to the client on a pro rata basis.

FIRST ALLIED SECURITIES, INC.

First Allied Securities, Inc. ("First Allied") is a fully disclosed, full service broker-dealer and Registered Investment Adviser, clearing its business primarily through Pershing, LLC ("Pershing") and J.P. Morgan Clearing Corp. a wholly-owned subsidiary of JPMorgan Chase & Co. ("JP Morgan"). First Allied's principal activities include retail and institutional private client services, including but not limited to providing advice with respect to financial markets and executing securities transactions as a broker or dealer. First Allied is a member of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority ("FINRA") and the Securities Investor Protection Corporation ("SIPC"), and a member of the National Futures Association.

First Allied, its affiliated representatives, and solicitors provide a variety of services designed to meet the varying investment advisory and related needs of individual and institutional clients. Each program described in this brochure offers some or all of the following services for a fee: selection of or assistance in selecting an investment adviser, ongoing evaluation and review of investment advisers, evaluation and review of portfolio composition, execution, reports of activity in a client's account, financial planning and consultation on client assets. Some programs may charge transaction charges to defray the costs of trade execution. Day-to-day portfolio management of client accounts may be undertaken by affiliated registered investment advisers, independent unaffiliated investment management firms or by First Allied's Investment Adviser Representatives ("IARs").

First Allied and its affiliates are engaged in the business of buying and selling stocks, bonds, mutual funds, options, insurance, and direct participation programs, plus financial consulting and securities analysis. As a broker/dealer, First Allied effects transactions in securities including stocks, bonds, options, mutual funds, variable insurance products and limited partnerships. First Allied may participate as a member of a selling group for initial public offerings.

Due to the fact that First Allied is both a securities broker-dealer and registered investment adviser, clients may have both an advisory account and brokerage account with the firm. First Allied representatives may offer clients advisory services, brokerage services, or both, depending upon what is most suitable for the client in light of his or her financial needs. Advisory accounts are generally offered to investors that meet the account minimums and have a long-term investment horizon.

Generally, First Allied considers it appropriate to use its own execution services for the purchase and sale of securities for investment management clients where clients have so agreed.

First Allied and its IARs may give advice and take action in the performance of their duties to clients which differs from advice given, or the timing and nature of action taken, with respect to other clients' accounts, or the timing and nature of action taken with respect to IAR or employee accounts.

First Allied Securities, Inc. is registered as an introducing broker with the National Futures Association. The principal executive officers spend 90% of their time on normal broker/dealer activities, and 10% on Investment Advisory activities.

Other Financial Industry Activities or Affiliations. As a registered securities broker/dealer, First Allied may buy and sell securities for its own account, and may buy and sell the same securities on behalf of other clients of First Allied. First Allied is not the custodian of the accounts. All client funds and client accounts are custodied by JP Morgan or Pershing or another approved custodian on a fully disclosed basis.

First Allied broker dealer activities are separate from First Allied asset management activities. With regard to First Allied investment advisory accounts, First Allied directors, officers, employees, advisory associates and Financial Consultants may own an interest in, and buy or sell for their own accounts, the same securities which may be purchased or sold for the accounts of First Allied advisory clients.

First Allied is a wholly owned indirect subsidiary of Advanced Equities Financial Corp.

Advanced Equities Financial Corp. is a private holding company divided into two primary business units: (a) the Financial Services Group; and (b) the Capital Markets Group. The Financial Services Group engages primarily in retail and institutional securities brokerage, investment banking, private equities and asset management services through its subsidiaries, Advanced Equities, Inc., First Allied Securities Inc., Advanced Equities Asset Management, Inc., First Allied Advisory Services, Inc., and Advanced Equities Wealth Management, Inc. that has the following wholly-owned subsidiaries: Greenbook Investment Management, Inc, Advanced Equities Pension Services, Inc., Associates In Excellence, Inc. and Advanced Equities Insurance Services, Inc. First Allied is part of the Financial Services Group. The Capital Markets Group primarily provides investment banking and late stage private equity financing to emerging companies through subsidiary Advanced Equities, Inc.

Advanced Equities, Inc. is a related broker/dealer and registered investment adviser. First Allied does not provide advice that is formulated by this related entity.

Greenbook Investment Management, Inc. ("Greenbook"), Advanced Equities Asset Management, Inc. ("AEAM"), and First Allied Advisory Services, Inc. are related registered investment advisers. First Allied may utilize or offer to clients the investment management products and services of these firms. These products and services are described more fully in the Form ADV Part II of each firm. Potential conflicts of interest will be disclosed to clients who utilize these services through delivery of the respective Form ADV Part II.

Advanced Equities Insurance Services, Inc. ("AEIS") is an insurance general agency that offers insurance products through licensed insurance agents. The majority of these agents are registered as investment adviser representatives or registered representatives of an AEIS affiliate.

Advanced Equities Pension Services, Inc. and Associates In Excellence, Inc. (collectively "AEPS") are third-party pension administration firms. They provide third-party pension administration for plan sponsors, including some plan sponsors that receive other services from AEPS affiliates, including First Allied. IARs do not receive compensation for referring clients to AEPS and may refer plan sponsor to this affiliate or other third party firms for pension administration services. First Allied does not provide pension administration services.

Advisory account transactions executed with the affiliates listed above will be limited by stringent requirements and subject to supervisory review. Certain Affiliates may make markets in securities, and may buy and sell for their own accounts. The Affiliates and their registered representatives and employees may own an interest in or buy or sell for their own accounts, the same securities which may be purchased or sold for the account of advisory clients.

First Allied conducts computerized surveillances and periodic on-site audits and file reviews designed to detect evidence of insider trading and other conflicts of interest.

Principals, representatives, and employees of First Allied may have responsibilities to Affiliates or, in the case of representatives, to non-affiliated entities. Certain administrative and payroll expenses for employees of any Affiliate in the Financial Services Group may be allocated among the Affiliates. Allocation of these expenses is not determined by assets referred to an Affiliate.

Code of Ethics

As part of its internal compliance program, First Allied has adopted policies and procedures imposing certain conditions on transactions for accounts of its IARs and associated persons. Such policies and procedures are designed to prevent any improper conduct when potential conflicts of interest may exist with respect to a client, among other things. Additionally, restrictions are periodically imposed by First Allied to address potential conflicts of interest arising from First Allied's business as a broker-dealer. First Allied adopts various procedures to guard against insider trading, pursuant to which information known within one area may not be distributed to other areas.

Representatives Providing Advisory Services

First Allied managed products and services are generally offered by investment adviser representatives ("IAR") registered with First Allied.

Education and Business Standards: First Allied generally requires that individuals involved in determining or giving investment advice meet the requirements for dispensing investment advice in any state in which the IAR intends to prospect advisory clients. These requirements may include IAR registration in the state, qualification by exam (Series 65 or equivalent), qualification demonstrated by experience as allowed by the individual state, or professional certification. In addition, First Allied requires that each IAR possess licenses and/or experience to meet minimum state registration requirements and adequately perform job functions. IAR's possessing a FINRA Series 6 or Series 7 must have valid securities registration in states where they are registered as an IAR.

There is no assurance that the level of experience and service each individual IAR provides is uniform.

First Allied IARs may conduct advisory business under their own business name. Investors may review a complete listing of business names First Allied IARs utilize by reviewing First Allied's Form ADV Part I, located on the Investment Adviser Public Disclosure website at www.adviserinfo.sec.gov/IAPD and entering "First Allied Securities, Inc." into the Firm Name field.

The IAR is responsible for ongoing review of the account, regular communication with the client, and determining that the portfolio selected is appropriate with regard to the client's investment objective. Periodically, the IAR will communicate with the client to reconfirm the client's investment objectives and risk tolerance. Account activity is reviewed quarterly by First Allied personnel.

The majority of First Allied IARs are registered representatives of First Allied's broker/dealer, although from time to time, First Allied may accept an investment adviser representative who is not a registered representative of a broker/dealer. If the IAR is not registered with the broker/dealer, he/she will not receive brokerage commissions or trailers discussed later in this document (Section titled "Information on All Programs – Mutual Fund Fees and Expenses"). Some First Allied products may also be offered by solicitors, engaged by a registered investment adviser other than First Allied. Please see the section on solicitors below for more information (Section titled "Compensation to First Allied, Affiliates and IARs – Solicitors").

Clients may check the background of their IAR through BrokerCheck, a service provided by Finra, at www.finra.org. IARs who have not been registered with a broker/dealer for the previous two years may not be found through BrokerCheck. Clients may obtain additional information about these IARs by contacting First Allied at (619) 702-9600.

Many First Allied IARs are licensed life insurance agents with AEIS and/or a third-party insurance general agency. The principal and advisory affiliates of First Allied are licensed with several life, disability, and other insurance companies. IARs may recommend insurance products offered by these companies. An inherent conflict of interest exists since the adviser may receive insurance commissions in addition to advisory fees. First Allied advisory clients will be advised in advance of sources of compensation. Clients are also advised that they are under no obligation to purchase insurance products through AEIS, First Allied or First Allied IARs.

IARs may recommend securities or asset management products offered by First Allied or its affiliates. If clients purchase these products through First Allied or an affiliate, First Allied, the IAR, and/or the affiliate may receive the normal commissions or fees. Thus, a potential conflict exists between First Allied's interests and those of First Allied advisory clients. The client is under no obligation to purchase products First Allied recommends, or to purchase products through First Allied or its affiliates.

IARs of First Allied Securities, Inc. may engage in outside business activities that are not subject to securities regulations. These businesses are monitored for potential conflicts of interest by the First Allied Compliance and Supervision departments to the extent required by regulations.
