Item of Form (identify)	Answer
12	If a client does not designate a broker-dealer to effect transactions for that account, the company will select a broker-dealer according to the best possible execution and clearance services and commission rates. Cambridge Financial Group, Inc. has a Best Execution Policy and reviews trades periodically to insure that the policy is followed. "Best Execution" means that Cambridge Financial Group, Inc. will execute security transactions in such a manner that the client's total cost or proceeds in each transaction is the most favorable, under the circumstances, in implementing our overall investment responsibilities to our clients. In assessing whether this standard is met, Cambridge Financial Group, Inc. will consider the broker/dealer's full range of services, including execution capability, commission rates, financial responsibility and responsiveness, among other things. Cambridge Financial Group, Inc.'s portfolio securities are selected from the list of companies that comprise the S&P 500 Index. The stocks of these companies are all relatively liquid securities, and the daily volume is relatively large. Cambridge Financial Group, Inc. does not pay any commissions for research services. In the event of a trading error in a client's account, if the error results in a gain, and it can be posted to the client's account, the gain will accrue to the client. If the error results in a gain and the nature of the client's account prohibits the client being credited with the gain, the error will be transacted through the brokerage firm's error account, and the broker will realize the gain. If a trading error results in a loss, the loss will be borne by Cambridge Financial Group, Inc. If a client specifies restrictions in regard to specific equities, and those equities are holdings in one of the Cambridge Financial Group portfolios, the portion of the account that would have been allocated to those equities may be held in cash.

13B	Cambridge Financial Group has entered into agreements whereby an individual will solicit investment advisory accounts for the company. The individual will be compensated based upon a percentage of the investment advisory fee received by the company for each person who is solicited by that person and becomes a client of the company. No client introduced by this individual will be charged a fee in excess of normal advisory fees in order to assist in paying this individual's fee. This compensation will terminate if the client is no longer a fee-paying client of the company.
