The Code of Ethics requires the Compliance Officer to pre-approve most personal securities transactions, other than transactions in non-discretionary accounts and long purchases and subsequent sales of any of the following securities: (a) broad-based exchange-traded funds, (b) mutual funds not affiliated with or sub-advised by Registrant, (c) securities issued by the government of the U.S. or any state, (d) money market instruments and (e) shares of money market funds. The Code of Ethics also requires supervised persons to report any violations of the Code of Ethics promptly to Registrant's Compliance Officer. Each supervised person of Registrant receives a copy of the Code of Ethics and any amendments to it and must acknowledge in writing having received the materials. Quarterly, each supervised person must certify that he or she complied with the Code of Ethics during that quarter. Clients and prospective clients may obtain a copy of Registrant's Code of Ethics by contacting Jason G. Stankowski at jason@castlepeakasset.com. Registrant and its managers, members and employees may personally invest in securities of the same classes as are purchased for clients and may own securities of issuers whose securities are subsequently purchased for clients, except that Registrant and its managers, members and employees may not buy or sell securities for their own accounts until the business day after orders for client accounts have been filled and any buying or selling program for the client accounts in that security (and any derivatives thereon) has ceased. Registrant and its managers, members and employees may also buy or sell specific securities for their own accounts based on personal investment considerations aside from company or industry fundamentals, which Registrant does not deem appropriate to buy or sell for clients.
Part II Page 5 Item 10	Registrant generally requires a minimum of $150,000 for limited partners investing in investment partnerships. This minimum may be waived by Registrant in its discretion. Registrant generally requires such limited partners to have a net worth that exceeds $1,500,000 and to make representations concerning their sophistication as investors and their ability to bear the risk of loss of their entire investment under Registrant's management.
Part II Page 6 Items 12 & 13	Registrant has complete discretion over the selection and amount of securities to be bought or sold without obtaining specific client consent. Because Registrant engages in an investment advisory business and may manage more than one account, there may be conflicts of interest over Registrant's time devoted to managing any one account and the allocation of investment opportunities among all accounts managed by Registrant. Registrant attempts to resolve all such conflicts in a manner that is generally fair to all of

	its clients. Registrant may give advice and take action with respect to any of its clients that may differ from advice given or the timing or nature of action taken with respect to any particular client so long as it is Registrant's policy, to the extent practicable, to allocate investment opportunities over a period of time on a fair and equitable basis relative to other clients. Registrant is not obligated to acquire for any account any security that Registrant or its managers, members or employees may acquire for its or their own accounts or for the account of any other client, if in the absolute discretion of Registrant, it is not practical or desirable to acquire a position in such security for that account. Registrant also has complete discretion over the selection of the broker to be used and the commission rates to be paid. In selecting a broker for any transaction or series of transactions, Registrant may consider a number of factors, including, for example, net price, clearance, settlement, reputation, financial strength and stability, efficiency of execution and error resolution, special execution and block trading and block positioning capabilities, willingness to execute related or unrelated difficult transactions in the future, order of call, offering on-line access to computerized data regarding client accounts and other account reporting information and technology, the availability of stocks to borrow for short trades and other matters involved in the receipt of brokerage services generally. Registrant may also purchase from a broker or allow a broker to pay for custody, record-keeping and similar services, research services, economic and market information, portfolio strategy advice, industry and company comments, technical data, recommendations, research conferences, general reports, periodical subscription fees, consultations, performance measurement data, on-line pricing, news wire, data processing, investment strategies and quotation equipment and services, computer hardware and software, expenses incurred in visiting companies and attending research conferences, attorneys' and accountants' fees and the like (a "soft dollar" relationship). Registrant may receive soft dollar credits based on principal, as well as agency, securities transactions with brokerage firms. Registrant may pay a brokerage commission in excess of that which another broker/dealer might charge for effecting the same transaction in recognition of the value of the brokerage, research and other services and soft dollar relationships. In such a case, however, Registrant determines in good faith that such commission is reasonable in relation to the value of brokerage, research and other services and soft dollar relationships provided by such broker/dealer, viewed in terms of either the specific transaction or Registrant's overall responsibilities to the portfolios over which Registrant exercises investment authority. An account may, however, pay higher brokerage commissions than are otherwise available or may pay more brokerage commissions based on account trading activity. In addition, some clients may direct Registrant to use a broker that does not provide soft dollar benefits to Registrant. Nevertheless, the research and other benefits

	resulting from the brokerage relationship would benefit all accounts managed by Registrant or Registrant's operations as a whole. Registrant's relationships with brokerage firms that provide soft dollar services to Registrant influence Registrant's judgment in allocating brokerage business and create conflicts of interest in allocating brokerage business between firms that provide soft dollar services and firms that do not. These conflicts of interest are particularly influential to the extent that Registrant uses soft dollars to pay expenses it would otherwise be required to pay itself. Registrant has retained Jefferies &amp; Company, Inc. to serve as the prime broker and custodian for its clients. Registrant may replace Jefferies &amp; Company, Inc. or appoint an additional prime broker and custodian at any time. The services that Jefferies &amp; Company, Inc. provides as prime broker may include custody, margin financing, clearing, settlement and stock borrowing in accordance with the terms of the prime brokerage agreement entered into between each client and Jefferies &amp; Company, Inc. Jefferies &amp; Company, Inc. also provides Registrant with other services, which may include: technology services, capital introduction services, portfolio reporting and access to electronic communications networks. Registrant expects to use a substantial portion of these services for research and trading on behalf of its clients, but some may be used for administrative purposes, which would not be within the safe harbor of U.S. Securities Exchange Act section 28(e). Although many prime brokers provide similar services to investment advisers in exchange for brokerage, custody and clearance fees and other charges, if Registrant did not receive these services from the prime broker, Registrant would be required to pay for all or some portion of them. Registrant is not required to direct a particular number of trades to Jefferies &amp; Company, Inc. or to continue to use the firm as a custodian, but it has an incentive to do so based on the prior and continued services provided by the firm. Registrant may aggregate securities sale and purchase orders for a client with similar orders being made contemporaneously for other accounts managed by Registrant or with accounts of affiliates of Registrant. In such event, the average price of all securities purchased or sold in such transactions may be determined and a client may be charged or credited, as the case may be, the average transaction price. As a result, however, the price may be less favorable to the client than it would be if similar transactions were not being executed concurrently for other accounts. Periodically, Registrant may seek to adjust or rebalance client portfolios by effecting cross trades between or among those accounts (i.e., causing one or more of those accounts to sell securities to one or more of those accounts). In effecting such cross trades, Registrant seeks to reduce the transaction costs to its clients of such account adjustments. All such cross trades will be consistent with the investment objectives and policies of each client

	account involved in the trades. If a client directs Registrant to use a specific broker, Registrant has not negotiated the terms and conditions (including, but not limited to, commission rates) relating to the services provided by such broker. Registrant does not have any responsibility for obtaining for the client from any such broker the best prices or particular commission rates with or through any such broker. The client may not obtain rates as low as it might otherwise obtain if Registrant had discretion to select broker-dealers other than those chosen by the client. The client may not participate in aggregate securities transactions, as described above, and may trade after such aggregate transactions and receive less favorable execution. Registrant may direct a certain amount of brokerage to a broker in return for the broker's referral of prospective clients. The direction of brokerage to a broker in exchange for investor referrals creates a conflict of interest in that Registrant has an incentive to refer its clients' brokerage business to brokers to which it might not otherwise direct its brokerage transactions. Registrant may also engage solicitors to whom it pays cash or a portion of the advisory fees paid by clients referred to it by those solicitors. In such cases, this practice is disclosed in writing to the client and Registrant complies with the other requirements of Rule 206(4)-3 under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, as amended, to the extent required by applicable law.
