LEXINGTON's primary objective is to align the client with the appropriate adviser to allow the client to capitalize on opportunities that will strengthen or enhance their personal portfolio. LEXINGTON may enter into such arrangements with other third party institutions or professional MMs in the future. The MM will actively manage the client's portfolio and will assume investment discretion and trading authority over the managed account. Under such arrangements, LEXINGTON will not manage or obtain investment discretion or trading authority over the assets in any client's managed account. However, LEXINGTON will assume discretionary authority to hire and fire MMs, give instructions to MMs to buy or sell for tax purposes, distributions and reallocate the client's assets to other MMs, where such action is deemed to be in the best interest of the client. When appropriate to the needs of the client, LEXINGTON may manage the client account(s) directly. Such advice will typically involve providing a variety of services, which may include investment buy/sell recommendations and asset allocation, including the potential selection of mutual funds and/or exchange traded funds for the client's account based upon an analysis of their individualized needs, goals and objectives. Under such arrangements, LEXINGTON will assume full discretionary and trading authority over the investments held in the client's account. Item 9.E.	DBA Lexington Investment Counsel 07/2009 - Present Investment Adviser Representative <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ Banc of America Investment Services 03/2001 - 03/2009 Financial Advisor PARTICIPATION OR INTEREST IN CLIENT TRANSACTIONS LEXINGTON or individuals associated with the Firm may buy or sell – for their personal account(s) - investment products identical to those recommended to clients. It is the expressed policy of LEXINGTON that employees shall not have priority in any purchase or sale over clients' accounts. ⁽¹⁾⁽²⁾ LEXINGTON has adopted a Code of Ethics, the full text of which is available to clients and prospective clients upon request. LEXINGTON has several goals in adopting this Code. First, the Firm desires to comply with all applicable laws and regulations governing its practice, and the management of LEXINGTON has determined to set forth guidelines for professional standards, under which all associated persons of the Firm are to conduct themselves. The Firm has set high standards, the intention of which is to protect client interests at all times and to demonstrate its commitment to its fiduciary duties of honesty, good faith and fair dealing with clients. All associated persons are expected to adhere strictly to these guidelines, as well as any procedures for approval and reporting established in the Code of Ethics primarily related to violations of the Code. In addition, LEXINGTON maintains and enforces written policies reasonably designed to prevent the misuse of material non-public information by LEXINGTON or any person associated with the Firm. Footnotes: (1) This investment policy has been established recognizing that some securities being considered for purchase and/or sale on behalf of LEXINGTON's clients trade in sufficiently broad markets to permit transactions by clients to be completed without an appreciable impact on the markets of the securities. Under certain circumstances, exceptions may be made to the policies stated above. Records of these trades, including the reasons for the exceptions, will be maintained with LEXINGTON's records in the manner set forth above. (2) The foregoing does not apply to certain types of securities, such as obligations of the U.S. Government, and shares in open-end mutual funds. Open-end mutual funds are purchased or redeemed at a fixed net asset value price per share specific to the date of purchase or redemption. As such, transactions in mutual funds by Advisory Representatives are not likely to have an impact on the prices of the fund shares in which clients invest. Confidentiality: As an employee of LEXINGTON, associated persons may learn confidential information concerning LEXINGTON and its clients. "Confidential information" generally means all information not publicly available (through the media or public records) and includes, but is not limited to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ The composition of client portfolios. ▪ Certain records, procedures and other proprietary information. ▪ Family and personal information. It is LEXINGTON's policy that individuals employed by the firm must not disclose, directly or indirectly, any confidential information to anyone other than LEXINGTON personnel and authorized professional advisors such as broker dealers, attorneys, and accountants who need such information in order to discharge their professional services.

This level of review does not apply to hourly arrangements, flat fee arrangements, or non-fee based accounts. In addition to the quarterly performance reports reference above, the custodian will send monthly statements to the client. Item 12.A. However, LEXINGTON's investment authority may be subject to specified investment objectives and guidelines, and/or conditions imposed by the client. For example, a client may specify that the investment in any particular stock or industry should not exceed specified percentages of the value of the portfolio, restrictions or prohibitions of transactions in the securities of a specific industry, and/or directed brokerage.
Item 12.B. Item 13.A.	SUGGESTION OF BROKERS/ADDITIONAL COMPENSATION Where the Firm provides independent portfolio management services, LEXINGTON participates in the TD Ameritrade Institutional program. TD Ameritrade offers to independent investment advisers, services which include custody of securities, trade execution, clearance and settlement of transactions. 	aggregate securities transactions for execution and then allocate the appropriate shares to Client accounts); the ability to have advisory fees deducted directly from Client accounts; access to an electronic communications network for Client order entry and account information; access to mutual funds with no transaction fees and to certain institutional money managers; and discounts on compliance, marketing, research, technology, and practice management products or services provided to LEXINGTON by third party vendors. TD Ameritrade may also have paid for business consulting and professional services received by LEXINGTON's related persons. Some of the products and services made available by TD Ameritrade through the program may benefit LEXINGTON but may not benefit its Client accounts. These products or services may assist LEXINGTON in managing and administering Client accounts, including accounts not maintained at TD Ameritrade. Other services made available by TD Ameritrade are intended to help LEXINGTON manage and further develop its business enterprise. The benefits received by the Firm or its personnel through participation in the program do not depend on the amount of brokerage transactions directed to TD Ameritrade. As part of its fiduciary duties to Clients, the Firm endeavors at all times to put the interests of its Clients first. Clients should be aware, however, that the receipt of economic benefits by LEXINGTON or its related persons in and of itself creates a potential conflict of interest and may indirectly influence LEXINGTON's choice of TD Ameritrade for custody and brokerage services. In selecting a broker dealer based on discretionary authority or in suggesting a broker dealer on behalf of a non-discretionary account, LEXINGTON will endeavor to select those brokers or dealers that will provide the best services at the lowest commission rates possible. The reasonableness of commissions is based on several factors, including the broker's ability to provide professional services, competitive commission rates, volume discounts, execution price negotiations, the broker's reputation, experience and financial stability of the broker or dealer, and the quality of service rendered by the broker or dealer in other transactions. Best execution is not measured solely by reference to commission rates. Paying a broker a higher commission rate than another broker might charge is permissible if the difference in cost is reasonably justified by the quality of the brokerage services offered. In addition, LEXINGTON may cause the account to pay a higher commission in recognition of the value of "research services" and additional brokerage products and services a broker-dealer has provided or may be willing to provide. Directed Brokerage In limited circumstances and at the Firm's discretion, some Clients may instruct LEXINGTON to use one or more particular brokers for the transactions in their accounts. Clients who may want to direct the Firm to use a particular broker should understand that this may prevent LEXINGTON from effectively negotiating brokerage compensation on their behalf and may also prevent LEXINGTON from obtaining the most favorable net price and execution. Moreover, Clients that direct brokerage may incur additional costs for performance reporting. Thus, when directing brokerage business, Clients should consider whether the commission expenses, execution, clearance, and settlement capabilities that they will obtain through their broker are adequately favorable in comparison to those that LEXINGTON would otherwise obtain for its Clients. While LEXINGTON and its associated persons, as part of their fiduciary duty, endeavor to put the interest of the Clients first, Clients should be aware that receipt of additional compensation itself creates a potential conflict of interest.
