Item 12 (A-B)	Investment or Brokerage Discretion Portfolio Management Program The Advisor shall have the authority to determine the securities and the amount of such securities to be bought or sold on the Client's behalf absent the Client providing written instruction that limits the Advisor's or Manager's authority. In writing, the Client can indicate they desire to give prior consent prior to any transactions or may indicate they desire to limit the Advisor's authority to particular transactions, companies, or industries. Any such notices shall be indicated within the Investment Advisory Agreement or similarly named document executed between the Client and the Advisor upon initiation of the relationship or thereafter in accordance to notice requirements set forth in the Investment Advisory Agreement or similarly named document. The Advisor recommends and generally requires the Client's accounts to be maintained at one of three custodians, Pershing, LLC, Penson Financial Services, Inc. or TD Ameritrade, Inc. Clients may pay commissions higher than those obtainable from other broker/dealers as a result the robust level of products, services, and research received from the custodian, which enable the Advisor to serve the interests of Clients. The Advisor and its agents may use research in providing advice and services to all of its Clients, not just Clients who are willing to pay for such research. Any products, services, or research received is not based on the amount and type of transactions but on the terms and conditions entered into with a broker/dealer and custodian. Turnkey Asset Management Programs The Advisor does not have the authority to determine the securities and amount of such securities to be bought or sold on behalf of the Client. Instead, the Manager as part of the program will generally require the Client to give them discretion to determine the securities and the amount of securities to be bought or sold, unless otherwise stated in any agreements or application with the Manager or the program's sponsor. Further, the Manager may require Client assets to be maintained at one or more broker/dealers and may have some latitude in determining commission rates to be paid.
