27-1412395

Item of Form (identify)	Answer
Item 1(C) (cont'd)	Pursuant to CCR 260.238(j), Varden Pacific discloses that lower fees for comparable services may be available from other sources.
Item 2	Varden Pacific clients are The Fund and The Trust. Refer to response to Part II, 1, D. Investment in the Fund is available only to "qualified clients" as defined in Rule 205-3 under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940. Qualified clients may include "accredited investors" as defined in Rule 501, Regulation D under the Securities Act of 1933, "qualified purchasers" as defined in Section 2(a) (51) under the Investment Company Act of 1940, or "qualified institutional buyers" as defined in the Securities Act Rule 144A, as long as they satisfy the requirements of Rule 205-3.
Item 3	The majority of the Fund's capital is expected to be invested, initially, in structured finance products including collateralized debt obligations ("CDOs") and other derivatives based products. These products can be structured in both funded (cash) and unfunded (derivative) form. A CDO or other structured finance product often takes the form of a security or derivative, backed by a pool of bonds, loans and other assets including synthetic risk exposures. Structured finance products may be backed by corporate bonds, commercial loans, asset-backed securities, residential mortgage-backed securities, commercial mortgage-backed securities, emerging market debt, credit default swaps, interest rate swaps, options, or other assets. A CDO's securities or derivatives are typically divided into several classes, or tranches, that have differing risk and return profiles. The Fund may invest in any tranches of CDO's. The investment characteristics of CDOs and other structured finance products differ from traditional debt securities. Among the major differences are some structured finance products include embedded leverage which can amplify both gains and losses. While it is expected that the Varden Pacific will initially focus on investing the Fund's assets in structured finance products, through time the Fund will look across fixed income markets for investment opportunities. These may include, among others, corporate credit, emerging markets, interest rates, government and agency bonds, municipal bonds, currencies, and commodities and index or index like instruments (e.g., exchange traded funds) that reference related risks.

Item 4(A)(B)	Varden Pacific's competitive advantage is its unique expertise in structured or derivative-based assets within fixed income and its ability to identify value and risk manage these assets. Varden Pacific employs a "Top down/Bottom up" analysis of potential investments. Investment ideas will be generated using a top down approach to sector and asset class analysis, including collaborative discussion of economic and political environments, market conditions and current research. Investment ideas will be verified, and investment decisions will be made, using a bottom up approach to analyzing individual assets, including (as a general matter): documentation analysis; quantitative analysis and trade modeling; risk neutral pricing; assessment of legal and compliance concerns; assessment of the liquidity of individual investments; calculation of risk/return profiles, comparison to other known investment opportunities; and assessment of investments as they relate to the strategy and market views of Varden Pacific. Once an investment has been identified for potential purchase, an investment recommendation is submitted to the Varden Pacific Investment Committee. Purchase decisions require unanimous Investment Committee approval. Varden Pacific's Investment Committee consists of the partners of Varden Pacific LLC. Investment purchase decisions require unanimous Investment Committee approval while sales of investments require majority approval. The Fund's structured finance investments may be short dated (less than 3-year investments) or long dated (more than 3-year investments). It is expected that, initially, the Fund will have a significantly higher concentration of short dated investments. It is expected that a material portion of the Fund's investments will be purchased in non-US markets. Varden Pacific may, but will not be required to, employ a variety of hedging techniques. Such techniques are intended to limit the Fund's exposure to risks. Hedging may involve a variety of instruments and strategies, including short selling securities believed to be likely to decline in price, taking offsetting or partially offsetting positions in swaps, options, futures or other derivatives or cash products, or investing in or shorting market index or "market basket" instruments. It will not be a goal of Varden Pacific to ensure that the Fund is fully hedged, and, at times, all or a substantial portion of the Fund may be unhedged. Hedging may decrease the return on investment in the Fund.

Item 12	Investment or Brokerage Discretion Varden Pacific has full discretionary authority and responsibility over the Fund. This includes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Which securities are to be bought and sold; • The total amount of securities to be bought or sold; • The broker or dealer through whom the investments will be bought or sold; or • The commission rates (bid/offer spread) or prices at which investments are transacted Selection Criteria for Broker-dealers Since Varden Pacific will invest substantially all of its available capital in the Fund, the Fund itself, while it may do so, will generally not engage broker-dealers. Varden Pacific will have investment discretion with respect to the initiation of portfolio securities transactions for the Fund. Varden Pacific will have authority to select broker-dealers to execute such transactions and may utilize a number of broker-dealers to effect transactions for the Fund. Broker-dealers will be selected by Varden Pacific based upon a variety of factors, including the amount of commission (or bid/offer spread), quality of execution, expertise in particular markets, the reputation, experience and financial stability of the broker-dealer, quality of service, familiarity both with investment practices generally and the techniques employed by the Fund, research and analytic services and clearing and settlement capabilities, subject at all times to principles of best execution. Varden Pacific may in its discretion select, and change, brokers for the Fund. Commission Rates or Transaction Costs Under its discretionary authority but consistent with its duty to obtain best execution, Varden Pacific will endeavor to transact individual securities in a manner consistent with the Fund's interests and objectives. This does not necessarily mean that the lowest available execution price will be paid. Due to the fragmented nature of the market in which Varden Pacific participates, individual transactions are primarily executed on a negotiated basis with no upfront disclosure of commissions (or bid/offer spread) charged.

Item 12 (cont'd)	As Varden Pacific does not utilize broker-dealers for a transactional platform, it does not require additional research or brokerage services to be rendered. Thus, no "soft-dollar" arrangements are anticipated. Block Trading When Varden Pacific deems the purchase and sale of securities to be in the best interest of the Fund and any other managed investment vehicles or accounts, Varden Pacific may aggregate the securities to be purchased or sold in order to obtain superior execution and/or lower brokerage expenses. In particular, execution prices for identical securities purchased or sold on behalf of multiple investment vehicles or accounts in any one business day may be averaged. In such event, Varden Pacific will allocate the securities purchased or sold, as well as expenses incurred in the transaction, among the Fund and any other participating investment vehicles or accounts by applying such considerations as they deem appropriate, including relative account size of such investment vehicles and accounts, amount of available capital, size of existing positions in the same or similar securities, impact of leverage, tax considerations and other factors. Although such allocations may be pro rata as to the Fund and other such investment vehicles and accounts, they will not necessarily be so where allocation considerations, such as availability of capital, positions in similar securities or differing objectives dictate a different result. The Fund will not be entitled to investment priority over other managed investment vehicles or accounts and may not necessarily participate in every investment opportunity. Varden Pacific will, respectively, endeavor to make all investment allocations in a manner that they consider to be the most equitable to all managed investment vehicles and accounts.
