First Financial Advisory Services, Inc.

SEC Form ADV Part 2A - March 30, 2012

4.0 ADVISORY BUSINESS

First Financial Advisory Services, Inc. is a private corporation that provides personal financial planning and wealth management, primarily to individual investors.

Principal Ownership

William B. Mason started First Financial Advisory Services, Inc. in 1974, and his role as its principal owner concluded at the beginning of 2012. Geraldine B. Cunningham, who joined the company in 1981, is now the sole owner of FFAS, and serves as its President and Treasurer.

Types of Advisory Services

First Financial Advisory Services, Inc. provides various types of advisory services, including:

- Investment account management
- Retirement planning
- Tuition planning
- Estate planning and long term care planning

Advisory services for individually managed accounts

Our focus is on “value” investing, with an eye toward long-term growth. We conduct our research using a variety of sources and methods that include:

- Financial newspapers and magazines
- Inspections of corporate activities
- Research materials prepared by others
- Corporate rating services
- Annual reports, prospectuses, and filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission
- Company press releases

For our investment management, we typically direct clients to use the Prime Asset Management program (“PAM”). This program primarily uses various types of equity securities, corporate, government, and municipal bonds, mutual funds, exchange-traded funds, closed-end funds, and certificates of deposit. When we feel it is appropriate, we also utilize investments in warrants, variable annuities, securities options, and private trusts and partnerships, such as those related to real estate, energy interests, and equipment leasing.

We tailor each client portfolio to meet the needs of that individual or entity. We then meet with and speak to clients regularly to determine whether there has been any significant change in their circumstances and financial needs. This way, we can continue to monitor whether the client’s account continues to conform to the client’s investment objectives and requirements. We attempt to accommodate any investment restrictions that have been made known to us by clients (e.g., an aversion to tobacco or casino companies).

First Financial Advisory Services, Inc.

SEC Form ADV Part 2A - March 30, 2012

Brokerage Services

We require that our client accounts use the brokerage services of First Allied Securities, Inc. ("First Allied") to purchase and sell securities on their behalf. First Allied is an introducing broker-dealer that clears its transactions on a fully-disclosed basis through various custodians, including JP Morgan Clearing Corp. and Pershing, LLC, (an affiliate of The Bank of NY Mellon). Depending upon the account's anticipated investment activity and other factors, FFAS and the client will determine the custodian for the account.

We do not participate in wrap fee programs.

We do not publish research reports or sell newsletters. We do work with our clients' accountants and attorneys, when appropriate, to discuss estate planning, generation skipping and tax efficiency.

As of December 31, 2011 our assets under management were $107,731,783. All of those assets are managed on a non-discretionary basis.

5.0 FEES & COMPENSATION

In addition to investment management through our PAM accounts, we also provide financial planning via oral meetings, and occasionally in written plans and directional letters. The fees for these services vary and are negotiated with the client ahead of time. We will also provide general financial advice, both on a retainer and one-time basis, based on a previously negotiated rate, whether by the hour (@$150 per) or by the project (which usually range between $500 and $2000).

The typical FFAS fee schedule for investment management is presented below. Generally, advisory service fees are based upon the amount of assets under management. All fees are negotiable.

SCHEDULE I – FEE SCHEDULE
ACCOUNT ASSETS	SUGGESTED ANNUAL ADVISORY FEE
On the amount up to $750,000	1.5%
On the next amount from $750,000 to $2,000,000	1.25%
On the next amount above $2,000,000	negotiable

Clients pay the advisory fees quarterly, in advance (i.e., on January 1, April 1, July 1, and October 1) at the annualized rate set forth in the fee schedule. The client pays this fee through an automatic debit to the client's account. However, the client may, upon request, establish procedures to pay the advisory fee via check (instead).

The initial advisory fee payment is due upon execution of the investment advisory agreement, and will be based upon the opening value of the account. The first payment will be prorated accordingly if the client does not sign the agreement on the first day of a calendar quarter. Subsequent quarterly advisory fee payments

First Financial Advisory Services, Inc.

SEC Form ADV Part 2A - March 30, 2012

are determined based on the account values as of the close of business on the last business day of the preceding quarter.

Unless the client makes alternative payment arrangements, the advisory fee shall be automatically deducted from the account on or around the 15th day of each calendar quarter. Accounts initiated or terminated during a calendar quarter will be charged a prorated fee. Upon termination of management, any prepaid, unearned fees will be promptly refunded, and any earned, unpaid fees will be due and payable.

FFAS' fees do not include brokerage commissions, transaction fees, and other related costs and expenses that shall be incurred by the client. Clients may be required to pay certain other charges imposed by custodians, brokers, third party investment managers and other third parties such as fees charged by managers, custodial fees, deferred sales charges, odd-lot differentials, transfer taxes, wire transfer and electronic fund fees, and other fees and taxes on brokerage accounts and securities transactions. Mutual funds and exchange-traded funds also charge internal management fees, which are disclosed in each fund's prospectus.

Such charges, fees, and commissions are separate from FFAS' fee, and FFAS shall not receive any portion of these commissions, fees, and costs. The transaction fees (a.k.a. ticket charges) listed below represent a reimbursement of transaction costs, and are not commissions.

Our representatives receive commissions (acting in their separate capacity as registered representatives of a broker/dealer) on some investments and securities sold for clients in accounts for which we do not receive investment management fees. Our representatives also receive commissions on insurance products. This presents a conflict of interest in that there may be an incentive to make investment suggestions based on potential compensation rather than the needs of the client. However, we mitigate these conflicts through full disclosure, by obtaining client consent prior to making any investment (i.e., refusing to accept discretionary trading authority), and by always putting the interest of our clients ahead of our own and our representatives.

Additionally, our representatives receive Rule 12b-1 shareholder servicing and/or distribution fees from mutual fund sponsors or their affiliates in connection with certain investments in client accounts. The client, like other shareholders of mutual funds, will bear a proportionate share of such fund's advisory, administrative, and Rule 12b-1 fees, as well as the account fees on account assets invested in these fund shares. Other, unrelated parties may also receive Rule 12b-1 shareholder servicing and/or distribution fees, as well as other marketing payments from mutual fund sponsors or their affiliates in connection with the investments in the account. Please see the prospectus of the mutual fund for information on specific 12b-1 fees paid by clients.

Clients also have the option to purchase investment products that we recommend through other brokers or agents that are not affiliated with FFAS. Account fees and transactions charges may be higher or lower at First Allied than at other broker/dealers offering similar services.

6.0 PERFORMANCE-BASED FEES & SIDE-BY-SIDE MANAGEMENT

FFAS does not charge or accept any performance-based fees, which are fees based on a share of capital gains or capital appreciation of client assets.

7.0 TYPES OF CLIENTS

We provide financial planning and portfolio management services primarily to individual clients, some with high net worth. We also serve pension and profit-sharing plans, as well as corporations and charitable organizations. The minimum account value needed to open a managed brokerage account is $25,000.

8.0 METHODS OF ANALYSIS, INVESTMENT STRATEGIES & RISK OF LOSS

We focus on long-term investments, concentrating on value. We generally use a Fundamental method of analysis, whereby we attempt to measure the intrinsic value of a security by looking at economic and financial

First Financial Advisory Services, Inc.

SEC Form ADV Part 2A - March 30, 2012

factors to determine if an investment is underpriced (offering a good time to buy), or overpriced (indicating a good time to sell). The factors we look at include the overall economy, industry conditions, and the financial condition and management of the companies themselves.

Our investment analysis presumes that the companies whose securities we purchase and sell, the rating agencies that review these securities, and other publicly-available sources of information about these securities are providing accurate and unbiased data. Nevertheless, investing in securities, including mutual funds, involves risk of loss to principal and income that clients should be prepared to bear. Many factors affect investing outcomes, including global market, currency, economic, political, and business changes.

The Prime Asset Management ("PAM") program offers investment management services to clients. The minimum account size for this program is $25,000. When managing these accounts, we first determine the client's investment objectives and risk tolerance by interviewing the client and completing an investor profile together. We then regularly review the account, meet with the client, and rebalance the account as necessary to maintain adherence to the client's objectives.

9.0 DISCIPLINARY INFORMATION

Registered investment advisers are required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that would be material to your evaluation of FFAS or the integrity of FFAS's management. FFAS has no reportable information applicable to this Item.

10.0 OTHER FINANCIAL INDUSTRY ACTIVITIES

Principals and representatives of FFAS are also registered representatives of First Allied Securities, Inc., a broker/dealer and a member of FINRA/SIPC. As registered representatives of First Allied, principals and representatives of FFAS may receive commissions, including 12b-1 fees, as compensation for trades made for clients as discussed in Item 5.0 – Fees and Compensation.

Some FFAS advisory representatives are also licensed insurance agents. They offer various insurance products for which they may earn a commission.

FFAS is under common control with Geraldine B. Cunningham Associates, LLC, which is a related firm providing office management services for FFAS. Geraldine B. Cunningham Associates, LLC also provides tax preparation services for clients, including for some FFAS clients. FFAS clients may choose to use these tax planning services, or the services of another tax preparer, at their discretion.

11.0 CODE OF ETHICS

FFAS has adopted a Code of Ethics for all supervised persons of the firm. The code describes our high standard of business conduct, and explains our fiduciary duty to our clients. The Code of Ethics includes provisions relating to issues such as:

First Financial Advisory Services, Inc.

SEC Form ADV Part 2A - March 30, 2012

- the confidentiality of client information;
- prohibitions on insider trading and rumor-mongering;
- restrictions on the acceptance of significant gifts;
- reporting certain gifts and business entertainment items; and
- personal securities trading procedures.

All supervised persons at FFAS must acknowledge the terms of the Code of Ethics annually, and whenever it is amended.

FFAS' employees and persons associated with FFAS are required to follow FFAS' Code of Ethics. Subject to satisfying this policy and applicable laws, officers, directors and employees of FFAS may trade for their own accounts in securities that are recommended to and/or purchased for FFAS' clients. The Code of Ethics is designed to assure that the personal securities transactions, activities, and interests of the employees of FFAS will not interfere with (i) making decisions in the best interest of advisory clients, or (ii) implementing such decisions while still allowing employees to invest for their own accounts.

Under the Code, certain classes of securities have been designated as exempt transactions, based upon a determination that these would materially not interfere with the best interest of our clients. In addition, the Code requires pre-clearance of many transactions, and restricts trading in close proximity to client trading activity. Nonetheless, because the Code of Ethics in some circumstances would permit employees to invest in the same securities as clients, there is a possibility that employees might benefit from market activity by a client in a security held by an employee. Therefore, employee trading is continually monitored under the Code of Ethics to reasonably prevent conflicts of interest between FFAS and its clients.

Certain affiliated accounts may trade in the same securities with client accounts on an aggregated basis when consistent with FFAS' obligation of best execution. In such circumstances, the affiliated and client accounts will share commission costs equally and will receive securities at a total average price. FFAS will retain records of the trade order (specifying each participating account) and its allocation, which will be completed prior to the entry of the aggregated order. Completed orders will be allocated as specified in the initial trade order. Partially filled orders will be allocated on a pro rata basis. Any exceptions will be explained on the order.

Our clients or prospective clients may request a copy of the firm's Code of Ethics by contacting Matthew J. Cunningham.

12.0 BROKERAGE PRACTICES

Transaction and other brokerage charges are set forth in Item 5.0 - Fees and Compensation. We believe them to be reasonable. We determine which broker/dealer provides the "best execution" for client accounts by examining a number of factors, including:

- commission costs and rates;

First Financial Advisory Services, Inc.

SEC Form ADV Part 2A - March 30, 2012

- qualitative execution;
- services provided;
- execution capability;
- client responsiveness;
- financial strength; and
- reputation.

While we always strive for overall “best execution” for client accounts, clients may pay more or less for similar services at a different broker/dealer.

We receive investment research products, software, and other services from First Allied to assist us in making investment decisions and monitoring all client accounts. Some of those items or services are obtained at a discount. This may present a conflict of interest in that the discounts received might be perceived as incentives for directing client accounts to a specific custodian (i.e., in order to continue receiving such benefits). We address this conflict by always placing the client’s needs and best interests first when considering which recommendations to offer.

We do not engage in mark-ups or mark-downs.

13.0 REVIEW OF ACCOUNTS

We will provide, either directly or through the broker/dealer, the client with written quarterly evaluation reports analyzing the performance of the client’s PAM account in relation to various market indices. See Item 15 – Custody for additional information.

Additionally, we meet or communicate with clients on a regular basis (e.g., monthly, quarterly, and/or when an event occurs that may pertain to a client’s specific circumstances, situation, objective, or investment. We also routinely send clients articles from various publications when we feel the client might benefit from such information.

14.0 CLIENT REFERRALS AND OTHER COMPENSATION

Neither FFAS nor its representatives offer, provide, or accept compensation in connection with client referrals.

15.0 CUSTODY

We do not have direct custody of client funds or securities; they are held and maintained with a qualified custodian. However, the account custodian typically debits our advisory fees directly from client brokerage accounts. Therefore, we urge clients to carefully review all statements received from the custodian, especially in relation to quarterly advisory fee payments. Clients should notify us as soon as possible about any discrepancies they may detect.

First Financial Advisory Services, Inc.

SEC Form ADV Part 2A - March 30, 2012

16.0 INVESTMENT DISCRETION

We do not accept discretionary trading authority on any client investment accounts.

17.0 VOTING CLIENT SECURITIES

From time to time, the account custodian will mail proxy voting documents to the client. Clients retain the responsibility for receiving and voting proxies for any and all securities maintained in their portfolios.

FFAS does not request, accept, or exercise any authority to vote proxies on behalf of advisory clients. However, we encourage clients to call us with any questions about voting their proxies.

18.0 FINANCIAL INFORMATION

As a registered investment adviser, FFAS is required in this Item to provide you with certain financial information or disclosures about our financial condition.

As of this document's publication date, FFAS has no financial commitment that does or might impair our ability to meet contractual and fiduciary commitments to clients. FFAS has not been the subject of a bankruptcy proceeding. Lastly, FFAS does not request fees in excess of $1,200 more than six months in advance of services to be rendered.
