METHODS OF ANALYSIS, INVESTMENT STRATEGIES AND RISK OF LOSS

The following outline covers our mutual fund equity investment management process:

The Adviser uses fundamental and technical analysis. Sources of information include: financial newspapers and magazines; research material prepared by others, corporate rating services and annual reports, prospectuses, and other filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The investment strategies include long term purchases, short term purchases, trading and option writing, including covered options, uncovered options or spreading strategies.

WPMC has entered into a cross-service agreement with its affiliate, Wilmington Trust Investment Advisors, Inc. to provide investment advice as well as back office and other support services. WPMC has also entered into a sub-advisory agreement with Wilmington Trust Investment Advisors, Inc. to provide investment-related services including: economic and market research; selection of outside sub-advisers, industry and company analytical reports; buy, sell and hold recommendations regarding specific securities; and recommendations with respect to proxy votes, tender and exchange offers, reorganizations, individual security analysis, and other investment related decisions.

Wilmington Trust's Investment Strategy Team establishes the strategies and asset allocation benchmarks for client investments. There are multiple asset allocation strategies and each includes an array of asset classes. The benchmark percentage invested in each asset class varies by strategy. To ensure strategies and asset classes are properly applied to Wilmington Trust's client accounts and to allow coherent performance measurement, uniform procedures and protocols are followed. Accounts can be classified as total (or "model") asset allocation, transitional asset allocation, partial asset allocation or non-asset allocation, and relevant procedures are followed for each classification to assure appropriate application to client accounts. Funds managed by WPMC and other investment vehicles are used to fulfill Wilmington Trust's asset allocations.

WPMC may allocate Fund assets between multiple sub-advisers who employ active and passive styles of management. Assets managed in an active manner are allocated to the Funds' multiple growth and value oriented sub-advisers. Assets managed in a passive manner are allocated to sub-advisers and invested in a representative sample of securities included in their respective indices, via a selection process that reflects WPMC's current growth vs. value recommendations. WPMC may also allocate a portion of the Funds' assets among ETFs.

Investing in securities involves risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear. Frequent trading can affect investment performance, particularly through increased brokerage and other transaction costs and taxes.

The following outline covers our mutual fund fixed income taxable investment management process:

WPMC is responsible for managing each Fund's assets on a daily basis according to its own investment strategy and techniques seeking to achieve the Fund's objectives. WPMC provides certain investment services, information, advice, assistance and facilities and performs research, statistical and investment services pursuant to a sub-advisory agreement among the Wilmington Funds, WFMC and Wilmington Trust Investment Advisors, Inc. (WTIA), an affiliated investment adviser. WFMC is subject to the general oversight of its Board of Directors, and has overall responsibility for directing the investments of each Fund in accordance with its investment objective policies and limitations. WFMC provides its services exclusively to investment companies sponsored by it or its affiliates.

WTIA's Taxable Fixed Income Team's extensive research capabilities focus on both fundamental and technical market analyses. External research tools includes: Bloomberg Financial Markets, Capital Management Science's Bondedge, Municipal Market Data, Standard & Poor's Credit Research, Moody's Credit Research, Egan-Jones Credit Ratings Reports, Creditsights, Bianco Research, Bank Credit Analyst (BCA), Ned Davis Research, and internet access to a wide variety of research sites. Direct access to the research capabilities of many of Wall Street's major firms is employed, including direct communication with their analysts. In addition, there are six full time credit analysts who assist Fund managers with an independent review of all investments.

For the Money Market and Fixed Income Funds, WFMC is responsible for managing each Fund's assets on a daily basis according to its own investment strategy and techniques seeking to achieve the Fund's objective.

The steps involved in our taxable fixed income investment management process are as follows:

Income Management

We believe that income provides the largest component of fixed income performance; therefore, our portfolios are constructed with a consistent income premium relative to the market. The premium does vary based on the shape of the yield curve and duration positioning.

Sector Management

Sectors are independently evaluated to determine the risk parameters associated with the type of security involved. These risks are analyzed in depth and include such elements as credit outlook, volatility outlook, liquidity and pre-payment risk. For sectors outside of US Treasuries, we conduct further in-depth credit research, using a wide variety of analytical tools prior to investing. We continue to monitor the securities after purchase to determine if the reasons for holding the security are still valid, and analyze market opportunities to identify possible value elsewhere.

Yield Curve Analysis

We believe the yield curve reveals expectations built into the market, such as inflation and Federal Reserve policy. We study the shape of the yield curve to determine the best way to construct the portfolio – using a barbell, laddered, or bullet maturity profile. It is the prospective shape of the yield curve that determines our portfolio structure.

Duration Analysis

We combine rigorous analysis of interest rate and yield curve movements, based on our proprietary trend and momentum indicators, with a disciplined, systematic approach to make our duration decisions. Duration ranges from +/-20% of the selected benchmark (Index), and is actively managed using a risk-averse process. This range provides the flexibility needed to take advantage of opportunities and generate attractive returns while assuring a consistency of results and a minimum risk of loss.

The following outline covers our mutual fund fixed income non-taxable investment management process:

WTIA's Tax-Exempt Fixed Income Team utilizes fundamental and quantitative analytical techniques in managing both collectivized and separate account mandates. External research tools include Bloomberg Financial Markets, Municipal Market Data, Interactive Data Corp., Standard & Poor's Credit Research, Moody's Credit Research and Merritt Financial Data via Investortools Creditscope application. Direct access to the research capabilities of many national and regional dealers is employed, including direct communications with their analysts. In addition, there are three full time municipal credit analysts who assist Fund managers with an independent view of all municipal credits.

The investment process utilizes three different components of fixed income management – Portfolio Management/Trading, Credit Research and Quantitative Analysis. Each component works in conjunction with the other two in identifying investment opportunities while also acting as a check and balance to the other components.

The Tax-Exempt Municipal Fixed Income Strategies incorporate a risk-managed approach to active portfolio management. Recognizing that the future path of interest rates is unpredictable, the strategies focus on the following in an effort to seek added value:

Sector Selection

The team of credit analysts maintains opinions of each of the major sectors in the municipal market. Combining that with sector valuation and pricing trends as observed by the portfolio managers and traders, the team is able to determine which sectors are over or under valued and represent opportunities to add value.

Geographic Positioning

Likewise, the team of credit analysts, each of which is assigned a geographic territory for credit responsibilities, maintains opinions of key states in the municipal market. Combining that with geographic valuation and pricing trends as observed by the portfolio managers and traders, the team is able to determine which key states are over or under valued and represent opportunities to add value.

Duration Control

In recognition of the key tenet that the future path of interest rates is unpredictable, the team utilizes quantitative analysis of detailed duration positioning to hold each portfolios interest rate exposure within a tight band of that portfolios benchmark index. The team focuses on key rate duration exposures to identify and correct mismatches between the portfolio and the relevant benchmark.

Issue Selection

The portfolio managers and traders analyze daily trades, bids and offers of a multitude of municipal issues and identify anomalies versus historical relationships. These anomalies are reviewed by the entire team to determine if the relative pricing difference represents a change in the security (as in a change in the credit fundamentals) or if the difference may represent an opportunity to add value.

For the Non-Taxable Mutual Funds, WFMC is responsible for managing each Fund's assets on a daily basis according to its own investment strategy and techniques seeking to achieve the Fund's objective.

Equities

Large-Cap, Mid-Cap and Small-Cap Funds

For the Large-Cap Strategy Fund and the Small-Cap Strategy Fund, WFMC determines the tactical allocation of the funds' assets, currently between growth and value stocks. Future weightings could be based upon a variety of other quantitative and qualitative factors including, but not limited to, size, dividend yield, price-to-earnings ratio, relative volatility, industry and economic sector exposure, price-to-book ratio, valuation liquidity, momentum, and earnings revisions. WFMC uses returns-based and holdings-based style analysis tools to assess the tactical weightings.

Once WFMC determines the tactical weightings, WTIA uses its Quantitative Investment Strategy to build a portfolio in accordance with WFMC's allocation instructions. WTIA will invest in a representative sample of securities which are included in the Large-Cap Strategy Fund's benchmark index (Russell 1000) and the Small-Cap Strategy's Fund's benchmark index (Russell 2000 Index) or another index of large-cap and small-capitalization companies, weighted to reflect WFMC's growth and value tactical allocations. The return for each of the growth and value portions of each portfolio are intended to correlate closely with the return for the corresponding growth and value components of the applicable benchmark index by holding a portion of the stocks represented in the index using the quantitative models developed by WTIA. WTIA will use these models to rebalance each portfolio and to make buy and sell decisions on individual securities.

The performance of WTIA's portfolios and the benchmark index will differ due to transaction costs, market impact, portfolio expenses, corporate actions (such as mergers and spin-offs), timing variances and WFMC's tactical allocations between growth and value styles or other factors. Notwithstanding these strategies, there is no assurance that WTIA's investment performance will equal or approximate that of the benchmark index.

For the Large-Cap Value Fund, the Fund's investment adviser, WFMC uses a value-oriented approach to select those companies with unrecognized or undervalued assets. Such a value approach seeks companies whose stock prices do not appear to reflect their underlying value as measured by assets, earnings, cash flow, business franchises, or other quantitative or qualitative measurements.

For the Large-Cap Growth Fund, the Fund's investment adviser, WFMC uses a bottom-up approach to selecting growth-oriented stocks. The Fund seeks to invest in high-quality, well-established large companies that have a strong history of earnings growth, are attractively priced (relative to the company's potential for above-average, long-term earnings and revenue growth), have strong balance sheets, have a sustainable competitive advantage and are currently (or have the potential to become) industry leaders.

For the Mid-Cap Growth Fund, the Funds' investment adviser, WFMC chooses stocks of mid cap companies that have significant growth potential. In selecting securities for the Fund, the Advisor purchases securities of companies that have not reached full maturity. But have above-average sales and earnings growth.

For the Small-Cap Growth Fund, the Funds' investment adviser, WFMC purchases stocks of smaller companies that are in the early stages of development and which the Advisor believes have the potential to achieve substantial long-term earnings growth. The Advisor may also purchase stocks of companies that are experiencing unusual, non-repetitive "special" situations (such as mergers or spin-offs) or that have valuable fixed assets whose value is not fully reflected in the stocks' price.

| Wilmington Managed Allocation Fund – Moderate Growth II | 0% – 45% | 15% - 50% | 40% - 80% |

The Multi-Manager Funds

Some of the investment companies described below provide a multi-manager, multi-strategy approach that typically employs two or more active investment advisers or sub-advisers and may include a quantitative/index manager to approximate the performance of a securities index and/or exchange-traded funds (ETFs). Strategic allocation and re-balancing determinations are made by WFMC, under WTIA's guidance, based upon its ongoing analyses of (i) various economic factors and trends, (ii) performance and volatility of the advisers, (iii) growth vs. value weightings, and (iv) specific quantitative and qualitative data relevant to each investment company. The multi-manager arrangement is expected to reduce volatility by utilizing several investment approaches, a strategy used by many institutional investors. This multiple investment approach is designed to soften the impact of a single sub-adviser's performance in a market cycle during which that sub-adviser's investment approach is less successful. Because each sub-adviser has a different investment approach, the performance of one sub-adviser is expected to offset the impact of another sub-adviser's performance, regardless of the market cycle. The successful performance of a sub-adviser will be diminished by the less successful performance of another sub-adviser. There can be no guarantee that the expected advantage of the multi-manager arrangement will be achieved.

The selection methodology for choosing money managers involves a high-level, consistent and comprehensive screening process using qualitative and quantitative analyses. The managers selected through this process share a passionate belief in a long-term investment philosophy based on academically sound principles, which results in a consistent record of competitive investment performance. Each manager selected must pass this screening process successfully and all are monitored continually to ensure each is providing competitive returns.

All manager searches begin with a broad screening of a proprietary commercially-available database to assist in the identification of new candidates to supplement those already tracked. Searches generally are asset class specific. Criteria used by WTIA for those screenings include size of the firm, asset base related to the asset class and style of management, ownership structure and general performance. Eight to 15 managers are generally identified for initial contact and further scrutiny. The next step is to meet with a candidate firm and ask each to complete a proprietary in-depth questionnaire. Successful candidates (generally three to five) are subjected to a more in-depth, analytical review and each firm receives multiple visits. Emphasis is placed on each manager's performance relative to their expected peer groups. In addition to the investment review stated above, a full compliance review is conducted to ensure candidates are compliant with Rule 206(4)-7 of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940.

WTIA may also allocate a portion of the Fund's assets among ETFs and mutual funds.

For the Multi-Manager International Fund, WFMC allocates the Fund's assets among multiple sub-advisers with differing investment philosophies. Each sub-adviser is responsible for managing its allocated assets on a daily basis, using its own investment strategy and techniques seeking to achieve the Fund's investment objective. WFMC may also allocate a portion of the Fund's assets among ETFs and open-end mutual funds.

For the Multi-Manager Real Asset Fund, WPMC allocates the Fund's assets among multiple sub-advisers with differing investment philosophies. Each sub-adviser is responsible for managing its allocated assets on a daily basis, using its own investment strategy and techniques seeking to achieve the Fund's investment objective. WPMC may also allocate a portion of the Fund's assets among ETFs and mutual funds. WTIA may also allocate a portion of the Fund's assets among global inflation-linked bonds, Structured Notes, and Commodity strategies.

WILMINGTON MULTI-MANAGER INTERNATIONAL FUND

Investment Objective

The Multi-Manager International Fund seeks superior long-term capital appreciation.

Investment Strategy

The Fund is currently managed by multiple sub-advisers with international investing expertise. WPMC allocates and reallocates the Fund's assets among ETFs and each sub-adviser in light of performance expectations relative to projected growth trends in U.S. and foreign economies, valuation levels and volatility in the equity markets, and the outlook for various industrial sectors and business cycles. Each sub-adviser then employs its own investment approach and strategy to achieve the Fund's objective.

The Fund invests under normal market conditions at least 85% of its total assets in a diversified portfolio of the following equity-related securities: common stock of foreign issuers; preferred stocks and/or debt securities that are convertible securities of such foreign issuers; receipts or American Depositary Receipts (ADRs), which are typically issued by a U.S. bank or trust company as evidence of ownership of underlying securities of a foreign issuer; and open-end or closed-end investment companies that primarily invest in the equity securities of issuers in a single country or geographic region, including ETFs whose underlying investments are consistent with the Fund's investment objective. The Fund may use forward currency contracts, options, futures contracts and options on futures contracts to attempt to hedge actual or anticipated investment security positions.

Sub-Advisers of the Fund have discretion to invest in securities issued by companies domiciled in emerging or non-U.S. developed market countries. Because securities of companies operating in emerging markets may be subject to increased political, social and economic risks and therefore may be more volatile, the Fund limits investments in emerging market securities to no more than 35% of its assets.

WILMINGTON MULTI-MANAGER REAL ASSET FUND

Investment Objective

The Multi-Manager Real Asset Fund seeks to achieve long-term preservation of capital with current income.

Investment Strategy

The Fund is currently managed by multiple sub-advisers in light of performance expectations relative to projected growth trends in the U.S. economy, valuation levels and volatility in the equity and real estate markets and the outlook for real estate and other industrial sectors and business cycles. Each sub-adviser then employs its own investment approach and strategy to achieve the Fund's objective.

The Fund invests under normal market conditions at least 80% of its assets in "Real Return" assets which consist of the following asset classes (i) inflation-protected debt securities including among others,

Treasury Inflation Protected Securities or “TIPS,” (ii) real estate related securities including securities of real estate companies and real estate investment trusts; (iii) commodity/natural resource-related securities; and (iv) emerging market local bonds. In managing the Fund, the investment adviser determines the Fund’s strategic asset allocation among Real Return assets. The Fund’s allocation among the Real Return asset classes (the allocations and/or actual holdings) will vary from time to time. It is anticipated that the Fund’s assets will be allocated as follows: 25%-80% in inflation-protected debt securities, 0%-60% in real estate related securities, and 0%-40% in commodity/natural resource-related Securities. The Fund may invest up to 55% of its assets in foreign securities. The Fund may, but is not required to, use derivatives, such as futures and options as a substitute for taking a position in an underlying asset, to increase returns, to manage interest rate risk, or as part of a hedging strategy. The Fund does not currently make use of derivatives as a principle investment strategy. The Fund may also engage in short-selling, typically for hedging purposes, such as to limit exposure to a possible market decline in the value of its portfolio securities.

CODE OF ETHICS, PARTICIPATION OR INTEREST IN CLIENT TRANSACTIONS AND PERSONAL TRADING

WFMC may direct that trades made on behalf of certain registered investment companies be executed through an affiliate of WFMC such as M&T Securities, Inc., a registered broker-dealer. These trades are executed in accordance with Rule 17e-1 of the Investment Company Act of 1940 and appropriate reports are prepared on a quarterly basis, and are reviewed and approved accordingly by the Board of Trustees of the Wilmington Funds on a quarterly basis.

M&T Securities, Inc. is registered as a broker-dealer with the SEC and is a member of FINRA. WFMC may effect securities transactions through an affiliated broker, and currently it directs trades to MTS who receives payment in the form of commissions on each transaction executed by or through it. In addition, to Wilmington Trust's Best Execution Committee, WFMC's Chief Compliance Officer (CCO) periodically reviews MTS commissions to ensure they are in-line with industry norms. Additionally, MTS may receive payments directed to it from unaffiliated broker/dealers who may step-out transactions to MTS for providing clearing, settlement and record-keeping services in connection with those stepped-out transactions. Also, although the practice is discouraged, MTS may receive unsolicited rebates which are expected to be de minimis from electronic communications networks (ECNs) where trades are submitted as an incentive for providing liquidity to the network. To ensure that the conflict of interest concerns raised by using an affiliated broker are adequately addressed, an affiliated broker may be used for an account only if authorized in the governing instrument or if otherwise permitted by the adviser or the principal, or if authorized by state law. In addition, periodic evaluations of commissions charged and other revenues received by an affiliate are performed to ensure that such commissions are comparable to the commissions which would be charged if an unaffiliated broker were used. Additionally, trades executed by affiliated broker-dealers are monitored by third parties to measure and evaluate the execution quality of those trades. Quarterly reports are provided to the Wilmington Trust Best Execution Committee and WFMC's Chief Compliance Officer as part of the quarterly review process, and are reviewed by the Board of Trustees of the Wilmington Funds on a quarterly basis.

Recommendations may be made to clients of WFMC's affiliates to purchase shares of registered investment companies advised and/or administered by WFMC. In some cases a banking affiliate serving as trustee for a trust client may purchase shares of registered investment companies advised by WFMC to be held in the affiliated name. In all such cases, appropriate disclosures of compensation paid to WFMC and/or its affiliates are included in client agreements and other documents. These clients, in most cases, pay WFMC's affiliate a fee for investment management services which in some cases are reduced by the fees paid by the investment company to WFMC.

WFMC has designed internal compliance and operational procedures to help ensure that its investment activities are conducted in accordance with applicable laws and regulations and conflicts of interest are identified and appropriately resolved and disclosed.

WFMC and Wilmington Funds have agreements in place to allow for the payment of Rule 12b-1 (of the Investment Company Act of 1940) and shareholder service fees to certain affiliates. Such agreements are reviewed and evaluated as required by the Board of Trustees of the Wilmington Funds.

WFMC and Wilmington Funds also have in place policies and procedures for the separation of sales activities from brokerage allocation. These policies and procedures govern the selection of broker-dealers by the Wilmington Funds and the persons responsible for selection, and have been approved by the Board of Trustees of the Wilmington Funds.

WFMC has adopted a Code of Ethics and Statement of Insider Trading (Code) that sets forth the standards of business conduct we require from our employees, including the protection of material non-public information. Reflecting our fiduciary obligations, the Code requires our supervised persons to comply with applicable securities laws. The Code also includes provisions that require any supervised person to report any violations of the Code promptly to WFMC's Chief Compliance Officer, and to other persons designated from time to time. Each of our supervised persons receives a copy of the Code, including any amendments, and acknowledges such receipt in writing.

The Code is intended to prohibit or restrict transactions or activities that may be deemed to create, or appear to be, a conflict of interest. The Code identifies the specific employees, officers and other persons who are subject to it and all are required to abide by its provisions as access persons. WFMC Access Persons including those employees of WFMC and its affiliates who have or may have knowledge of WFMC's or WTIA's trading information for Wilmington Funds may engage in personal trading for their own accounts, provided they comply with specific restrictions, limitations, guidelines and other conditions set forth in the Code.

The Code contains a "Blackout Period" whereby an Access or Related Person may not trade any securities with a market cap of under $15 billion (with the exception of M&T Bank stock) for three days before and three days after a Wilmington Fund has traded. In addition, trade pre-clearance is required for all stocks with a market cap of under $15 billion with the exception of M&T Bank stock, which may be traded at any time. Additionally, in the absence of duly documented pre-clearance approval, no Access Person shall purchase and sell, or sell and purchase, the same covered security (or any equivalent security) or reportable fund within thirty (30) calendar days, and could be required to disgorge any profits realized from such short-term trading.

The Code requires all Access Persons to report, and compliance staff to review, all personal securities transactions and holdings no less frequently than quarterly. Access persons are required to file initial holdings reports when first becoming an Access Person, and annual holdings and quarterly transactions reports and an annual certification of compliance thereafter. In addition, Access Persons must forward duplicate statements to WFMC's compliance staff for each financial account over which they have control and/or beneficial interest. These statements are reviewed on a monthly and/or quarterly basis by WFMC compliance personnel.

The WFMC Code of Ethics also includes a section regarding Pay-to-Play as it pertains to Rule 206(4)-5 of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940.

Procedures that may impose penalties and/or sanctions on Access Related Persons and their close relations are in place under the WFMC Code of Ethics. Any securities trade or other activity found to be executed in violation of WFMC's or Wilmington Fund's Codes of Ethics shall be reviewed promptly by compliance personnel, and upon determination that a violation has occurred, penalties and/or sanctions may be deemed appropriate, including, among other things, mandatory closing of account(s), unwinding of trades, disgorgement of profits, a letter of censure or suspension, or even termination of employment of the violator. Compliance personnel will also make a full report of such violation(s), and any subsequent action or actions taken regarding such violation(s) to the Trustees of the Fund.

In general, WFMC believes it is reasonable for its Access Persons, as defined in WFMC's Code of Ethics, to invest in securities that it recommends for investment to its clients, subject to those stipulations stated in WFMC's Code of Ethics. However, personal trading by Access Persons is subject to the overriding principle of fair dealing, namely that transactions on behalf of clients take precedence over transactions that will benefit WFMC, and/or their affiliates, their officers, employees, or any employee related accounts.

Several factors may be used to determine whether a transaction presents a potential conflict of interest. The analysis includes the timing of the transaction, market capitalization of the security under review, evidence of the misuse of non-public information or front-running or other security manipulation that would conflict with the interest of an advisory account. This determination is based on several facts and circumstances, including whether the employee had access to inside information, whether the employee could have manipulated the share price of a security, etc. These are intended to be general guidelines and do not limit the scope of the review of a particular security transaction.

BROKERAGE PRACTICES

Wilmington Trust Investment Advisors, Inc. (WTIA), and M&T Securities, Inc. (MTS) provide "back office" investment research and operational services for WFMC, including placing trades at the direction of WFMC for actively managed portfolios. It is Wilmington Trust's policy to ensure that its advisors seek best execution of trades for their clients' accounts and to avoid potential conflicts of interest, and that any use of an affiliated broker is properly authorized. WFMC has addressed the potential conflicts of interest involving the use of an affiliated broker/dealer for trade execution purposes and has procedures in place to avoid even the appearance of such conflicts. The Adviser will act in the best interest of its clients and will utilize any and all legal trading venues when entering/executing trades on behalf of its advisory clients.

An affiliated broker-dealer bears the responsibility to achieve best execution on each order and Wilmington Trust seeks to achieve best execution of client transactions when the firm is in a position to direct brokerage. Best execution is considered to be the most favorable quality execution possible while considering the broker's services, research (if any) provided, commissions charged, volume discounts (if any) offered, execution capability, reliability, market impact, clearance and settlement capabilities, financial strength and stability, error resolution and responsiveness of the broker-dealer. Although best execution does not necessarily entail obtaining the lowest possible commission, it does entail attempting to obtain the most favorable transaction terms reasonably available under the particular facts and circumstances.

WFMC may aggregate trades of various client accounts in securities of the same issuer, in accordance with best execution standards and the terms negotiated for the aggregate order will apply equally to each client. For orders not able to be executed fully, securities generally will be allocated by order size on a pro-rata basis.

From time-to-time, unaffiliated sub-advisers to the portfolios of the Wilmington Funds may step-out transactions as a means to direct trades to MTS for clearing, settlement, and record-keeping functions. MTS will in-turn will accept these directed trades for process, and MTS receives a commission for processing the trade and incurs a clearing charge, which is covered via the standard commission rate charged to the Fund. In addition, this commission charge also covers the cost of processing and ensuring proper settlement of the trade. The Fund's CCO is responsible for ensuring a quarterly review is performed on all to MTS brokerage activity related to the Wilmington Funds. Also, although it discourages the practice, WPMC may receive unsolicited rebates which are expected to be de minimis from electronic crossing networks (ECNs), where trades are submitted by MTS as an incentive for providing liquidity to the network. Disclosure of such rebates may be found in the Statement of Additional Information of the Wilmington Funds.

All prospective broker-dealers for equity and fixed income use are reviewed by an analyst for financial viability prior to their use. After review, the analyst will present his findings to WPMC's CCO, and if positive, the prospective broker-dealer will then be put before the Wilmington Trust Best Execution Committee for their review and approval. In addition, the Wilmington Trust Best Execution Committee reviews and approves, on a no less than annual basis, all broker-dealers being utilized for equity and fixed income trading purposes.

Approved broker lists are maintained by WTIA Equity and Fixed Income Management Divisions. Currently, equity trades are executed through MTS, an affiliated broker-dealer of Wilmington Trust. MTS employs Global Trading Analytics (GTA) to provide extensive data and information to measure and evaluate equity trading on Wilmington Funds trades executed by MTS. This report, along with other commission summaries, transaction reports, trades stepped out to MTS, any liquidity rebates received, and any failed trades or trading errors are analyzed by Wilmington Trust's Best Execution Committee and WPMC's Chief Compliance Officer as part of the quarterly review process, and presented to the Wilmington Funds Board of Trustees for their review on a quarterly basis.

Fixed Income trades for the Wilmington Funds are analyzed by WPMC compliance staff with the oversight of WPMC's CCO to ensure the adviser is seeking best execution. Fixed Income trading results are presented to and reviewed by Wilmington Trust's Best Execution Committee. On an annual basis, all affiliated broker-dealers are required to submit annual audited financial statements and/or FOCUS Reports to Wilmington Trust to assure the broker-dealer maintains adequate capital to complete trades, respond during volatile markets, and meet regulatory capital requirements. Based on the results of these periodic reviews, Wilmington Trust's management and WPMC's Chief Compliance Officer will determine if current trade practices are continuing to achieve an appropriate level of execution, and with the advice of legal counsel, whether disclosures to clients and prospective clients should be modified.

The selection of brokers is based upon a number of factors including but not limited to:

- Net cost or net realization from the trade
- Promptness and certainty of execution
- Experience or knowledge of a broker/dealer in the security, access to sources of supply, or market-making ability
- Broker/dealer financial responsibility and reputation
- Infrastructure, commitment to technology and access to a quality trading system
- Timely receipt of broker/dealer financial reports

An affiliated broker may be used for an account if authorized in the governing instrument or if otherwise permitted by the client, or if authorized by state law. In addition, periodic evaluations of commissions charged by an affiliate are performed to ensure that such commissions are comparable to the commissions which would be charged if an unaffiliated broker were used.

Trade Errors

It is the policy of WPMC that utmost care is to be taken in making and implementing investment decisions on behalf of client accounts. To the extent that any errors occur during this process, they are to be:

1. corrected as soon as possible and in such a manner that the client incurs no loss;
2. reported to the Portfolio Manager and the CCO of WPMC immediately after the error is detected;
3. scrutinized carefully by the Portfolio Manager and CCO of WPMC, and, if applicable, in order to provide guidance, by WPMC's legal counsel, and, if deemed necessary by WPMC'S CCO to management, and, if appropriate, to implement additional procedures designed to prevent or reduce errors.

REVIEW OF ACCOUNTS

Portfolio managers are responsible for the reviews of each investment company portfolio under their respective management, as well as those portfolios for which sub-advisers are employed but WPMCC serves as the adviser. Reviews are conducted in accordance with rules issued by the SEC under the Investment Company Act of 1940 and in accordance with the parameters contained in the prospectus and any supplementary material for each Fund. All actively managed portfolios are reviewed daily by the portfolio manager assigned to the Portfolio and are reviewed periodically by senior investment personnel. All accounts are reviewed equally and none are given special priority in the review process. Factors considered in the daily portfolio manager review and the periodic senior investment personnel review include adequacy of diversification, compliance with the prospectus for each portfolio, maturity distribution of securities held, and the advisability of same given liquidity needs of the account, interest rate expectations, credit quality of securities held and any special consideration which may arise. A special review will be triggered due to any changes in the investment guidelines for a portfolio or sudden change in the credit quality of a security, an indicated change in investment strategy, or changes in legal, regulatory, or tax matters, which may affect any account.

Reports are issued to the Wilmington Fund's Board of Trustees at least quarterly. Periodic reports for the Wilmington Fund's such as inter-quarter listings of assets among others are posted to the web site. Reports to the Board of Trustees include a listing of portfolio assets, portfolio yield data, reports on Rule 17a-7, 17e-1, and 10f-3 transactions, a review of floating and variable rate obligations. In addition, the Board is provided with the results of amortized cost monitoring, and stress testing for the money market funds in accordance with Rule 2a-7 of the Investment Company Act of 1940.

CLIENT REFERRALS AND OTHER COMPENSATION

Revenue sharing payments may be made to various mutual fund supermarkets for services provided to the Wilmington Funds. These services include but are not limited to: providing availability of Fund shares to supermarket clients, prospectus delivery, aggregation of proxy voting results, education, limited marketing and other promotional efforts. Such payments are made by WPMC and derived from their revenue or profits and are over and above any fees paid from Wilmington Funds assets.

CUSTODY

WPMC does not maintain custody of client assets.

INVESTMENT DISCRETION

As the investment manager, WPMC has supervisory authority over any sub-advisers and service providers for its mutual fund clients pursuant to agreements approved by the Board of Trustees. The funds are sub-advised by investment managers given investment discretion pursuant to sub-advisory agreements.

VOTING CLIENT SECURITIES

WPMC has delegated full proxy voting authority for the Wilmington Funds to Wilmington Trust Investment Advisors, Inc., sub-adviser to the Funds. WPMC has directed votes to be cast in a manner consistent with the best interests of its clients and not subrogate clients' interests to any other interests.

Based on the premise that the Board of Directors of the soliciting issuer can properly assess the best course for the company and will act in the best interest of the shareholders thereby producing maximum long-term value, proxies will generally be voted as recommended by the Board of Directors, except in cases where stockholder rights, including the right to vote, are substantially impaired.

Because of this long-standing, pre-determined voting policy, WPMC believes that material conflicts of interest are generally avoided. However, should a proposal be made to cast votes-either with or against the recommendations of an issuer's management-in a manner not consistent with current voting policy, then the matter shall be referred to the appropriate committee for further analysis to assure that (i) voting outside of the pre-determined policy is appropriate and (ii) no material conflicts of interest are present. Should material conflicts be identified, then WPMC may vote proxies in accordance with the recommendations of an independent third-party or use other reasonable means to ensure that the voting decision is insulated from the conflict.

A complete copy of WTIA's Proxy Policy as it pertains to the Wilmington Funds, as well as the Fund's most recent annual proxy voting record, will be provided upon written request.

FINANCIAL INFORMATION

A registered investment adviser is required to provide certain financial information or disclosures about the adviser's financial condition. Investment Strategy Team

The Wilmington Trust Investment Strategy Team (IST) is responsible for developing and maintaining Wilmington Trust's asset allocation strategies as well as Wilmington Trust's capital market forecasts for all appropriate asset classes. While the IST has no day-to-day investment responsibilities, the group approves all tactical rebalancing decisions and is responsible for the structure and selection of outside money managers used in separate accounts, the Wilmington Private Funds and the Wilmington Funds. The IST also approves the processes followed for various investment programs to include the selection of: independent managers, mutual funds, alternative managers, and the selection of broker-dealers for both fixed income and equity transactions. Additionally, the IST monitors and, as necessary, recommends changes for the investment programs offered to Wilmington Trust clients. Such programs include in-house equity and fixed income management, Wilmington Private Funds, Wilmington Funds, and the use of affiliated and unaffiliated managers.

While the IST approves asset allocation policy, investment strategies and products, and investment managers, the group is not responsible for implementation decisions. Because Wilmington Trust has a large number of clients with a wide range of needs, not all policies and strategies adopted by the IST are appropriate for every client. Individual investment decisions regarding each client's account remain the responsibility of the portfolio manager for the account.

The IST is comprised of seven WTIA, and Wilmington Trust Company investment professionals representing the major functions of Wilmington Trust's investment management responsibilities: economic analysis, asset allocation, investment strategies, equity and fixed income management, product development, manager selection and alternative investments. The mission of the IST is to be a leading provider of investment advisory solutions by creating an innovative investment philosophy, message and process. The IST members are responsible for formulating and communicating IST investment policies to the Wilmington Trust organizations. R. Samuel Fraundorf chairs the IST, and its other voting members are Rex Macey, Clayton Albright, Andrew Hopkins, Christopher Madel, Thomas Pierce, Kathryn Karlic, Robert Truesdell, and Mark Schultz. Non-voting, ex officio members of the IST include Gregory McShea and Kemp Stickney.
