This Brochure Supplement provides additional information about Mr. Avery not included in the Presidential Brokerage, Inc. disclosure brochure. You should have received a copy of that brochure. Please contact Chief Compliance Officer, Tony Campen, at 800-230-1288 if you have not received Presidential's disclosure brochure or if you have any questions about the contents of this supplement.

Additional information about Mr. Avery is available on the SEC's website at www.adviserinfo.sec.gov.

Educational Background and Business Experience

- Mr. Avery was born in 1956
- Received Bachelor of Science degrees in Political Science and Psychology from the University of Denver
- Has been employed with Presidential since February 1994; he is an Investment Adviser Representative, a Registered Representative and an Insurance Agent.

Disciplinary Information

Registered Investment Advisers are required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that would be material to your evaluation of each supervised person providing investment advice. Information related to any disciplinary events can be found in the section titled "Requirements for State Registered Advisors."

Other Business Activities

In addition to being an Investment Adviser Representative for Presidential, Mr. Avery is also employed as a Registered Representative of the firm's Broker/Dealer and as an agent of its insurance agency. As such, he also sells securities and insurance products in separate capacities as a registered representative and insurance agent, for which he receives sales commissions.

Some of the advice offered by advisory representatives involve investments in mutual fund products. Load and no-load mutual funds may pay annual distribution charges, sometimes referred to as a 12(b)-1 fee. The advisory representatives may receive a portion of the 12(b)-1 fee from some investment companies in their separate capacities as registered representatives. Clients should be aware that these 12(b)-1 fees come from fund assets, and thus, indirectly from clients' assets. The receipt of these fees could represent an incentive for registered representatives to recommend funds with 12(b)-1 fees or higher 12(b)-1 fees over funds with no fees or lower fees, therefore creating a potential conflict of interest. While the advisory representatives of Presidential endeavor at all times to put the interest of clients first as part of their fiduciary duty, clients should be aware that the receipt or potential receipt of additional compensation itself creates a conflict of interest, and may affect the judgment of the advisory representatives when making recommendations.

Additional Compensation

Mr. Avery does not receive economic benefit from any person or entity other than Presidential in connection with providing investment advice to clients.

Supervision

Mr. Avery's investment recommendations and activities are supervised by the firm's Compliance Department. The Chief Compliance Officer supervises Mr. Avery by performing regular, periodic reviews of Mr. Avery's activity to ensure adherence to the policies and procedures set forth in Presidential's Compliance Manual as well as compliance with applicable legal and regulatory requirements.

The Chief Compliance Officer is Tony Campen and can be reached at 800-230-1288 or at acampen@presidentialbrokerage.com.

Requirements for State Registered Advisors

In 2005, without admitting or denying any wrongdoing, Mr. Avery signed a letter of acceptance, Waiver and Consent with the NASD that he exercised discretion without written authorization from the customers and approval of his firm in violation of NASD Rules resulting in a censure, a 10 day suspension and a $7,500 fine.

Mr. Avery had been utilizing discretion based on the customers' expressed verbal authorization but did not receive the authorization in writing to be approved by the firm. No customer complaints were involved nor were any customers harmed.

- As its founder and President he has been employed with Presidential since June 1991; he is an Investment Adviser Representative, a Registered Representative and an Insurance Agent

Disciplinary Information

Registered Investment Advisers are required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that would be material to your evaluation of each supervised person providing investment advice.

- No information is applicable to this Item.

Other Business Activities

In addition to being an Investment Adviser Representative for Presidential, Mr. Lempe is also employed as a Registered Representative of the firm's Broker/Dealer and as an agent of its insurance agency. As such, he also sells securities and insurance products in separate capacities as a registered representative and insurance agent, for which he receives sales commissions.

Some of the advice offered by advisory representatives involve investments in mutual fund products. Load and no-load mutual funds may pay annual distribution charges, sometimes referred to as a 12(b)-1 fee. The advisory representatives may receive a portion of the 12(b)-1 fee from some investment companies in their separate capacities as registered representatives. Clients should be aware that these 12(b)-1 fees come from fund assets, and thus, indirectly from clients' assets. The receipt of these fees could represent an incentive for registered representatives to recommend funds with 12(b)-1 fees or higher 12(b)-1 fees over funds with no fees or lower fees, therefore creating a potential conflict of interest. While the advisory representatives of Presidential endeavor at all times to put the interest of clients first as part of their fiduciary duty, clients should be aware that the receipt or potential receipt of additional compensation itself creates a conflict of interest, and may affect the judgment of the advisory representatives when making recommendations.

Additional Compensation

Mr. Lempe does not receive economic benefit from any person or entity other than Presidential in connection with providing investment advice to clients.

Supervision

Mr. Lempe's investment recommendations and activities are supervised by the firm's Compliance Department. The Chief Compliance Officer supervises Mr. Lempe by performing regular, periodic reviews of Mr. Lempe's activity to ensure adherence to the policies and procedures set forth in Presidential's Compliance Manual as well as compliance with applicable legal and regulatory requirements.

The Chief Compliance Officer is Tony Campen and can be reached at 800-230-1288 or at acampen@presidentialbrokerage.com.

Educational Background and Business Experience

- Mr. Speer was born in 1952
- Has no post-secondary university education
- Has been employed with Presidential since April 1996; he is an Investment Adviser Representative, a Registered Representative and an Insurance Agent.

Disciplinary Information

Registered Investment Advisers are required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that would be material to your evaluation of each supervised person providing investment advice. Information related to any disciplinary events can be found in the section titled "Requirements for State Registered Advisors."

Other Business Activities

In addition to being an Investment Adviser Representative for Presidential, Mr. Speer is also employed as a Registered Representative of the firm's Broker/Dealer and as an agent of its insurance agency. As such, he also sells securities and insurance products in separate capacities as a registered representative and insurance agent, for which he receives sales commissions.

Some of the advice offered by advisory representatives involve investments in mutual fund products. Load and no-load mutual funds may pay annual distribution charges, sometimes referred to as a 12(b)-1 fee. The advisory representatives may receive a portion of the 12(b)-1 fee from some investment companies in their separate capacities as registered representatives. Clients should be aware that these 12(b)-1 fees come from fund assets, and thus, indirectly from clients' assets. The receipt of these fees could represent an incentive for registered representatives to recommend funds with 12(b)-1 fees or higher 12(b)-1 fees over funds with no fees or lower fees, therefore creating a potential conflict of interest. While the advisory representatives of Presidential endeavor at all times to put the interest of clients first as part of their fiduciary duty, clients should be aware that the receipt or potential receipt of additional compensation itself creates a conflict of interest, and may affect the judgment of the advisory representatives when making recommendations.

Additional Compensation

Mr. Speer does not receive economic benefit from any person or entity other than Presidential in connection with providing investment advice to clients.

Supervision

Mr. Speer's investment recommendations and activities are supervised by the firm's Compliance Department. The Chief Compliance Officer supervises Mr. Speer by performing regular, periodic reviews of Mr. Speer's activity to ensure adherence to the policies and procedures set forth in Presidential's Compliance Manual as well as compliance with applicable legal and regulatory requirements.

The Chief Compliance Officer is Tony Campen and can be reached at 800-230-1288 or at acampen@presidentialbrokerage.com.

Requirements for State Registered Advisors

In 2005, without admitting or denying any wrongdoing, Mr. Speer signed a letter of acceptance, Waiver and Consent with the NASD that he did not reasonably supervise the activities of two registered representatives who were employing trading strategies with customers located abroad resulting in a censure and $5,000 fine.

The representatives had been utilizing discretion based on the customers' expressed verbal authorization but did not receive the authorization in writing to be approved by the firm. No customer complaints were involved nor were any customers harmed.
